TAFT ASSAILS PEARL HARBOR PROBE DELAYS

Lays Part of Blame to Roosevelt.

Toledo, O., Oct. 30 [Special].—Sen. Taft [R., O.] charged in an address here tonight that President Roosevelt does not want the people to know the facts about Pearl Harbor before the Nov. 7 election.

No reason of war policy exists for withholding from the public reports by army and navy courts of inquiry recently made to the secretaries of war and navy, the Ohio senator asserted in a bristling attack on the prolonged delay in fixing responsibility for the greatest disaster in the history of American arms.

Sen. Taft spoke at an East Toledo Republican mass meeting. His address was broadcast on an Ohio network.

Infers Chief Is to Blame.

"I can imagine only one reason why those reports are being suppressed at this time," said Sen. Taft, "and that is that they undoubtedly show gross and culpable negligence on the part of the war and navy departments for which the President himself is responsible, in failing to keep Short and Kimmel properly advised."

[Lt. Gen. Short was commander of army forces in Hawaii and Adm. Kimmel was commander of the fleet.]

Taft also assailed the New Deal contention that Roosevelt is personally indispensable to the conduct of the nation's foreign policy, declaring that altho the President has held all the cards up to this time in dealing with Great Britain and Russia it is hard to see what concessions these nations have made to us or the cause of future peace.

Leaders Reported Exonerated.

Concerning the reports of the army and navy Pearl Harbor courts of inquiry, Taft said it is reliably reported "that they exonerate Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short because they were not properly advised of the seriousness of the situation."

"If they were not responsible, who was responsible?" he demanded. "Why are those reports not published? Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short have been pilloried for three years without any opportunity to speak out and defend themselves. More than a year ago Secretary Knox wrote Adm. Kimmel that there was no longer any reason of war policy why this trial should not be held but that it was difficult to bring back all the witnesses."

Taft said Adm. Kimmel and his predecessor, Adm. Richardson, thought the fleet should be based on the Pacific coast instead of at Pearl Harbor.

Tells of Sabotage Alert.

Sen. Taft recited that Kimmel and Short, following instructions, limited their precautions to an alert against sabotage and not an alert against attack. He asserted they were ordered to do nothing to alarm the people of Hawaii.

"We know that no information was given Kimmel and Short of the seriousness of Hull's ultimatum of Nov. 26," he asserted. "Hull himself warned the war and navy departments that this message might cause war to occur at any moment, but the warning was not passed on to Kimmel and Short. How much more information was there in the President's hands or in the navy department which was not communicated?"

Reveal Chiang Ultimatum in Stilwell Recall

[The following account of the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell from China is by the Chungking correspondent of the New York Times, who has just returned to this country. It was delayed and finally cleared by the war department censorship in Washington.]

BY BROOKS ATKINSON.

New York, Oct. 30.—Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, relieved of his command in China, Burma, and India, before leaving Chungking on Oct. 21, made a last hurried tour of some of the military bases in his command and then flew directly toward Washington in his silver colored transport plane, dubbed "Uncle Joe's Chariot."

For the last two months negotiations had been going on between President Roosevelt's personal representative, Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley, and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to give Stilwell full command of the Chinese ground and air forces under the generalissimo and to increase China's participation in the counter-offensive against Japan.

Turns Against Stilwell.

Altho the generalissimo at first was inclined to agree to Stilwell's appointment as commander, he decided later that he would accept any American commander except Stilwell. His attitude toward the American negotiations became stiff and hostile. At a private meeting of the standing committee of the Kuomintang, central executive committee, in October, he announced the terms of his personal ultimatum to Americans who were pressing him for military and governmental reform.

He declared that Stilwell must go, that the control of American lend-lease materials must be put in his hands, and that he would not be coerced by Americans into action looking toward the unification of China by making terms with the Chinese Communists. If America did not yield on these points, he said that China would go back to fighting the Japs alone, as she did before Pearl Harbor.

President Roosevelt agreed to the generalissimo's demand for Gen. Stilwell's recall. As a result, after a career of more than 20 years, largely devoted to military affairs in China, "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell has now concluded a frustrated attempt to help China stay in the war and to improve the combat efficiency of the Chinese forces.

Triumph for Chiang.

Stilwell is more intimately acquainted with the needs and capacities of the Chinese army than the generalissimo and Gen. Ho Ying-chin, minister of war and chief of staff, because he has repeatedly been in the field with the troops. The decision to relieve him may mean that the United States has concluded from now on to discount China's part in a counter-offensive. Inside China it represents the political triumph of a regime that is more concerned with maintaining its political supremacy than in driving the Japs out of China.

America is now committed at least passively to supporting a regime that has become increasingly unpopular and distrusted in China, that maintains three secret police services and concentration camps for political prisoners and stifles

CIO Teachers' Union Accused of Vote Fraud

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—Widespread fraud in the recent registration of New York voters was laid at the door of the Communist dominated American Labor party and the CIO Teachers' union today by William B. Herlands, special assistant attorney general in charge of the state election frauds bureau.

Herlands charged that persons who could not read or write had been given certificates of literacy permitting them to vote in the Nov. 7 election. First voters in New York state must prove their literacy before being allowed the ballot.

The teachers' union was organized by a left wing group expelled from the American Federation of Labor in 1941 because of communist domination.

"Overwhelm" Staffs.

Herlands' report asserted that squads of labor party and teachers' union members used station wagons and other cars to transport illiterates to public schools where literacy tests were given. Herlands charged that they "overwhelmed" the regular staffs of teachers giving the tests and guided the hands of persons who otherwise could not sign their names.

The members explained in several instances that they were determined to line up voters for President Roosevelt, Herlands asserted.

Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein ordered Herlands to "make a full investigation so that we may take the necessary legal action."

Herlands said his investigation was only in its preliminary stages, but the eight fraud cases thus far uncovered by his investigators were an indication of a "well organized conspiracy."

To avoid detection, labor party and teachers' union members transported some illiterates as far as 10 miles from their homes, Herlands said.

Invade Classrooms.

"They invaded classrooms where literacy tests were being given and literally took over the examinations which authorized teachers were giving," he said. "This done, the invaders aided persons under examination and indiscriminately issued certificates to persons who were illiterate. These certificates often were merely unnumbered scraps of paper.

"One of the 'volunteers' remarked that she wanted to have as many candidates pass as possible, as this would help Roosevelt. Applicants were transported from certain American Labor party headquarters to district schools, where illiterate persons were given certificates."

Most of the eight whose fraudulent registrations have been checked admitted that the "volunteer" teachers provided the answers to questions "proving" literacy, Herlands said, and some said the teachers guided their hands in writing their signatures.

One of those questioned said "the Labor party took me" to the schoolroom, Herlands asserted, and another who was given a perfect score, could neither read nor write when called upon by investigators.

Eugene P. Connolly, secretary of the New York county committee of the American Labor party, termed the charges "ridiculous and fantastic." He said they are "part of a smear."

JAP FLEET IS A RUNT AND WILL STAY THAT WAY, SAYS HALSEY

ABOARD FLAGSHIP, AMERICAN 3D FLEET, Oct. 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—The Japanese fleet has become a naval runt and will remain a runt in spite of everything the Japanese can do, Adm. Halsey said today.

"The best information we have," the admiral told a press conference, "is that their ship repair facilities were taxed to the utmost before this catastrophic beating they took. How or when they can repair the damaged ships that may reach port will be a serious problem to solve. There's many a headache in Japan today. I am extremely glad I am not a senior officer in the Japanese navy. And I don't mean this merely because I don't like Japs."

All the Japanese naval forces involved were severely crippled, Halsey said, and in consequence will be incapable of anything except suicidal action for months to come. That was all the navy Japan had, Halsey added, except "two or three more units we can take in our stride." He expressed doubt that the enemy ever would admit the losses because "all Japanese are congenital liars."

Gov. Tugwell's Cabinet Put in Jail for Hour

BY W. F. O'REILLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 30.—Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell's cabinet spent an hour in the district jail today.

The New Deal governor's advisers were ordered arrested by District Judge Marcelino Romani who found them in contempt of court for continuing to spend a fund of $16,000,000 for Tugwell's war emergency program. Last summer the judge had ruled that such action was illegal. He said the fund was nonexistent because the insular legislature had not reappropriated the money at its last session.

Court Upholds Ruling.

Judge Romani's ruling was upheld by the Boston Circuit court to which the government had appealed. The Boston court affirmed the judge's decision last week. The defense said the fund was set up for the relief of Puerto Ricans.

After spending an hour in jail Tugwell's cabinet was granted a writ of certiorari and the eight members were released on bonds of $1,000 each. The case is to be reviewed by Puerto Rico's Supreme court on Nov. 10.

Tugwell, who is chairman of the war emergency program committee, was not named in the contempt order.

It was the first time in American history that the entire cabinet of any governor had been jailed, local law enforcement authorities said. As José M. Gallardo, commissioner of education, the last cabinet member to be placed under arrest, was led into the jail a large crowd gathered outside. Some cheered and some booed.

Call Off Political Rallies.

Representatives of all political parties met this morning with Police Chief Joshua Hellinger and Superintendent of Elections Charles H. Terry and decided to call off all political mass meetings thruout the island after Nov. 1. They issued a joint appeal to citizens to refrain from disorderly acts.

The bi-partisan committee asked the governor to instruct department heads to turn in weapons of all employes authorized to carry them. The committee also urged citizens with permits to carry guns to surrender their weapons. It asked district judges to refrain from issuing further permits until after the elections. The question of searching voters for weapons before entering voting booths on election day hit a snag because the island has a large number of women voters and no policewomen. No committee member could think of a satisfactory solution.

NAVY'S PILOTS DESTROY 90 PLANES; BAG 14 IN ATTACK ON U. S. CARRIERS

Within Ten Miles of Coast; Wipe Out 24,000 Foes.

GEN MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Oct. 31 [Tuesday] (AP). —American troops drove a spearhead across the northern end of Leyte Island today after capturing Jaro, a mid-island Japanese stronghold, and a final showdown battle appeared imminent along Carigara bay.

While a 70 mile an hour typhoon roared across the island, Maj. Gen. Fred Irving's 24th division pushed onward from Jaro in northwestern Leyte valley, seeking to close the 10 mile gap separating it from the 1st cavalry division on the bay.

Heavy winds battered the front lines, swept up buildings, and smashed tents in camp areas.

Sizable Japanese forces evidently have reached the bay, cornered for a final battle.

24,000 Jap Casualties.

Japanese reënforcements have been landed farther south on the west coast, at Ormoc, a bulletin reported.

Estimated Japanese casualties on Leyte and Samar totaled 24,000 for the first 10 days of the campaign, against 706 Americans killed, 270 missing, and 2,245 wounded, total 3,221, the bulletin said.

The 24th division drove Japanese rear guards out of Jaro after a 14 mile forced march thru wind and rain from Pastrana, in Central Leyte valley. The Nipponese fought bitterly for Jaro, their last key strongpoint on the road toward the northwest coast. It is 12 miles by highway from Carigara bay.

The enemy brought up reënforcements in the battle for Jaro, a mountain village. After bitter fighting, the town was captured at 4 p. m. Sunday by the armor-led 24th division.

One Japanese escape route, to the hills, was blocked by numerous Filipino guerrillas, who held high points above Jaro.

Hold Only Other Road.

First cavalry forces maintained tight pressure on the Japanese left flank by holding the only other road thru the valley's northwestern

CHICAGO FLYERS TELL OF SINKING ONE BATTLESHIP

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE PACIFIC FLEET, Oct. 27 [Delayed]—Planes from this carrier included in their kills one battleship or heavy cruiser sunk, two torpedo hits on a battleship left dead in the water and burning fiercely with five 1,000 pound bombs in it, a seaplane tender blown to bits by two bombs, and two Japanese planes sent down in smoke by fighter planes.

Ensign B. W. Adams.

The pilots today were hunting down scattered units of the broken Jap fleet rushing frantically for cover from the vast naval engagement which roared up and down the coast of the Philippines for the last three days.

Lt. Joseph Geraghty [left], Ensign Anastasias Petrakes, and Ensign Charles F. Sullivan [right].

Chicagoland was well represented among the pilots who made the kills.

James Livingston, 1221 Granville av., Chicago, was one of five to sink a 1,000 pound bomb in a battleship 25 miles south of Mindoro Island. Lt. [j. g.] Joseph Geraghty, 1026 Forest av., Evanston, Ill., was one of four bomber pilots to damage a battleship east of Samar with a 500 pound bomb.

Like You Read About.

Ensign Frank J. Styx, 6828 Calumet av., Chicago, a torpedo pilot, and Lt. William P. Colleran, Radcliffe, Ia., bomber pilot, aided in the raids. Escorting fighter pilots included Lt. [j. g.] Walter J. Sheen, Des Plaines, Ill.; Ensign Benjamin W. Adams, 1633 Catalpa av., Chicago; Ensign Anastasias Petrakes, 2726 W. Adams st., Chicago, and Ensign Charles F. Sullivan, 2037 N. Seminary av., Chicago.

Livingston and other bomber pilots, their cynical veteran pose forgotten, leaped from their planes and rushed to the ready room gleefully to announce the battering of a battleship.

Enemy Ship Losses in Week's Battle Raised to 60.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Oct. 30 (AP).—American naval airmen heaped new damage on the battered Japanese navy in weekend raids on Luzon Island, increasing to 60 the toll of enemy warships sunk or damaged within a week in Philippine waters.

Adm. Nimitz announced the new strikes today with the following results:

One heavy cruiser probably sunk.
Two cruisers damaged.
One oil tanker damaged.
Three coastal cargo vessels sunk.
Ninety enemy planes destroyed.

May Have Fled Battle.

The three cruisers may have been fleeing to home waters from last week's engagement off Samar Island and in the Sibuyan sea, altho today's bulletin did not say so.

The Sibuyan engagement, part of which was fought in the San Bernardino strait separating Samar and Luzon, was one of the three naval-air clashes last week in which the Japanese navy lost 24 vessels sunk, 13 probably sunk, and 21 damaged.

One heavy cruiser, previously damaged, was probably sunk and another damaged in Manila bay. The third was severely damaged by two 1,000 pound bombs at Cavite, the naval base across the bay from Manila.

Japs Attack Carriers.

The three coastal vessels were sunk in a sweep over Cebu Island, immediately west of Leyte. Nineteen enemy fighter planes, which attempted to interfere, were shot down.

The enemy air force tried to get at Adm. Mitscher's carriers, a part of Adm. Halsey's 3d fleet. Twelve Japanese fighters and dive bombers were shot down near the carriers Saturday and two more on Sunday.

Air borne interception met the carrier planes when they appeared over Luzon and the Manila area Saturday. Forty-five enemy fighters were shot from the skies and 12 destroyed on the ground of Manila air fields. The air fields were badly hit and fires raged.

Many Islands Raided.

Nimitz also reported harassing and neutralizing raids from Oct. 24-28 against the Carolines, Marianas, Bonins, Marshalls, Wake, and Nauru.

The Tokyo radio reported the Luzon raids earlier today, asserting 200 carrier based planes took part. Tokyo also reported that Japanese airmen were attacking an American task force, including four carriers, in Lamon bay, on the east coast of Luzon, 100 miles from Manila.

It was immediately north of Lamon bay, just off the Polillo Islands, that the United States 3d fleet tangled with one of the three Japanese fleet divisions moving toward Leyte Island.

Repaired Battleship Fights.

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP).—That battleship the Japanese claimed to have sunk at Saipan rose up to plague the enemy in the battle of the Philippines. Navy disclosed today that the U.S.S. Maryland, torpedoed off the Marianas, was repaired in less than seven weeks and took part in the rout of the Japanese fleet last week.

The speed of its repair was described by the navy as typical of the work at Pearl Harbor, where repairs have been made to more than 50 vessels of all sizes and types since the war started.

Describing the attack on the Maryland, the navy told how a torpedo from a plane smashed into the port bow, releasing the vessel's gasoline.

Sailed to Pearl Harbor.

"Why the gasoline didn't flare into a blazing inferno will forever remain a mystery," the navy's version read.

Under escort the Maryland limped to an advance base and after temporary repairs sailed to Pearl Harbor. The Maryland was straddled with two 500 pound bombs when the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor, but remained afloat.

Boy Meets Girl in the Philippines!

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TACLOBAN, Leyte Island, P. I., Oct. 25 [Delayed].—Boy meets girl in the Philippines! Two G. Is are talking to a cute little brunette and are doing quite well, despite a couple of years practicing their line only on pinup girls. A Filipino comes up to them, shakes his head, and says she is taboo. She had to do with the Japs. That ends that.

On the next corner a couple of other soldiers run into a pair in calico. The going is pretty rough but candy from jungle rations sweetens things. They just get nicely acquainted when two more soldiers stop to admire the girls and ask: "What's your name?" The first two claiming prior rights chase away the interlopers. That's the way private wars start.

Wear Cotton Dresses.

Some of the girls of Leyte come quite close to what soldiers have dreamed of finding in the south seas. They are round faced. Their black hair either hangs down their backs in regular waves or is tied up in one or two knots that hang low on the neck.

They wear summer style cotton dresses reaching to the knee. That is the latest style and they have figures, too. Just now they are seeing a war pretty close to Tacloban. There is no place to take the belles except home.

As you walk along the streets you can almost always hear some one playing the piano. On one corner is Shubert's "Serenade." On the other corner some child is practicing "The Happy Farmer," with all the flats and sharps that are heard wherever in the world fond mothers are forcing the growth of pianists.

A Question of Shoes.

Soon there probably will be movies in the Mercedes, a classy theater whose projectors the Japs swiped. There also will be dances at the Central Recreation hall, a second floor "ballroom" in the center of the town.

This will bring up the question of shoes. While most of the citizens go barefooted, the more classy girls wear wooden clogs. The clogs have spike heels and open heels and toes. It will take a brave girl who will match these against a jungle soldier and his G. I. boots.

Some soldiers are disappointed. They are the gentlemen who prefer blondes. There isn't a blonde in the whole of liberated Philippines, but after all, this is war.

CHICAGO PILOTS GLEEFULLY TELL OF SINKING JAPS

'Just Like You Read in the Home Papers—'

at home," one grinning pilot announced.

"I dropped one on the stern," exulted Livingston. "I didn't see any one miss. I was third down and that A. A. [anti-aircraft] stuff began to come up. We stopped her dead in the water. She was afire and listing when we left."

Several pilots predicted an early demise of the battleship. "We heard pilots from another ship come in as we left," they said. "Their leader said, 'Look at the beautiful battleship all by herself. What are we waiting for?'

Sees Battleship Sink.

Credit for the ship, variously identified as a battleship and a heavy cruiser, went to Ensign Richard K. Reynolds, Royal Oak, Mich. and Lt. [j. g.] Joseph L. Hunt, Kansas City, Mo., torpedo pilots.

"Both Joe and I put a fish in it," said Reynolds. "It was listing 30 degrees to the starboard side. We saw explosions as we pulled away. We blew hell out of it. The turret man said he saw her sink."

Ensign Albert Rosen, Philadelphia, shattered the seaplane tender and the life expectancy of the crew. He found it in a cove between Panay and Guzaras Islands.

"I got a 1,900 and 500 pound bomb in it," Rosen said. "The armor piercing bomb must have gone thru to the ammunition and blew it apart. Just one of those accidents that happen. It sure was a thrill when she blew up."

Bill Colleran, who followed Rosen down, said the bombs hit amidships. "There was an explosion," he reported, "and a terrific flame. She went up in pieces. There couldn't have been any survivors. Only the forward end was left, and she sank immediately. She was the only thing we found, so the rest packed up their bombs and came home."

Pilots were full of awe at the battle antics of Lt. William H. Mackey Flint, Mich., a bomber pilot who inadvertently performed a loop in full sight of the astounded members of a Jap ship.

Get First Word of Japs.

"I had my head down trying to get the flaps closed for more speed," Mackey explained. "I couldn't get my head up, and as I blacked out I must have pulled back on the stick. I was plenty low when I came around and pulled out. I must have been a setup shot for the Japs. Guess they were so amazed they forgot to shoot me."

The first indication on this ship that the Jap fleet was coming out of retirement for the engagement came early on Oct. 24 [Manila time]. It was in the form of directions of procedure in a terse message.

As expectancy swept the ship a Japanese force of four battleships, eight heavy cruisers, and 13 destroyers was reported headed for Mindoro strait.

The enemy force made its way north of Tablas and Masbate Islands, thru San Bernardino strait and to the Philippine sea. It moved south along the east coast of Samar until it was in range of jeep carriers of the 7th fleet.

Sustained gunfire attacks continued for four hours, while 50 fighter planes intercepted 40 enemy aircraft, shot down half, and destroyed 25 more on the ground.

Heavy gunfire caused the small carriers to call for help. One of the task forces pursuing the carriers north rushed to the rescue. The ensuing engagement sent the Japs' force back thru San Bernardino strait toward Coron anchorage with three crippled ships trailing. It was further harassed by depleted carrier borne plane strikes on Oct. 26.

Jests Cover Tension.

Action aboard this carrier was sounded by a message on the ship loudspeaker.

"Get five torpedo planes off on the double. This is it. We're going after them."

Tension in the pilot ready rooms was covered by jests.

"What was that movie," asked one pilot, "where the aviators got out of autos for the last game?"

"I saw one where they carried a pilot to his plane," announced another. "That's for me."

The loudspeaker summoned them to the deck. The first plane was catapulted into the air, and the fight was on.

LOYOLA GRADUATE.

Lt. [j. g.] Joseph Cavanaugh Geraghty, 21, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Geraghty of 1026 Forest av., Evanston. He entered the navy air corps in July, 1942, a month after he was graduated from Loyola academy, and recently went to the South Pacific. His parents yesterday received a letter he wrote Oct. 14. He told them he was "feeling swell."

Ensign Benjamin W. Adams, 23, is a nephew of Harold C. Klein 1633 Catalpa av. He was left an orphan in 1937 after he enlisted as a seaman in the navy. In 1939 he was chosen from the ranks and sent to the United States naval academy. After graduation he transferred to naval aviation.

CRASH MAROONS 2 GIRL MARINES, 11 MEN ON ISLE

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 30 (AP).—How two women marines and 11 crew members of a navy Liberator bomber which crashed at sea existed for four days in Robinson Crusoe style on a deserted island off Baja California before being rescued last week was disclosed today by the navy.

The bomber sank after it made a crash landing, but the crew, including two Illinoisans, was able to salvage a small life raft. So crowded was the raft that some of the men were forced to swim to make room for the women—Pvt. 1st Class Helen L. Breckel, 21, Cincinnati, O., and Pvt. 1st Class Edna H. Shaughnessy, 28, Manchester, N. H.

The party existed on clams and raw fish while on the island, 330 miles southeast of here, until a Mexican fishing boat sighted them.

Those rescued included Ensign B. W. Stakemiller, 21, Aurora, Ill.; Aviation Radioman F. E. Reuss, 22, Godfrey, Ill., and W. E. Bryston Jr., 19, Spiceland, Ind.

YANKS TAKE KEY LEYTE TOWN IN 14 MILE MARCH

sweep—from Cavite to Barugo, on Carigara bay.

Cavalry men dug a strong perimeter at Barugo, within easy access of heavy reenforcements, after patrols yesterday discovered a Japanese column two miles long at Carigara, four miles westward along the bay.

First cavalry patrols entered Carigara several days ago without resistance, then drew back. Guerrillas warned yesterday that a large enemy concentration was present.

Sight Jap Column.

Another patrol then returned to the town's outskirts, and sighted the long Japanese column, stretching along the road heading into Carigara, Associated Press War Correspondent Spencer Davis reported. This indicated the Japanese were assembling for a last stand, hoping possibly for reenforcements from the forces landed at Ormoc.

At headquarters of the sixth army it was considered doubtful that the Japanese in Leyte valley could escape from the multi-pronged squeeze against them, maintained by Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's forces and patroling P-T boats in the bay.

Seek to Bisect Isle.

An American break-thru to the coast would cut the island in half. Final liquidation of the Japanese in the Jaro sector would permit the Americans to move swiftly to the coast, Gen. Irving said.

In central Leyte valley, two main groups of the enemy are now separated between Dagami and Pastrana, Davis reported. The northern forces, estimated between 4,000 and 6,000, were retiring toward Carigara bay. Small Japanese groups were straggling westward across the mountains toward Ormoc.

In the Binahaan river bend area, around Dagami, an estimated 1,500 of the enemy are trapped, reported Associated Press War Correspondent Fred Hampson.

Some reenforcements from these American forces were sent overland to join the battle for Jaro, hurrying across an interior trail.

FILIPINO GIRLS LEAD YANKS TO JAP-HELD TOWN

WITH THE 24TH CORPS ON LEYTE, Philippines, Oct. 30 [Via army radio]—(AP).—Two Filipino girls led a 7th division patrol into their home village yesterday and with their guidance the patrol killed 17 Japanese soldiers, Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge, corps commander, reported the exploit today.

The girls had come thru the 7th division line south of Burauen. They reported that vengeful Japanese were abusing and maltreating Filipinos in the village.

"Tell us where the Japs are and we will take care of them," an officer told the girls.

The girls insisted they wanted to go with the Americans. They accompanied the patrol to the village where Japanese stragglers were wiped out.

2 OFFICERS WHO HID ON LEYTE 3 YEARS RESCUED

Patrol Finds Them in Mountains.

WITH THE 7TH DIVISION, Leyte, Oct. 30 (AP).—An American who escaped at Bataan's fall was rescued from Leyte mountains today, ending three years of secret missions in the Philippines with the Japanese constantly hounding him.

Second Lt. Joseph Francis Saint John, 24, Philadelphia, related the story from the bamboo hut where he was given his second pair of shoes in three years. He was brought thru American lines by 1st Lt. Claude Hornbacher, Sebewaing, Mich., whose patrol reached him by crossing the bay south of Abuyog.

Rescued also was Ensign Edwin J. Beattie, 21, Columbiaville, Mich., naval pilot who crashed in a dog fight during the invasion and took refuge with Saint John.

Admires Filipinos.

No details of the "secret missions" were divulged.

Saint John came down from the mountains with a burning hatred for the Japanese and a great admiration for the Filipinos who helped him hide. A B-17 gunner of the 14th bombardment squadron when he was bombed out Dec. 7, 1941, Saint John reached Bataan Christmas Eve, and later with 900 other airmen went to Malabang airfield on Mindanao "where we waited for planes that never came."

Wrecked While Fleeing.

When the surrender came, Saint John and 11 other Americans fled to the hills and finally reached Leyte May 8, 1942, in a frail Native launch, passing thru the straits in the darkness. There, Col. Cornell, the island commander, told them they must leave before 5 p. m. May 10 to avoid surrender. They left two hours before the deadline in an outrigger boat for Australia, but they were shipwrecked off Cauit Point, Mindanao, May 17, in a storm. It was Saint John's birthday.

90,000 Jap Troops Still in Isles, Blamey Warns

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 30 (AP).—Gen. Thomas Blamey said tonight that 90,000 Japanese troops remained by-passed in the South Pacific islands from Wewak in New Guinea to the Solomons, and warned that complacency in anticipation of the end of the Pacific war had been too apparent. He is commander of allied ground forces in the Southwest Pacific.

SEES MAJ. BONG DOWN 32D AND 33D JAP PLANES

BY JACK TURCOTT.

[Correspondent of the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

LEYTE, Philippines, Oct. 28 [Delayed].—I stood in a throng of Filipinos today and watched Maj. Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis., America's greatest fighter pilot, shoot down his 32d and 33d Jap planes within two minutes.

Heavy rain and thick clouds prevented long distance observation when a small formation of Jap planes, making the eighth raid of the day, came into view. Anti-aircraft guns opened up and the Japs scooted into the clouds. A couple of minutes later one enemy pilot broke thru the clouds with an American P-38 Lightning a few hundred yards behind.

The Jap cut his pace for a bank turn, and Bong's .50 caliber wing guns poured a salvo into the plane's tail. The Zero seemed to pitch forward, then went into a dive, with Bong following 50 yards behind.

Spouts Like Candle.

After what seemed many minutes but actually was only a couple of seconds, the Jap craft spouted flame like a Roman candle and spun earthward.

Another Jap plane darted from the clouds and made a wide turn toward Bong. The American ace made a slow roll, then dived on the enemy, pumping bullets that ripped the Jap's wings and punctured his gas tanks. The Zero burst into flames and plunged crazily toward the beach, two miles south of Tacloban.

Engine Is Shot Out.

During the second fight one of Bong's engines was shot out.

[A press association dispatch said the first of these Jap planes to be downed actually destroyed itself. Jockeying to get out of the way of Bong's guns, the enemy pilot pulled into a climb and jettisoned his bomb to get more speed. The bomb struck the tail of the Nipponese plane and tore it off without exploding. Then the tailless plane crashed.]

Bong's 31st victory was accomplished three days ago, three hours after his arrival at this base. Now an instructor, he is barred from combat except when his field is under attack.

GOV. GREEN ASKS RE-ELECTION ON 4 YEAR RECORD

Offers Post-War Plan, Funds to Back It.

[This is the 21st article of a series on candidates in the November election.]

BY GUY GENTRY.

Gov. Dwight H. Green, seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, is basing his appeal for a return to office on his administration of the state government the last four years and on his post-war program of assistance to returning veterans and the employment of Illinois workers within a framework of industry and business operating under private initiative and free enterprise.

Gov. Green, whose life and public career are as typically midwestern as corn-on-the-cob, is a leader in that group of Republican governors who have led the Republican party back to national prominence and now form the backbone of the nation's resistance to New Deal totalitarianism.

Funds for Conversion.

The Illinois chief executive has earmarked a steadily increasing state fund surplus for the post-war task of reconversion and for a backlog of public works that will take up any lag between the end of the war and the day private industry again will be functioning on a peace time basis in full force.

Gov. Green's unremitting war on New Deal burocracy, encroachments on constitutional government and against communism has won for him the admiration of citizens beyond the borders of Illinois and the opposition of those subversive and near-subversive groups that have felt his blows most keenly.

"Pete" Green was born 47 years ago in Ligonier, Ind. His boyhood was typical of thousands of American youths. He did chores on his grandfather's farm, worked in a butcher shop, during summer vacations drove lumber trucks and clerked in a drug store.

When he finished high school he went to Wabash college where he was a star quarter back, a fast shortstop and a speedy 100 yard dash man. He was a student there until June, 1917, when he enlisted in the army as a private, was commissioned as an aviation instructor, and honorably discharged in 1919.

Worked, Went to School.

To complete his education he worked in a law office while attending the University of Chicago where he got his law degree in 1922. He practiced here for four years and then joined the legal staff of the bureau of internal revenue at Washington. It was while on this job that he returned to Chicago and prepared the income tax cases thru which Al Capone and other Chicago gangsters were sent to prison. Capone paid him the tribute: "If I only had that man defending me."

In recognition of his work in convicting gangsters Green was named U. S. district attorney shortly before the end of the Hoover administration. Altho Democratic leaders offered many names when Roosevelt took office, the adminstration kept Green because it was unwilling to place pending prosecutions and investigations in other hands. When he finally resigned in May, 1935, the Democratic attorney general expressed regrets and praised his work.

Green took up private practice of law but was back in politics again when he was prevailed upon to be the Republican candidate for mayor in 1939. While he was defeated by Mayor Kelly he made such a strong showing against the strongly entrenched Democratic machine at a time when its treasury was bulging — Green received more votes than any Republican mayoral candidate in history — he became a natural prospect for the gubernatorial race the next year.

Kept Heavy Schedule.

He traveled more than 100,000 miles in his primary and election campaigns of 1940, using automobiles and taking to the air when necessary to keep his heavy speaking schedule. His party leadership followed. Green was given a large share of the credit for the Republicans' Mackinac conference declaration which insisted on the maintenance of national sovereignty in any post-war international collaboration.

In addresses in various states and in the sessions of recent governors' conferences he has been a leader in defending state and individual rights against a growing burocracy and has been a fighting foe of New Deal ideologies.

He married Miss Mabel Kingston while employed by the internal revenue bureau in Washington. They have two daughters, Nancy and Gloria. In addition to their home in the executive mansion at Springfield, the Greens maintain an apartment at 5349 Sheridan rd.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND ADMITS BROTHELS EXIST IN DISTRICT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Prostitution is rife in Paddington district property from which the Church of England draws $280,000 a year in rent, it was admitted at the London diocesan conference today. The church does not regard the money as "tainted," since it receives it from "perfectly respectable people," the real estate agents.

The conference heard some harsh things about Paddington brothels from Dr. T. E. A. Stowell. He said he had traveled in 10 European countries and the United States and Canada, but "never had I seen anything more blatant, cruel, and cynical than since I took a house in Paddington district."

Stowell wrote an open letter to the bishops of the Church of England some months ago condemning conditions in Paddington. The church set up an investigating committee. Its report, approved by the conference today, said it's the fault of law that brothels exist. The report urges the appointment of more policewomen to patrol Paddington and heavier court penalties for prostitution.

CHINESE RETAKE TOWN IN KWEILIN BATTLE SECTOR

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 30 (AP).—Chinese troops striking against the right flank of Japanese forces advancing on Kweilin recaptured Tzeyuan yesterday, and seized a large quantity of supplies, the high command announced today. Remnants of the enemy force fled southward, it added.

The high command said intensive fighting continued on the outskirts of Kweilin, the objective of an all-out offensive launched against the Kwangsi stronghold last Friday by the Japanese. Kweilin once was the site of an American air base.

Other Chinese forces battled Japanese troops north of Lingchwan, 13 miles above Kweilin. To the east still another group of Chinese attacked the enemy about 12 miles from Kweilin. In the coastal province of Fukien, which the Japanese invaded several weeks ago as a defensive move intended to block any American landing from the Pacific, the enemy crossed to the south bank of the Min river after a six mile advance from Foochow.

REVEALS CHIANG ULTIMATUM IN STILWELL CASE

Bares Chinese Threat to Quit Allies.

free speech. The fundamental difference between Chiang and Stilwell has been that Stilwell has been eager to fight the Japs in China without delay and the generalissimo has hoped that he would not have to.

In no other way is it possible to understand the long series of obstructions and delays that have been raised to Stilwell's program.

No Military Record.

The generalissimo, altho he is the acknowledged leader of China, has no record of personal military achievement and his basic ideas for political leadership are those of a war lord. He conceives of armies as political forces.

In an enormous, loosely strung country populated chiefly by ignorant peasantry, he maintains his authority by preventing any group from becoming too powerful.

The Chinese Communists, whom the generalissimo started trying to liquidate in 1927, have good armies that are now fighting guerrilla warfare against the Japs in northeast China. The generalissimo regards these armies as the chief threat to his supremacy. For several years he has immobilized 300 to 500 thousand [no one knows just how many] central government troops to blockade the communists and keep them from expanding.

Armies Poorly Fed.

While the generalissimo's regime has become bureaucratic, inefficient and corrupt, most of the armies are poorly fed and shockingly maltreated.

In some parts of the country the peasants regard the armies as bandits and thieves. In Honan last spring, the peasants turned against the Chinese armies during the Japanese offensive in revenge for the ruthlessness with which the armies collected rice during the famine years.

When the war is over, it is commonly believed, Chiang will resume his war against the Chinese Communists without distraction.

Bewildered and alarmed by the rapidity with which China is falling apart, he feels secure only with associates who obey him implicitly. His rages become more and more ungovernable and attack the symptoms rather than the causes of China's troubles.

Since the negotiations with Maj. Gen. Hurley began, the generalissimo's attitude towards America has become more resentful and American criticisms of China are rebuked.

Into this stagnant atmosphere Gen. Stilwell came in February, 1942, animated by the single idea of fighting the Japs immediately. Like most foreigners who know the Chinese people he loved them. From long experience Stilwell had confidence in the capacities of the Chinese soldiers, who even then were fighting on nothing.

Training Agreed to.

In November, 1941, the Magruder military mission already had made an agreement with Chiang to train and equip the Chinese army on the theory that it would then become unnecessary to ship thousands of doughboys to fight on Chinese soil.

Stilwell was never able to get 1 per cent of the American army for use in his China-Burma-India theater or to get all the equipment he wanted. On March 3, 1942, less than a month after he arrived in China, he was plunged into the calamitous Burma campaign without notice. Stilwell had to return to Chungking to get Chiang to come to the front to vest him with sufficient authority to command the troops. Even then the command was never secure or efficient.

At a time when the troops needed transport, most of China's trucks were hauling civilian loot out of Burma up the road into China where goods were worth huge sums of money. When Stilwell got out of Burma into India he did persuade the generalissimo to let him feed, train, and equip the Chinese soldiers who at last reached him. After training a year and half those soldiers were the backbone of the Chinese divisions who recaptured Myitkyina last August and are now striking to free the Burma road.

Saves Its Armies.

Chiang and his staff like the United States air force which they get free and which asks for nothing except food, and air fields, which we equip with buildings and installations. But the Chinese government hedges and hesitates over anything involving the use of its armies. Foreigners can only conclude that the Chinese government wants to save its armies to secure its political power after the war.

A nervous and driving field officer who is impatient with administrative details and political tangles, Gen. Stilwell is no diplomat. He goes straight to the point in his dealings with anybody. He is plain and salty. He is personally incapable of assuming a reverential mood toward the generalissimo. And he is impatient with incompetent meddling in military command. Altho Stilwell is anything except arrogant the generalissimo complained that Stilwell was trying to subjugate him.

Fought On Alone.

But with the situation in China as it is, no diplomatic genius could have overcome Chiang's basic unwillingness to risk his armies in battle with the Japs. Amid the intrigue and corruption of China's political and military administration, Stilwell was a lone man trying to follow orders, improve the combat efficiency of the Chinese army, force open the Burma road and get China back into the war.

Now he has been forced out of China by the political system that has been consistently blocking him and America is acquiescing in a system that is undemocratic in spirit as well as fact and is also unrepresentative of the Chinese people, who are good allies.

ANTI-NAZI SWORN IN AS MAYOR OF AACHEN'S RUINS

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 1ST ARMY IN AACHEN, Germany, Oct. 30.—For the first time in 11 years this battered city tonight has a mayor who is not under Nazi domination.

He was sworn in at drab ceremonies under the American flag. When last seen he was walking toward the temporary city hall in the basement of a bomb-shattered building. There he will "administer" the city's affairs under auspices of the allied military government.

There are about 3,000 German civilians in Aachen. Several hundred of them remained in the city during the artillery and air bombardment and the 1st division's street battle for the town. The others had evacuated but returned after the town's surrender. The population, when the direct assault upon the city began, was 40,000. In peace time it was 160,000.

Bald Little Lawyer.

Aachen's new mayor is a bald little lawyer, about 40 years old, and, AMG officials said, a chap of undoubted anti-Nazi beliefs.

He was chosen from a so-called white paper prepared by army intelligence after careful questioning of the city's residents. The paper purported to carry the names of the leading anti-Nazis.

The mayor was sworn in at brief ceremonies. Lt. Col. A. A. Carmichael, of Montgomery, Ala., read the oath which an interpreter translated as chill winds swirled rubble and dust thru the streets. It said:

"I solemnly swear to perform the duties of mayor of the city of Aachen; obey all orders of the military govenment, and not act in any manner prejudicial to the military government."

Home Not Standing.

The interpreter spoke in gutteral German. Aachen's mayor, his hands clasped in front, licked his lips slowly and then said softly, "Ja."

He started to leave when someone inquired, "Have you got a home?"

"Ja," he replied, "but it's not standing."

The mayor's chief duty will be to carry out orders of American military officials. His cabinet and other city employes will be chosen from anti-Nazis who have never held major office under the Nazi regime.

MEXICAN LAW LIMITS INFLUX OF EUROPEANS

[Special to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 30.—A decree law that considerably tightens the immigration of foreigners in Mexico was published today in the official gazette. The law, signed by Miguel Aleman, secretary of the interior, gives favored treatment to nationals of the western hemisphere countries and of Spain, but restricts the immigration of other Europeans.

The law is the result of the conclusions reached at a Pan-American conference here last year to discuss uniform post-war immigration measures.

Potential foreign investors will be required to deposit $20,000 in a specified bank, together with their applications. Bachelors will be preferred if they manifest the intention of making Mexico their permanent residence and of marrying a Mexican.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 30 (AP).—Foreign Minister Christian E. Guenther told the Swedish riksdag, convening today that "Sweden's repeatedly demonstrated readiness to coöperate internationally remains. It is hoped also that possibilities will exist for the lesser powers to contribute to the establishment of peaceful order within the planned new world organization."

PLATOON LED BY CHICAGOAN WINS JAP STRONGHOLD

Grenades, Bayonets Do Job on Leyte.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH DIVISION ON LEYTE, Philippines, Oct. 29 [Delayed].—Participating in the assault on strongly held Burauen air field, which has just been wrested from the Japs, the platoon of Lt. Edward Brizd, 2523 f. St. Louis av., Chicago, overcame one new stronghold with the aid of their bayonets. In the engagements were Sgt. Edward Toziol of Le Moyne st., Chicago; Pvt. Robert O'Leary, La Crosse, Wis., and Sgt. Harry Munson, St. Paul, Minn.

As the platoon advanced with tank support, Pvt. O'Leary saw a Jap run from cover carrying explosives. The Jap intended to blow up one of our tanks. O'Leary stopped the Jap with one rifle shot. The platoon then advanced on a well camouflaged enemy pillbox that had held up American progress.

Kill Japs with Bayonets.

While the tank and several riflemen covered them, some members of the platoon rushed up to the pillbox and threw a dozen hand grenades inside, but failed to knock out the occupants. At a signal the men rushed the position and with fixed bayonets destroyed the 12 Japs still alive inside.

A heavy weapon platoon was leading an advance on five enemy pillboxes. Marshy ground prevented fast movement and Sgt. James O'Connor, Minneapolis, Minn., volunteered to creep out 25 yards and reconnoiter a machine gun site. He did this and then dashed on over a narrow trail.

O'Connor's company, headed by Lt. Charles Fordham, Stillwater, Minn., suffered 35 casualties within four hours in this area.

Water Buffalo Charges.

Pvt. Bob Swanson, Hibbing, Minn., army combat correspondent, has just come up with the story of a daylight patrol that went scouting nearly two miles beyond the enemy's line and was nearly brought to grief by a water buffalo.

Sgt. Edward Kilibowski of Chicago and one other lead man had passed near the tethered animal when it broke loose and charged Sgt. Sigmund Bouki, Bay City, Mich. He escaped by flopping and rolling out of the path of the animal, which disappeared in the jungle.

Soon afterward the patrol fired on a party of 40 Japs, killing several. The rest fled. The patrol ran into a net ambush near the American line, but a soldier covered the boys with an automatic rifle as they passed thru and then dashed to safety himself.

GERMAN LINES CRUMBLING IN SOUTH HOLLAND

2 Allied Armies Squeeze Trap on 40,000.

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP).—German positions in southwestern Holland were breaking tonight under pressure from two allied armies which in gains of up to five miles squeezed an estimated 40,000 of the enemy into a 40 mile strip along the Maas [Meuse] ranging from 1½ to 9 miles deep.

At the same time the enemy stranglehold on the approaches to the great harbor of Antwerp was slipping fast, and a German attempt to weaken the allied offensive by an attack in east Holland collapsed.

German troops were pounded mercilessly from the sky as they streamed north to escape over the Maas river by boat and ferry at Willemstad, by the long road and rail bridges at Moerdijk, eight miles to the east, and by a third bridge north of Geertruidenberg, 12 miles farther east.

Most of Nazis to Escape.

But as night and the weather closed in, more and more Germans were getting across and retreating beyond to Dordrecht, 10 miles southeast of Rotterdam. The Berlin radio admitted the Germans were pulling their 15th army out of southwestern Holland. A British spokesman admitted the bulk probably would escape.

The British, on the west flank, were only seven miles from Willemstad ferry. Americans to the east were six miles from the Moerdijk bridges, and British tanks on the east flank were four miles from the Geertruidenberg crossing.

The British captured Roosendaal, last major enemy stronghold south of the Maas. There the British had been held up for 36 hours, but they broke into the city today almost unopposed.

Fight on to North.

The British then fought on three miles to the north into the outskirts of Oudgastel, seven miles south of Willemstad ferry.

At one point north of Roosendaal they reached a small stream some three miles from the Diep. Pulling up to the Mark river, five to six miles south of the Maas and the Diep, the allies found every bridge blown, indicating the Germans would try another stand there.

The Poles who captured Breda, last important Dutch city, south of the Maas, pressed on four miles north to just south of Terheyden, which is only seven miles southeast of the Moerdijk bridges.

They linked up on the east with British troops who seized the important communications center of Oosterhout and Dongen, five miles southwest of Geertruidenberg bridge.

Americans Cut Highway.

American troops under Canadian command, among whose officers is Lt. Col. A. E. Linker of Kewanee, Ill., fighting between Roosendaal and Breda, cut the highway joining the two towns for the second time just east of Etten and pushed 4,000 yards farther north.

The Canadian drive to clean up Antwerp's approaches raced on with the same speed, and all organized resistance on the south bank of the Schelde estuary and on South Beveland Island was crushed.

Dominion troops compressed the reeling Germans into a small pocket on the swampy south coast of the Schelde from which the enemy can no longer fire on allied ships which choose to enter the estuary.

Then to the north they broke German resistance on South Beveland Island, whittled its mauled garrison to some 2,000 troops, raced its entire length and reached the causeway joining it to Walcheren Island to the west, where German guns still dominate the Schelde.

British Aid Americans.

The German drive in eastern Holland apparently designed to ease the pressure on Nazi forces in southwest Holland was stopped cold with the arrival of British reënforcements for the hard pressed Americans, and the allies went over to the attack.

The enemy counter-blow spent its force only 11 miles east of the big allied base at Eindhoven. Tonight bayonet wielding tommies fought back into Lieseel, 15 miles east of Eindhoven, and their American comrades were hammering at the gates to Meijel, five miles south of Lieseel — the two towns overrun by the Germans. The British took Loon.

On the United States 3d army front in France, the 19th infantry division completed occupation of the town of Maizieres, 29 miles east of Nancy. A handful of Germans remained in the town, barricaded in the basement of its courthouse tonight, but their liquidation was expected soon. Nearly 100 prisoners were taken in the closing phase of the fight.

British Carrier Aircraft Sinks 6 German Vessels

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP).—Carrier based aircraft of the British home fleet today attacked enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast, sinking six enemy vessels. An admiralty bulletin reported that its planes also had damaged and driven ashore a large U-boat and had damaged 19 other enemy vessels. The naval planes, in addition, made successful attacks on land targets in the vicinity of Bodo, Norway, including a U-boat depot, wireless stations, oil tanks, shore batteries, and other enemy installations. Five planes were missing from these operations.

WIN BREST, REST 3 DAYS, RIP THRU SIEGFRIED LINE

WITH THE U. S. 29TH INFANTRY DIVISION ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Oct. 29 [Delayed]—(AP).—Scarcely pausing to catch its breath after the battle for Brest, the United States 29th infantry division shuttled more than 500 miles to the northeast in time to help the 2d armored and the 30th infantry divisions smash thru the Siegfried line on Oct. 2, it was disclosed today.

After its breakthru into Germany about 17 miles north of Aachen, the 29th, commanded by Maj. Gen. Charles Hunter Gerhardt, fought its way south and on Oct. 12 helped the 30th division close the Aachen gap by contacting the United States 1st division. This cut off the escape route for Germans on the main road to the north from Aachen.

No Rest for the Weary.

The colorful blue and gray division has been fighting with hardly a pause ever since it hit the Normandy beaches on D-day. Veterans of St. Lo, Isigny, Vierville, and Vire, the 29th's men scored a signal success by whipping the crack troops of the German 2d parachute division and breaking thru extremely heavy defensive positions in the northern sector of Brest. They captured 13,000 prisoners and seized the massive submarine pens in the port.

In collaboration with the United States 2d and 8th infantry divisions, they forced the Germans to surrender at Brest on Sept. 18. In this campaign the three divisions operated as units of Lt. Gen. William Hood Simpson's 9th army.

Across France in Week.

The 29th then spent three days in rehabilitation and battle training before starting on a week-long motor and rail journey across France, Belgium, and Holland to the German border.

At the end of September it was moving into position for the big attack. It cracked the Siegfried line and seized three German towns—Hatterath, Birgden, and Kreuzrath, on the first day.

Even during this hard fighting, the division carried out Gerhardt's policy of intensive training. Battalions in reserve spent their time practicing attacks on fortified positions.

COLOGNE RIPPED BY 20,000 TONS OF BOMBS IN MONTH

LONDON, Oct. 31 [Tuesday]—(AP).—More than 1,000 R. A. F. heavy bombers raided Cologne again last night after 2,000 American planes had attacked Hamm, Munster, Harburg, and Hamburg during the day. Berlin also was bombed for the second consecutive night.

The great industrial city of Cologne now has been assaulted six times in 48 hours and last night's raid brought the total bomb load dropped on it during October to nearly 20,000 tons.

More than 800 American four engined bombers jolted railway yards at Hamm and Munster, then banked north and cracked open Hitler's greatest concentration of oil plants at Harburg and Hamburg. The 950 Mustangs and Thunderbolts covering the Liberators and Fortresses made up the largest fighter fleet ever dispatched by the 8th air force. The 8th lost two bombers and six fighters. R. A. F. Lancasters hit the Union Rheinische synthetic oil plant at Wesseling, nine miles south of Cologne.

PARIS EDITOR GETS 20 YEARS; WOMEN ON JURY

Find Lauzanne Aided Nazis in France.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Stephane Lauzanne, 70, editor of the Paris newspaper Le Matin, an enthusiastic propagandist for the new order in Europe and a violent critic of United States, England, and the De Gaulle government, today was found guilty of collusion with the enemy by the new court of justice. He was sentenced to 20 years solitary confinement and his property confiscated.

Two of the four jurors, who with Judge Auguste Ledoux passed sentence on Lauzanne, were women. They were Mme. Berthe Grelinger, 34, a housewife, and Mme. Marie Fohm, 27, a clerk.

Back Laval and Petain.

Articles written by Lauzanne for Le Matin were read. They showed that he had supported the organization of the French legion to fight along with the Germans and had generally backed the policies of Pierre Laval and Marshal Petain, that he favored enforced labor by Frenchmen in German factories, and urged French resistance to the allied invasion.

For half an hour, recordings of Lauzanne's speeches were played at the trial.

The courtroom was crowded as Lauzanne sat nervously clutching the railing of his box during the proceedings. Occasionally he jumped to his feet and replied to questions with gestures. When the sentence was read he bowed to the court and was led out by gendarmes.

As the hearing opened, beginning the second week of the French purge trials, Lauzanne received permission to make a preliminary statement.

Assails British Policy.

"I could easily have fled Paris, but preferred to remain and explain my actions," he said. "I would rather die in prison in France than live abroad. I have never sold my pen or conscience."

The reading of an article by Lauzanne advocating French resistance to allied landings in France brought a retort from the editor, who once was regarded as an Anglophile.

"I was raised in England," he said. "I deeply admire English traditions, but I always suspected England's very egotistical foreign policy. How can we forget that it was the British who patiently built up German strength during the 20 years that followed Versailles? As for the Americans, I love them. My wife is an American. But I am also a great lover of the French empire, so I reacted against American aggression against North Africa." His wife is a sister of Dr. E. I. Gros, a Californian.

Lauzanne admitted he had made mistakes, but argued—as had Georges Suarez of Aujourd'hui last Monday—that he had not been unpatriotic. Suarez was sentenced to death, but the court in ordering Lauzanne to prison said there were extenuating circumstances.

YANK PUSH INTO REICH HELD UP BY SUPPLY FAILURE

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[War Correspondent, Chicago Tribune.]

If the elastic band of supply stretching tighter and tighter from the Normandy beaches had been longer, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' United States 1st army might have been across the Rhine river last month, or at least on its banks. But the elastic band which had accomplished so much snapped, and the army stopped in the Siegfried line.

When Hodges sent his first troops thru the West wall the Germans were off balance and disorganized. It had been the policy of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commanding the United States 12th army group, and Gen. Hodges all thru the campaign to keep hitting the enemy without a let-up. All across France and Belgium, Hodges and his men had been doing just this.

Then logistics, the old problem of supply, took over. Supply experts of this army and its corps and divisions had performed amazing feats to get this army up to the West Wall. But beyond that they could pull no more rabbits out of the hat; something had happened to our supply system.

Transportation Falls Short.

With the exception of the early days of the invasion when a violent storm played havoc with the beaches there has never been a shortage of vital supplies for the 1st or 3d armies. Nevertheless, there was created what amounted to a transportation bottleneck.

And it stopped an army that was going hell for leather into Germany, stopped it until supplies could be built up again in the forward areas.

Other factors were involved when the 1st army slowed its advance, factors that cannot be mentioned at the moment. But these factors, which included weather, were not insurmountable. They were not controling factors. What did control was the inability of Comzie [communication zone] to come thru in the pinch with two critical items: gasoline and ammunition.

It's Quality That Counts.

Officers realize that impressive figures on tonnage delivered by truck over the high speed Red Ball highways of France, by rail, and by air do not tell the full story. It is not volume of supply that counts to a front line fighter, but the quality.

When an army is racing against time with a good chance to deliver a crushing punch to the enemy, it needs fuel, food, ammunition, some medical supplies and little else, and it wants those in a hurry. It does not want its depots stocked with a well balanced ration including every one of the 100,000 items an army needs when it is not under pressure.

The army doctrine of supply is that the impetus must always come from the rear. Comzie brings supplies to army, army to corps, corps to division, and so on. That doctrine, our people believe, is correct, but it is frequently misinterpreted.

An American field army is in reality a mobile city of well over 100,000 men. Sometimes it can be an army of only two or three divisions, or again it may have as many as 15. And as its size varies so does tonnage required to maintain it.

When an army is moving slowly, supply is not so great a problem. When it starts rolling, supply officers begin to see black spots before their eyes and wonder if a booby hatch wouldn't look good, after all.

Supplies Scaled Down.

There was one time, for example, when the 1st army needed almost 6,000 tons of supplies every day, but it received only about 3,500 tons. That meant every class of supplies had to be scaled down.

Rations suffered least because men must eat whether they are sitting in a foxhole or driving thru the Siegfried line. Medical and chemical warfare supplies were cut out entirely. The engineer section's needs were trimmed a third. Ammunition was halved, and the biggest item of all, petrol, oil, and lubricants, or POL, as it is called, dropped from more than 3,000 tons to below 2,000. Most of this tonnage was brought up by truck from Comzie. The army sent back 189 trucks to haul rations and 157 to haul gasoline, trucks that were desperately needed to move men, equipment, and supplies within the army area.

All of the necessary supply items were there on the continent. There were millions of gallons of gasoline alone. But not enough got to the front, and the VII. corps, spearhead of the 1st army, stopped in the Siegfried line.

THE QUESTION.

What is the most memorable of your Halloween pranks?

WHERE ASKED.

Grant park.

THE ANSWERS.

Joseph De Guido, wiring, 6733 S. Paulina st.—When I was young we used to celebrate Halloween for seven days. We played different pranks every night. One night was gate night; we'd hang gates in trees. Another was cabbage night; we'd cut cabbages and throw them about. Bad tricks, but fond memories.

Frank Lyon, lawyer, 527 S. Taylor av., Oak Park—We made a dummy out of one of the girl's raincoats, leaned it against the neighbor's door, rang the bell, and ran. They opened the door and set the dummy inside. When we returned to recover the raincoat, they threw water on us.

Sgt. Dean Bess, Rock Falls, Whiteside county—The city was laying a new sewer and we hauled the short sections of pipe all over town, putting them on doorsteps and front lawns. The police caught up with us and fired a couple of shots over our heads, which sent us scurrying for shelter.

Jack Duffy, hair dresser, 1244 N. Dearborn st.—There were six boys and one girl in our gang. We hoisted a goat into the balcony of a church. The poor goat stayed in the balcony for two days before it was discovered and returned to its owner. It took a whole crew of men to get it down.

Willard Crabtree, machinst, 742 S. 6th st., Louisville, Ky.—There was an old man who used to beat us for stealing apples, so on Halloween we poured a gallon of molasses in the crank case of his model T Ford. It wasn't the thing to do—it ruined the car and he never drove it again.

Harris Berger, student, 3336 W. 66th st.—We used to round up all the alley cats we could find. Then we'd put a cat inside the screen door and ring the bell. It was a lot of fun to watch people chase the cats thru the house. Some cats walked in unnoticed and they must have gotten a shock when discovered.

FRENCH AVERT OPEN SPLIT OVER PATRIOT MILITIA

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Oct. 30.—An open split between the provisional government of Gen. Charles de Gaulle and the national council of resistance over a De Gaulle decree disbanding the milice patriotique [patriotic militia] was averted tonight. The council announced that it would soon submit to the government proposals concerning the militia's status.

The national council met and apparently decided that a De Gaulle statement last night requesting cooperation of the council left the door open to agreement. It received assurances that the resistance council would be advised in advance of measures taken by the government affecting its operation.

De Gaulle's decision to disband the patriotic militia was protested by Communists and other leftist groups supporting armed organizations carrying on their own police activities.

BIG RED DRIVE AT BUDAPEST ON, GERMANS CLAIM

Massed Artillery's Roar Heard 50 Miles.

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP).—The Russian army opened an offensive aimed at Budapest at dawn today, attacking with artillery, tanks, and planes on a wide front 50 miles from the Hungarian capital, Berlin said tonight.

An almost continuous roar of Russian and German artillery could be heard for 50 miles north and south of the west bank Tisza river stronghold of Szolnok, German broadcasts said.

The 2d Ukraine army already had forced the Tisza river at many points, breaking across the last natural defense line before Budapest, by using unprecedented masses of men and material, Berlin said.

Two major soviet bridgeheads thrown across the river north of Szolnok, 50 miles southeast of Budapest, were crushed, Berlin claimed, and Hungarians and Germans were fighting furiously south of that city to halt the Russians.

A German war correspondent at the front reported by radio that axis troops had been ordered to hold at all costs to save Budapest.

Budapest's Gaiety Vanishes.

The German agency D. N. B. gave this picture of life in Budapest:

"There is no more gypsy music. Everything is rationed. Labor battalions of tens of thousands of men have started to work on entrenchments."

The German high command said axis troops had concluded a three-week fight in the area of Debrecen, 115 miles east of Budapest, and achieved its primary purpose of foiling Russian efforts to encircle axis formations retreating out of Transylvania.

On the third day of a Russian offensive in western Latvia, aimed at crushing perhaps 100,000 Nazis pocketed between Riga and Liepaja, the Germans said the Russians still were pounding axis lines near Priekule, 20 miles southeast of Liepaja, and had advanced several miles in the area of Auce, 70 miles east of Liepaja. Auce was captured by the Russians on Sunday, Berlin said.

Town Retaken, Say Nazis.

In East Prussia, the Germans said, Russian troops had been thrown out of Schlossberg, road junction town 14 miles inside the reich from the border town of Schirwindt, after a bitter house to house battle. Moscow has never claimed Schlossberg [Pillkallen].

Both sides were losing heavily in the violent battles on German soil. A Transocean broadcast asserted the Russians had lost 80 per cent of their men and material, but at the same time admitted German losses were high and warned against undue optimism.

A Moscow bulletin announced the capture of a number of localities in Czechoslovakia and northeastern Hungary.

ESTIMATE THREE MILLION FRENCH IN GERMANY NOW

PARIS, Oct. 30 (AP).—Approximately three million Frenchmen—one-fourteenth of the country's population—are expected to be found in Germany when hostilities cease, Henri Frenay, minister of prisoners and deportees, said today.

Frenay told a press conference that 2,600,000 refugees from other countries are being harbored in France. One million of them are destitute, he said.

The French minister broke down his figures on foreigners in Germany as follows: 780,000 French prisoners of war; 750,000 French workers; 600,000 political deportees; 300,000 deportees from Alsace-Lorraine; 225,000 prisoner-workers and an additional 250,000 deported in recent weeks from frontier areas. Prisoners and deportees on their return will be given a three months' vacation and double rations for six months, the minister said.

BRITISH BISHOP SEES G. O. P. AT HELM IN 5 YEARS

BIRMINGHAM, England, Oct. 30 (AP).—The bishop of Birmingham, Dr. E. William Barnes, today predicted that within five years "the Republican party, with its strong isolationist wing, will be in power in Washington." He questioned whether an American army would then remain in Germany.

Britain would "almost certainly have a government of the left" within that time, he told a Birmingham diocesan conference. He added, "I ask you to consider whether our own army would remain." He suggested that the ideal post-war Europe would be a federation of states with a common currency, no tariff boundaries and a central government allowing the widest local autonomy.

"People should be left where their fathers have lived, and under their flag," he said.

Sentence Withdrawn

Capt. Ephraim F. Goodman of the army medical corps, who returned last May from New Guinea, was found guilty of contempt of court yesterday by Superior Judge John A. Sbarbaro for taking his son, Melvin, 6, last Friday from his former wife, Reba, a Brooklyn, N. Y., school teacher.

Mrs. Goodman, represented by Atty. Irving Elsenman, said she was visiting at 5800 Bernard st. when the captain and his present wife, Harriett, took the boy from the house. When they were divorced Capt. and Mrs. Reba Goodman agreed to share the custody of the child for two month periods. She took the child in September, after the officer had had him for four months by a special court order to make up for the time he was in the Pacific.

Judge Sbarbaro sentenced Goodman to 60 days in county jail, but withdrew the order when Atty. Arthur Goldblatt questioned his jurisdiction in the case of an army officer. The judge then gave full custody of Melvin to the mother, ordered Goodman to pay her traveling expenses to Brooklyn, and appointed Atty. Elliodor Libonati to report Goodman's conduct to his superior officers at Gardiner General hospital.

HALF OF A '2-MAN LOST BATTALION' KILLS INTRUDER

Marooned in Foxhole! Chicagoan's Story.

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY, France, Oct. 29 [Delayed]—(AP).—Sgt. James Flatley went to war last week as a member of a platoon and quickly became half of a "two man lost battalion." After three nights of being marooned in a foxhole he is determined to fight the rest of the war with plenty of company.

Sgt. James Flatley.

Company B from the 1st battalion of the 26th infantry division's 101st regiment was pushing across a hill last Monday night when artillery fire from the village of Bezange la Petite forced it to the ground.

Flatley, whose home is at 2637 W. 35th st., Chicago, and Sgt. Ed Sullivan of Providence, R. I., dived into an abandoned enemy foxhole, not realizing they were about 150 yards ahead of their companions.

Here's Flatley's Story.

When they scrambled into the dugout each man had only one K-ration package, a canteen of water, and a few hard candies, in addition to his rifle and a single hand grenade.

Let Flatley, who used to design window displays for the Carson Pirie Scott department store in Chicago take over from here:

"It was a good sized foxhole with a roof and we stayed put there Monday night, figuring our fellows were near-by and expecting to make contact with them in the morning. But when daybreak came I looked out and was driven back immediately by a sniper firing from a pillbox about 100 yards away.

Hears Nazis Talking.

"We split one of our ration packs and kept our heads down thru the day. We didn't dare move at night because we could not be sure how far back our line was. That night [Tuesday] we could hear Germans talking and even singing a little about 200 yards away inside Bezange.

"The next day after we had finished our rations, candy and most of the water, Sullivan decided to make a run for it. He ran right back when he saw German helmets and rifles showing over the edge of a foxhole about 30 yards away. We decided it was just a bluff and that there were no Germans there, so he tried again. We were right, because Sullivan made it despite snipers' fire—but I didn't know he made it then and it certainly is lonely in a foxhole by yourself.

"About midnight that night I heard a German mine laying party digging about 100 feet from me. Then I heard a couple of grenades go off and some shouting and a few minutes later, some one started crawling into my dugout.

Grunts in Surprise.

"I said, 'Sully?'"

"The intruder grunted in surprise. I realized he was a German and shot him dead—with a German pistol.

"About 10 o'clock Thursday morning I heard a southern voice calling 'Flatley! Flatley! Come on out and run like hell!'

"So I scrambled out and ran back to a foxhole part way to our lines while sniper bullets nipped around me. I stayed there with Lt. Evans [William Evans of Dalton, Ga.] who had called to me and had covered my run with rifle fire directed at a sniper's pillbox. When it got dark, both of us slipped back over the hill to our main positions."

GERMANS RAIN SHELLS UPON YANKS IN ITALY

ROME, Italy, Oct. 30 (AP).—The battle for Italy simmered down to patrol clashes today, with the Germans adding to the misery of mud-bogged allied troops by artillery fire. The shelling was described as the heaviest the American 5th army had encountered. Nazis were seen planting great mine fields and stringing more barbed wire in front of Bologna.

Tank-supported American infantry advanced a mile yesterday in the mountains southeast of Bologna and captured the hamlets of Bosco and Serra.

Italians reported the Germans had looted the Mussolini museum on Rocca Della Caminate, above Verano di Costa, birthplace of Benito Mussolini.

BRITISH DEFEAT GERMANS; TAKE TOWN IN GREECE

ROME, Italy, Oct. 30 (AP).—British troops defeated a German force and captured Kozane, 58 miles northwest of Salonika and 40 miles from the Yugoslav border, allied headquarters announced today. Armored patrols were reported in contact with fleeing Nazi rearguards. Kozane is one of the enemy's main escape routes from the lower Balkans. Allied fighter planes attacked rail traffic in the Salonika area, destroying seven locomotives and 10 cars and damaging 11 other locomotives, a bulletin said. Greek guerrillas were reported unofficially to be fighting in the streets of Salonika.

3 JAPS KILLED IN 'HARA-KIRI' HOSPITAL FIGHT

Denver, Colo., Oct. 30 [Special].—A bungled attempt at hara-kiri was blamed at Fitzsimons general hospital today for a "suicide assault" by three Japanese prisoners of war who were shot to death last night by a guard.

With circumstances of the shooting under investigation by an army board of inquiry, attendants and others at the hospital pieced together a story of Japanese fanticism which indicated the three Japanese had deliberately sought death as atonement for their failure last Aug. 11 to kill themselves in the traditional Japanese ceremonial manner.

The dead Japanese were Sabura Nakagawa, a warrant officer; Kuzuhori Mankino, a chief gunner's mate, and Pvt. 1st Class Sadamu Okada, all captured several months ago by the navy in the South Pacific.

Soldier in Technical Custody.

Pvt. 1st Class Rhett D. Rogers of the army medical corps, who is said to have shot the prisoners with a carbine borrowed from an army sentry, was in technical custody pending completion of the army inquiry. Rogers was given hospital attention for bruises suffered in a struggle with the prisoners prior to the shooting, it was said.

From hospital sources it was learned that Aug. 11 the three Japanese decided to join their ancestors by slitting their abdomens in approved hara-kiri fashion.

They obtained knives, and two of them began ripping at their bellies, it was said. The third, however, made an experimental pass at his neck with a knife and screamed loudly when he inflicted a slight cut. Guards rushed in and seized the knives, and physicians arrived in time to save the lives of all three.

Treated Under Protest.

While receiving treatment under protest, the Japanese are said to have told medical attendants they would make another attempt at the first opportunity. The three originally had been held in a camp in Arizona and had been brought to the hospital for treatment for tuberculosis.

Last night, according to attendants, the three Japanese, recovered from their wounds and due for imminent transfer to Camp McCoy, Wis., summoned a guard and asked for a bottle of milk. Rogers obtained the milk and passed it to them thru the bars of their wardroom door, it was said.

The Japanese are said to have hurled the bottle back thru the door, smashing it on the floor. Rogers thereupon unlocked the door and ordered them to clean up the spilled milk and broken glass, but instead the men leaped on him and began a struggle for his night stick, the only weapon he carried.

One Shot Fired Into Floor.

The night stick was broken and both Rogers and the prisoners suffered blows from pieces of it, it was said. Rogers called for help and a sentry came in with a 30 caliber army carbine.

According to hospital sources, Rogers took the gun and after a shot fired into the floor had failed to obtain compliance with an order for the Japanese to return to the wardroom, he fired at them several times.

On prisoner was shot thru the head, another thru the heart, and the third in the chest and shoulder, it was said.

Nine Russians Captured in France Escape British

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Police tonight were scouring Yorkshire for nine Russian members of the Germans' conscript labor corps captured in France. Ten prisoners "walked out" of a military camp near Hull, but one returned voluntarily after 12 hours of freedom. The other missing men belong to a group of Russians quartered in the camp until their official status is determined.

BACK 4TH TERM, TWO INDIANA NOMINEES TOLD

Ultimatum Issued by Teamster Union.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special].—Unless Gov. Henry F. Schricker and Sen. Jackson [D., Ind.] declare themselves unequivocally for the New Deal and a fourth term for President Roosevelt they won't get the support of the 20,000 members of the teamsters' union in Indiana.

The ultimatum was issued today by Lester M. Hunt, assistant editor of the International Teamsters, official publication of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, and Warehousemen, which has national headquarters here.

Hunt charged in a statement that Schricker and Jackson, who have been nominated by Indiana Democrats to trade jobs—provided the voters are willing—"evidently are ducking the Roosevelt fourth term."

Finds F. D. R. Omitted.

He contended Schricker "makes Roosevelt speeches only when he is in Roosevelt crowds, and when the crowd is fifty-fifty he avoids all mention of the President." He said billboards picture Schricker and Jackson as "two straight thinking Americans," but make no reference to the President.

"Gov. Schricker and Sen. Jackson apparently have the hallucination that Indiana folks will go to the polls and vote for Dewey, then do an about face and vote for Schricker and Jackson," Hunt said.

Fail to Cite Denials.

"If Schricker and Jackson would follow the pattern of the Republicans' campaign in Indiana, they would throw Dewey's charges right back at them. When Republican candidates for state office speak they pick up the Dewey theme and hammer it home.

"But Schricker and Jackson flounder around and fail to mention the fact that the President has denied the Dewey charges.

"When Roosevelt makes Dewey out a liar he is greeted in Indiana with nothing but silence."

Hunt pointed to a purported statement by Ray E. Smith, executive secretary to Gov. Schricker, to the effect that President Roosevelt would "lose Indiana by 35,000 votes." Smith denies he made such a statement and explained he said he believed Gov. Schricker, as a senatorial candidate, "would run 35,000 votes ahead of President Roosevelt" in Indiana.

"I don't want to upset the apple cart," Hunt concluded, "but we [the teamsters' union] have 20,000 votes in Indiana and if this election is as close as claimed, that 20,000 votes might make the difference."

DISMISSED ON DISORDERLY CHARGE.

A disorderly conduct charge against Karl Krejcha, 60, of Seattle, Wash., who was found sleeping on a sidewalk with $359 in his pockets, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Edward F. Luczak in Municipal court.

G. O. P. NOMINEE FOR INDIANA GOVERNOR WARNS ON 4TH TERM

Ralph F. Gates, Republican nominee for governor of Indiana, warned last night that "for one man to seek the Presidency again, again, again, and again is a danger signal to our republican form of government."

Gates, speaking before Lake county citizens in Vogel's restaurant, Hammond, said that the state constitution of Indiana provided no governor may succeed himself. Thus, he said, Indiana is protected from state political machines and potential dictatorships.

The Republican nominee, addressing his remarks particularly to the Polish elements in northern Indiana, declared that the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin trio had sold out the small nations, especially Poland. Gates asserted that Roosevelt is accepting communist support, and that "is surely another reason for a change in Washington."

YULE PACKAGES REACHING SOME YANKS ALREADY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Brig. Gen. William Chickering, director of the army postal service, said today that it is inevitable that many service men will receive their Christmas parcels from home far in advance of Christmas day. Some persons already have received "thank you" notes from men who have received and opened their presents.

"It would be ideal if we could deliver the presents to every one on Christmas eve, but that is impossible," Gen. Chickering said. "The job is a tremendous one with an estimated average of 10 parcels going to each man and woman overseas and we planned it so that those in the most distant outposts would receive their gifts by Christmas. In consequence, some men in relatively near-by posts will get their packages early, while delivery in China probably will be made at the last minute."

Million Packages a Day.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Postmaster Albert Goldman said today 1 million Christmas parcels a day from all parts of the country were being cleared in New York for overseas shipment to service men and women. He said 29,892,337 packages had been dispatched to the army post office from Sept. 15 thru Oct. 29.

PEARL HARBOR'S GHOSTS HOVER OVER ELECTION

F.D.R. Aids Hope to Keep Findings Secret.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—The ghosts of the 3,000 American soldiers and sailors who died at Pearl Harbor, the nation's greatest military disaster, are hovering over this Presidential election.

Democratic campaign managers are known to be viewing with increasing concern the mounting public discussion of the question of Mr. Roosevelt's responsibility as President and commander in chief of the army and navy for the failure to prepare for adequate defense of our Pacific outposts and for failure to order the alert against attack after handing Japan his secret ultimatum of Nov. 27, 1941.

At the moment they are fervently praying nothing touches off before election day the dynamite in the reports of the army and navy boards of inquiry now reposing in the hands of Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

Reports Marked "Top Secret."

These reports are marked "secret," with some parts designated "top secret," and the secretaries are supposed to be considering what, if any, portion properly may be made public.

The grapevine telegraph has carried the intelligence from army and navy circles that the reports contain findings exonerating Adm. Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Short of blame for the disaster and fixing the responsibility on their superior officers in Washington, including Commander in Chief Roosevelt. Hence the Democratic campaign directors are more certain of nothing than the impropriety of making the reports public before Nov. 7.

Pearl Harbor inextricably is linked with what is known as the "commander in chief issue" in this election. The brief for the President is that he is entitled to the credit for the successes of American arms up to date and is best qualified by experience and wisdom to finish the job and work out the post-war peace program.

Seeks to Use Victories.

In his Philadelphia speech the President himself sought to capitalize politically for his benefit the victories of the army and navy, including the smashing of the Jap navy in the Philippines.

The weakness of the argument, recognized alike at Republican and Democratic headquarters, is that if Commander in Chief Roosevelt is to be credited with battles won he is equally to be blamed for battles lost. That is the reason Pearl Harbor takes the bloom off the Philadelphia speech and leaves the Democratic managers hoping nothing worse betides before election day.

From the political viewpoint, a military disaster that put out of commission half the nation's capital ships, destroyed its Pacific air force, reduced its military power in the Pacific virtually to zero, killed 3,000 men on the spot, and prolonged the war two years or more at incalculable cost of lives and wealth is just one of those things that no administration or political party can expect to survive.

Flynn's Accounts Cited.

Apprehensions of the political effects of Pearl Harbor on the President's candidacy for reelection were not allayed by John T. Flynn's exhaustive and thoroly documented account of the disaster and the events leading thereto, which showed that Mr. Roosevelt deliberately courted war with Japan, diverted naval forces needed for Pacific defense to the Atlantic for convoy of British shipping and, after serving a secret ultimatum on Japan, took no steps to meet the attack he had been officially warned to expect.

If Mr. Roosevelt does survive the Pearl Harbor scandal it will be, in the opinion of Democratic leaders, because of his skill in diverting the public mind from the subject and his success in suppressing the facts before the election and making Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short the scapegoats.

N.Y. LEGISLATURE EXTENDS SOLDIER VOTE DEADLINE

Dewey Backed Bill Defended on Floor.

Going to Baltimore

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 [Special].—Gov. Dewey's office late today announced that the Republican Presidential candidate will speak in Baltimore on Thursday in a bid for Maryland's eight electoral votes. After the Baltimore rally Dewey will travel to Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, in Pennsylvania, for night speeches.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30. — Gov. Dewey's record in behalf of soldiers' and sailors' voting rights was successfully defended against Democratic attacks on the floor of the assembly here this afternoon as a special session of the legislature enacted a Dewey sponsored bill extending the deadline for state war ballots to be received at the local boards of election from Nov. 3 to Nov. 6. The session also passed a bill extending election day voting hours to 9 p. m. Polls ordinarily closed at 7 p. m. but have been extended to 9 p. m. for the last two Presidential elections. Both bills were passed unanimously and soon after signed into law by Gov. Dewey.

Minority Leader Irwin Steingut of Brooklyn, arguing for an extension on receiving soldier ballots to Nov. 30, echoed a charge that has been voiced nation-wide by Democrats and their Communist and CIO-PAC and big city machine followers, that Dewey's ballot law barred New York service men and women from voting.

Figures Refute Charge.

Majority Leader Irvin Ives of Norwick refuted this charge with statistics, which show that of 770,000 potential New York voters in the army and navy, 605,000 or 91 per cent have applied for and been mailed ballots. As of yesterday, Ives continued, 375,000 or 61 per cent of the ballots mailed have been received by local election boards.

"I have heard of no better record for any state in the union," Ives declared. "In New Jersey, 41.4 per cent of the war ballots have been returned, while in Pennsylvania 27.9 per cent have been returned.

Called Best Law.

"The New York law has been effective and satisfactory, the best in the United States. Our service men have had two months in which to vote. Now they are getting a three day extension to a deadline that has been posted since enactment of the law last March. It has been easier for our soldiers and sailors to vote by mail than it will be for civilians who have to walk to the polls. They have been given every opportunity within the limits of federal statutes and the state constitution. By Nov. 6, the portion of New York service men and women who have voted will exceed the percentage of the New York electorate voting in many elections."

The bill extending the closing hour for the polls, also sponsored by Gov. Dewey, was to accommodate war workers and an unusually large number of newly naturalized citizens in New York City.

In Buffalo Tonight.

Tomorrow, Dewey will make his second campaign trip into upstate New York, where he is relying upon a majority to overcome Roosevelt's advantage in New York City. He will speak briefly in Rochester and then deliver a main address for nation-wide broadcast at 9 o'clock E. W. T. [8 o'clock Chicago time] at Buffalo.

On Wednesday night, after three rear platform appearances crossing Massachusetts, Dewey will deliver another nation-wide broadcast, from Boston. Thursday he will be in Maryland and Pennsylvania but the program for Friday has not been announced. Saturday night, the candidate is broadcasting from New York's Madison Square Garden and on the Monday, election eve, he will broadcast from a New York radio studio or from the governor's mansion.

RIPS CONTINUING SECRECY ABOUT PEARL HARBOR

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr., declared today "the truth is still concealed" about Pearl Harbor.

"I do not know and the American people do not know who was the commander-in-chief at Pearl Harbor," Brownell said in a statement to party workers summarizing the campaign. "I only know that every New Dealer in the congress has fought bitterly to prevent the court martial which would fix the responsibility wherever it belongs.

"Long ago the time passed when there was no reason of secrecy to prevent the trial. Yet the truth is still concealed."

MRS. STASSEN URGES SUPPORT OF GOV. DEWEY

Terms Him Best Hope of U.S. Unity.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 30 [Special].—Mrs. Harold E. Stassen, wife of Comdr. Stassen, former Minnesota Republican governor, in a radio address today called upon the women of America to support Gov. Dewey and his running mate, Gov. Bricker, for President and Vice President.

"Along with every other American mother," she said, "I want my children to grow up in a world at peace in which the threat of war will not shape and twist their minds and lives.

Need Harmony in Capital.

"This hope, this prayer in the heart of every mother, cannot be realized except with the leadership of a President and congress working together in harmony on the terribly complex problems of peace.

"We must ask ourselves," she said, "whether this spirit of harmony and unity which is so necessary can be developed by an administration which has at turns dictated to or quarreled with the congress for 12 years."

Backs Vigorous Leadership.

Mrs. Stassen said she believed that Gov. Dewey and Gov. Bricker "with their vigorous new leadership, working harmoniously with the congress," have a far better chance to solve vital problems of peace than the present administration.

"No President can succeed in creating unity and harmony in world affairs unless he can first create unity and harmony at home," she asserted. "Every mother knows that a family which has harmony, unity, and coöperation within the home has the basis for friendly relations with its neighbors."

DEWEY BACKED BY WOMAN FOE OF PENDERGAST

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 30 [Special].—Mrs. George H. Gorton, long a leader in the Democratic cleanup forces in Kansas City, has appealed to women voters to support the Republican party in the November election.

"In this election," she said in a radio speech last night, "women have the guiding hand. Sixty per cent of the vote will be that of women, and that percentage will decide the election. Our obligation is great. In our ballots lies the decision upon the way in which the America of tomorrow will go. As an independent southern born Democrat I shall cast my vote for the Republican candidate."

Mrs. Gorton, a lifelong Democrat, was a leader of a campaign that drove the Pendergast machine from the city hall.

There was a shooting last night at 61 W. Ohio st. A rewrite man wrote a story about it but we threw it away because we liked the photographer's caption for his picture better. Here it is:

She then attempted to reload the gun for another try, when her husband bopped her. She attempted to laugh off the fracas, and invited Ed out for a beer, but the gent's nerves were somewhat upset, so he called the E. Chicago av. police."

LUCAS WOMEN AVER HE BACKS GLOBAL RULE

Reelection of Scott W. Lucas to the United States senate will assure Illinois of having a vote for world peace thru the kind of international organization outlined at Dumbarton Oaks, four members of the Women's League for Lucas said last night in a radio roundtable discussion over W-G-N.

Mrs. John Paul Welling, chairman of the league, presided. Speakers were Mrs. Leo P. Finn, board member of the Catholic Big Sisters; Mrs. Milton J. Krensky of Glencoe, and Mrs. Nathan McGill, member of the Provident Hospital Women's auxiliary board.

Speaking in favor of the Democratic record, Mrs. Finn said: "Sen. Lucas was one of the first leaders of either party to advocate international collaboration to secure world peace. . . . Sen. Lucas has always supported the policies of Secretary Hull . . . [and] the reciprocal trade agreements which are such a strong part of our good neighbor policy. . . . We know that Sen. Lucas would vote and fight to extend the form of coöperation outlined at Dumbarton Oaks and other conferences. . . ."

BROMFIELD OUT AS DEMOCRAT TO AID DEWEY

Louis Bromfield, Pulitzer prize author and lifelong Democrat, will speak before the Women Voters for Dewey tomorrow night at Mandel hall, 57th and University av., and Thursday night at Southerland auditorium, 100th and Leavitt sts. The subject of both addresses will be "Free Democracy Demands a Change in Administration."

Bromfield announced in August that he would vote for Gov. Dewey for President. At that time, he described himself as a "liberal Democrat," but declared "the New Deal is like an old rope with frayed ends that can't pull things together."

Bromfield said he would vote Republican for the first time in his life "because we need a fresh and vigorous administration to solve the great problems which confront us at home and abroad."

He will be the guest of officers of the 19th Ward Republican Women's club at the Beverly Hills Country club Thursday evening before his address.

Paris Paper Barred a Day for Violating Censorship

PARIS, France, Oct. 30 (AP).—The afternoon newspaper Liberation Soir has been forbidden by the war ministry to publish for one day tomorrow for printing a military story despite a ban by allied censorship. The newspaper said the ban arrived after some copies of the paper had been printed.

TRUMAN PUTS O.K. ON WALSH—'CAN BE REFORMED'

Providence, R. I., Oct. 30 [Special].—Sen. Truman, who had demanded that Gov. Dewey repudiate eight "isolationist" senators, today explained he had accepted the indorsement of Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.], who also has been regarded as an isolationist, because "we have a chance to reform him."

Truman, Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, was asked at a press conference the "difference between the isolationist record of Sen. Walsh and that of the eight Republican senators" whom Truman had asked Gov. Dewey, G. O. P. Presidential nominee, to repudiate.

Two Years to Serve.

"No difference," Truman replied, "except that Sen. Walsh has two years to serve and we have a chance to reform him." He added later that "from Sen. Walsh's cordiality, I think we have a very good chance."

Walsh announced his support of Democratic state and national tickets in introducing Truman to a Democratic rally at Lawrence, Mass., yesterday.

In a speech before a Democratic rally in the Pawtucket stadium, Truman reiterated his party's plea not to change horses in the middle of the stream.

Calls for Experience.

"It is always poor policy to send in substitutes when you have a winning team on the field," he contended. "You cannot take a chance on inexperienced leadership in the midst of a great war when the lives of our fighting men and the future of the nation are at stake."

He also repeated his complaint against Republicans he called isolationists. While Democratic isolationists have been defeated in party primaries, he said, those in control in the Republican party and "the isolationist press" have succeeded in nominating eight Republican senators who have demonstrated opposition to a strong foreign policy.

59% FOR DEWEY IN DOWNSTATE STRAW BALLOTS

Lead Grows Day by Day Outside Chicago.

BY LEWIS HUNT.

A clearer view of rising Republican sentiment in downstate Illinois is afforded by today's tabulations in THE TRIBUNE'S Presidential straw vote. Canvassers have now reached 27,899 voters in 170 communities outside Cook county and have found 59 per cent of the votes favoring Gov. Dewey.

This percentage is one-half of 1 per cent higher than yesterday's downstate indication, and nine full points above the 50 per cent share of ballots received in these communities by Wendell L. Willkie running against President Roosevelt four years ago.

On today's total collection of straws from Chicago wards, suburbs, and downstate, the standings are:

	1944 straws [percent.]. Roose- velt.	Dewey.	1940 vote [percent.]. velt.	Willkie.
Chicago	57.3	42.7	55	42
Cook county towns	36.6	63.4	40	60
Downstate	41.0	59.0	50	50

New straws taken in Chicago show a gain for the President of two-tenths of 1 per cent. He gained to the same extent the day before, but his pulling power as measured by the straws is still less than the strength he displayed election day, 1940, when he polled 58 per cent of the ballots cast by the wards represented in today's total tabulations.

Dewey Progress Strong.

The 35 downstate places added today, taken as a whole, give Dewey 61.1 per cent of their support. Four years ago, as a whole, these communities voted 52 per cent for Willkie, which was 1 per cent less than he received thruout downstate territory.

Until these 35 were included in the straw vote total, the downstate picture was presented by a group of industrial and farm centers that altogether went Democratic by 51 per cent in 1940. Dewey's share of the test ballots in this previous grouping was 58.5 per cent.

Ups and Downs for F. D. R.

Samplings from Chicago wards added today include three taken at north side locations found favorable to the President. They yield him a percentage of 56.3, as compared with 41.4 given him at three other north side street corners the previous day and partly account for his city-wide gain. South side wards tested also give him a more favorable indication, but on the west side, where Roosevelt's straw majority has been largest, the day's returns trim his standing by 9.8 per cent.

Suburban sentiment is represented today by straws from Des Plaines, Flossmoor, and Berwyn. Their 1940 votes, taken together, went to each candidate equally. Now, on their total straws, Dewey has a 61.5 per cent preference. When these three suburbs are combined with 14 previously tallied, his suburban standing is 63.4 per cent.

Further straws in THE TRIBUNE'S poll, which also includes United States senator and governor thruout the state and state's attorney in Cook county, will be tabulated tomorrow.

SGT. A. J. KREIN HOME AFTER 50 BOMB MISSIONS

Sgt. Arthur Krein.

After 50 missions over Europe on a B-24 bomber of the 15th air force, Tech. Sgt. Arthur J. Krein, 32, was home last night with his wife, Marion, their 20 month old son, Arthur Jr., and the sergeant's father, George Krein, at 4158 Oakdale av.

Sgt. Krein, a waist gunner and radio man, participated in raids on Munich, Vienna, Budapest, Ploesti, Bucharest, Toulon, Nimes, and Trieste, and shortly before his return to the United States helped to bomb submarine docks at Scaramanga, Greece.

Fellow members of his crew are credited with shooting down two enemy fighters, and their ship suffered frequent flak damage. Sgt. Krein holds the distinguished flying cross and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

Before entering the army two years ago he was employed by the Steele-Wedeles company, wholesale grocers, at 312 N. Dearborn st. He will report at Miami, Fla., for reassignment on Nov. 23.

F. D. R. TO CLOSE 4TH TERM DRIVE IN HOME COUNTY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—President Roosevelt will wind up his fourth term campaign touring with a speech in Boston, probably Saturday night, and an election eve talk to his neighbors in Dutchess county, New York.

But a much discussed speaking appearance in Cleveland appeared unlikely tonight as the White House worked out final details of the campaign's closing week.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early confirmed the Boston engagement, but not the date—and, at the same time, reminded reporters that the President never has said he would go to Cleveland.

PLANS SPECIAL SESSION TO STEM ELECTOR REVOLT

Governor Fights FDR Foes in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 30 [Special].—In an attempt to halt the revolt of Mississippi's Democratic Presidential electors against President Roosevelt, Gov. Thomas L. Bailey tonight announced plans to call the legislature into extraordinary session Wednesday and ask it to amend the state election laws to "force Presidential electors to vote for the Presidential nominee selected by their party or face automatic disqualification."

Gov. Bailey, a Roosevelt supporter, set his plans in motion as a result of the announcement of three of his party's elector-nominees that they would cast their ballots in the electoral college for "the true, loyal, and genuine Democrat, Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, for President," and the statement of a fourth anti-Roosevelt nominee that he would likewise support Byrd.

Only Three Pro-F. D. R. Men.

Two more of the total of nine elector-nominees also are known to be opposed to Mr. Roosevelt, leaving only three pro-Roosevelt men in the state named by the Democratic state convention last June.

Bailey said he had received telegrams and "numerous telephone calls from legislators" urging him to take "any steps necessary to get the state in line for Roosevelt."

The governor said the proposed amendment to the state's election laws, "now under advisement," would provide that the places of recalcitrant electors would be filled by the other electors.

Revolt Still Spreading.

Three of the Democratic elector nominees, Frank Everett, Clarence Morgan, and W. G. McClain, said Saturday they believed the election of Roosevelt "would be inimical to the best interests of Mississippi and the south." A fourth anti-fourth term elector is J. B. Perry Jr. of Granada.

Because the revolt still appeared to be spreading, there is some possibility that the legislature itself might become engaged in the bitter fight.

VOLUNTEER "COP" FINED $50.

John Stepankow, 43, of 66 W. Van Buren st., arrested Saturday while attempting to direct traffic at Washington and Halsted sts., was fined $50 on a disorderly conduct charge yesterday by Judge Edward P. Locsak in Des Plaines Street court.

F. D. R. SHAVES DEWEY'S LEAD IN NEW YORK POLL

New York, Oct. 30 [Special].—With the detailed canvass of the New York Daily News Presidential poll of New York state scheduled to end Wednesday, and a three day repoll to start Thursday, President Roosevelt today climbed to within half of a percentage point of a 50-50 tie with Thomas E. Dewey.

This eleventh hour spurt by Roosevelt indicates that the final verdict on election day will rest with the unknown and unsampled 600,000 New Yorkers who have applied for war ballots—unless the repoll should disclose some unexpected and definite trend toward either candidate.

Only about 9,200 straws remain to be tabulated toward the detailed polls total of approximately 62,800 ballots. The figures to date show: Dewey, 27,113 straws or 50.5 per cent; Roosevelt, 26,540 straws or 49.5 per cent.

WILSON PUPILS TO DEBATE ON PRESIDENT RACE

Student speakers will extol Presidential candidates at rallies to be held at 9 and 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. tomorrow in the auditorium of Wilson junior college, 6800 Stewart av. Residents of Englewood also are invited to attend the meetings, sponsored by the social science department and the social science club. A question period will follow the talks. At the end of each hour a straw vote will be taken. Votes of the several groups will be tallied for choices of the major candidates. The ballots will cover candidates for President, Vice President, governor, United States senator, and congressman-at-large.

LYONS SALUTED AS STATESMAN IN G. O. P. RALLY

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Impressive tribute was paid to Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, by Gov. Green and Sen. Brooks before an overflow audience chiefly comprised of business men in the Grand ball room of the La Salle hotel yesterday.

It was Lyons' day, set by his admirers as a partial reward for his years of effort for Americanism and free enterprise thruout the years of burocratic success at the polls.

Gov. Green declared that samplings of public opinion show the fourth term candidate losing ground daily despite attempts of the big city machines to whip voters into line. He predicted the election of Gov. Dewey and Lyons, who, he said, will be a worthy teammate for Sen. Brooks.

Lyons Hailed as Statesman.

"I know Dick Lyons," the governor said. "I know, and all the people of Illinois know, his sound record on Republican principles and how valiantly he has fought for those principles thru the years.

"His 10 year record in the Illinois legislature marked him as a constructive, progressive statesman and proved, not only his party loyalty, but his outstanding ability as a public servant. A successful business man, his record also shows him to be an active friend of labor and agriculture."

Green said the people are determined that a thoro job of housecleaning shall be done in Washington. The G. O. P. tide is gaining landslide proportions, he said.

"In frantic, last minute attempts to save their ticket," he said, "the big city bosses have hauled the fourth term candidate from city to city, to drive him about the streets and show him to the gaping populace like the kings of old. But after 12 years the American people won't be fooled again.

"The trend is definitely Republican. And it cannot be changed this time by glittering preelection promises, because after 12 years of 'experience' the people know that these promises will be followed by disillusionment."

Brooks said that in this era of clashing philosophies of government, no man is better qualified than Lyons to defend the American way of life. When many weakened before the onrush of New Deal power, Lyons never wavered in his devotion nor sought safety and comfort, the senator said.

Brooks Proud of Lyons.

Lyons' forensic ability, understanding of the problems of this nation, and proud concern with America are linked with the love borne for him by residents of his home town of Libertyville, Brooks asserted, adding:

"It will be a proud hour next January when I walk down the aisle and present Richard J. Lyons as my colleague in the senate of the United States."

Sheldon Clark, chairman of the meeting attended by most of the other Republican nominees, praised Lyons' tolerance, alertness, and vigor. A vote for Lyons' opponent, Sen. Lucas, New Dealer running for reelection, is a vote for the fourth term, this business spokesman said.

Lyons responded with a pledge that, above all else as United States senator, he will reflect credit upon his country, his party, and his family. Then he blasted at the fourth term drive.

Compares Two Candidates.

"Last Wednesday the largest crowd ever to fill the Chicago Stadium heard Gov. Dewey; they were there to praise equally the candidate for Vice President, Gov. Bricker," Lyons said.

"But at the Democratic rally Saturday for the fourth term candidate, the name of the Vice Presidential candidate, Truman, was conspicuous by its absence. There at Soldiers' field the President out-promised Huey Long. Yes, he promised three cars for every garage and 16 chickens for every pot, but he did not say how it was going to be done."

Lyons referred to Vice President Wallace as "the roving minstrel man for the New Deal." He recalled Wallace's charge that it was necessary to take American business men by the scruff of the necks and drag them into the war effort.

"I cite that here merely to demonstrate in what high regard the Roosevelt administration holds the patriotic business men of America, without whose help on the home front the victories being won by our fighting men on the battle fronts could not have been achieved," he said.

BARRETT, WHO CAN'T CAMPAIGN, GETS AN ASSIST

Ex-Gov. Stelle Speaks for Him.

John Stelle, who served 100 days as Democratic acting governor of Illinois, made a radio speech yesterday advocating the election of Marine Sgt. Edward J. Barrett, Democratic candidate for secretary of state.

Army and navy regulations prohibit Barrett from making speeches, but he will be guest of honor, attired in uniform and campaign ribbons, tonight at a testimonial dinner given at Springfield by a group of discharged veterans of World War II.

Served in Two Wars.

"Eddie Barrett volunteered for World War I. at the age of 17," said Stelle. "He fought in France, was wounded, and cited for gallantry. When the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor, altho Barrett was 43 and above the draft age, he enlisted as a private in the marines.

"Sgt. Barrett was state treasurer from 1931 to 1933 and state auditor of public accounts from 1933 to 1941. In those offices he made a record of public service which has stood as a model of honest and efficient administration."

Sen. Lucas (D., Ill.) declared in a speech at Monmouth that "mothers of fighting sons . . . will not take a chance prolonging this war by changing the commander in chief." Lucas is running for reelection.

Grabs for Coattails.

State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic nominee for governor, sought help from President Roosevelt in a speech before a sportsmen's dinner in Hotel Sherman. Courtney, who had been promising tax reductions, branched into what he called the "national issue," agreed with New Dealers who have praised the President, and concluded:

"We have a winning combination, and victory is sure to come. This is no time to change."

Courtney also confided that an extensive campaign downstate developed into "a real job, rather than an exciting pastime, after the first five or six months." He estimated he has survived two million handshakes.

The Mayor Drops In.

In a surprise appearance at a 46th ward meeting at 3212 Broadway last night, Mayor Kelly called the election a referendum on whether America wants a negotiated peace, and urged all his hearers to vote a straight Democratic ticket. He was accompanied to the meeting by Michael Mulcahy, Democratic candidate for sheriff.

Other candidates who spoke included Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, candidate for congressman-at-large; and Frank Donoghue, candidate for Municipal court judge. Thomas Gobble spoke in behalf of the candidacy of Curtis MacDougall for 10th district congressman.

TOTAL VOTE IN U. S. NOV. 7 EXPECTED TO EXCEED 44 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—On the basis of incomplete registrations and estimates of voters, state officials figure that 44,102,000 persons will vote in next week's Presidential election, including 3,392,000 army and navy men and women.

This compares with the 49,815,312 who cast ballots in the 1940 election, but takes into account war time dislocations in estimating the over-all decrease, despite heavy registration in big cities.

California and Illinois were two of the big electoral vote states which set registration records this year.

Final official registrations for California totaled 4,141,331, an increase of 88,936 over the record set in 1940. The 1944 total included 2,418,965 Democrats and 1,548,395 Republicans. It excludes service ballot applications. An Illinois tabulation showed 4,501,554 citizens registered, including 2,080,701 downstate and 2,420,853 in Cook county. The estimated Illinois service vote is 300,000. The Illinois vote in 1940 was 4,217,935.

3 HOMES REPORT ATTACKS UPON DEWEY POSTERS

An unidentified hoodlum threw a rock last night thru a Dewey placarded window in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grosse, 556 W. 37th st. The missile almost hit Grosse.

Earlier a Dewey picture at the home of James S. Tomsovic, 5343 S. Hoyne av., appeared to have been the target of stone throwers. He is said to be a 15th ward Republican precinct captain.

Leaden pellets from an air rifle were fired at a Dewey poster in a basement window at the home of Henry M. F. Gehrke, 4851 N. Claremont av. Police said Halloween pranksters may have been responsible for one or two of the three attacks.

BRICKER CALLS F. D. R. PRISONER OF HILLMAN BLOC

Rips President's Speech on Profit System.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30 [Special].—President Roosevelt can't repudiate the support of Sidney Hillman, Earl Browder, and the Communists "because he is their political prisoner," Gov. Bricker said in an address tonight.

The Republican Vice Presidential nominee warned that Mr. Roosevelt wouldn't have put the American profit system at the mercy of such men if he believed in it. He asserted that American labor will not be deceived by the President's "smooth words" last Saturday night when he professed belief in free enterprise, the profit system, and industrial expansion.

"Labor knows," Bricker declared, "that for 12 long years Mr. Roosevelt did not believe in expansion. In fact, he said in 1933: 'Our industrial plant is built.'

Questions F. D. R. Beliefs.

"Labor knows that Mr. Roosevelt did not believe in free enterprise. In fact, he sought to make his administration, as he said, 'first the match and then the master of business.'

"Labor knows that Mr. Roosevelt did not believe in the profit system. If he had he would not have put it at the mercy of Sidney Hillman and Earl Browder, whose Communist theories call for the destruction of that very system.

"Now let us look at the facts which conclusively prove that Franklin Roosevelt and the New Deal are in the hands of the radicals and the Communists.

"First, take the case of this man Sidney Hillman, who helped boss the New Deal convention. He was born in Lithuania, then a part of Russia, under the name of Gilman. He became president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers about 1914. He returned to Moscow at least three times, and had conversations with Lenin at the Kremlin. It was here that he is said to have met the Communist Earl Browder. Then he gained access to the government. He is now chairman of the political action committee, which is the spearhead of the fourth term campaign of Franklin Roosevelt, and which is extracting campaign funds from American workmen by threats and intimidation.

Case of Browder.

"Second, take the case of Earl Browder. He is the No. 1 Communist in this country. He was a draft dodger in the first World war. He was sentenced to the federal penitentiary in Leavenworth, Kas., in 1919 for his activities in opposition to America's entrance into the war. He was convicted of passport fraud in 1940 and again imprisoned in the federal penitentiary. After serving but one year and two months of a four year sentence, President Roosevelt pardoned him in time to help run the fourth term campaign. And he is helping to run it—make no mistake about that.

"Third, consider the case of Mrs. Reissa Berkman Browder, the wife of Earl Browder. She is an alien and is in this country illegally. Yet she has been saved from deportation by the New Deal, in spite of previous recommendations, approved by the war, navy, and justice department representatives, ordering her out of the country.

"Fourth, there is the case of Harry Bridges. Even Atty. Gen. Biddle, weak and politically biased as he is, found him to be an alien Communist and ordered his deportation. But he is still in this country—and he is supporting Mr. Roosevelt.

Reds Run PAC.

"Fifth, consider the extent to which Hillman's political action committee is actually run by Communists. Evidence presented to the Dies committee showed that at least 82 leaders of the PAC have been affiliated with organizations listed by Atty. Gen. Biddle as Communist front organizations.

"Is it any wonder," Bricker continued, "that people everywhere are alarmed by the Communist threat to American institutions and the American way of life?

"The man behind Franklin Roosevelt is Sidney Hillman. The man behind Sidney Hillman is Earl Browder. And back of him are the class hatreds, the alien philosophies, and the economic slavery of the world."

DEMPSEY BARES KELLY'S ORDERS TO 'STOP' HIM

Last, Desperate Act Is Charged.

Two weeks ago when the defeat of the Kelly candidate for state's attorney became evident, the city hall started a desperate campaign of mudslinging, John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, told the City club yesterday at a luncheon in La Salle hotel. "Each day for five days of the last week different groups of precinct captains and payrollers were packed into the Civic Opera house to receive secret orders direct from Kelly," Dempsey said.

"At these meetings the Kelly workers received instructions for the whispering campaign they are to use in their precincts during the remaining days of this campaign. Wild charges and sly insinuations were made. These meetings, held in secret, were 'Stop Dempsey' meetings.

Machine Becomes Frantic.

"Mayor Kelly and all the candidates concentrated their persuasive power on the one theme—'Stop Dempsey.' I ask you why? Why has the Kelly machine become so frantic? Why are they giving orders to their precinct captains and payrollers that 'Dempsey must be stopped'?

"Do they fear an end to immunity for those who have been charged with dealing in the spoils of our school system and profiting at the expense of our children?

Trying to Cover Up.

"Do they fear that the defeat of Kelly's personal candidate for state's attorney will mean investigation of any charges that are made of corruption in local public offices? What is it they are trying to cover up? Why the 'Stop Dempsey' secret meetings? Why are they so panic stricken and desperate?"

Dempsey's conclusion was that the issue in this contest is:

"Shall Kelly be state's attorney, too?"

DEMANDS ARMY STOP 'FILTERING' NEWS TO YANKS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Rep. Rogers [R., Mass.] charged today that American soldiers abroad are getting censored and inadequate news reports because of the army's policy of "filtering" press dispatches to service newspapers overseas.

Mrs. Rogers, who has returned from a tour of the European battle fronts, declared that the editors of such army newspapers as the Stars and Stripes should have free discretion to use any material from the regular news services in this country.

"The newsmen, both military and civilian, are incredibly heroic in getting war news," she said in a statement. "Why can't we have a little moral courage in reporting the home news to our men and women in uniform overseas?"

In New York, Maj. William B. Murphy, officer in charge of the army news service, said "there have been no delays in the transmission of critical home front news which were caused by waiting for higher authority to review the news."

GREEN CHARGES 4TH TERM DRIVE IS BASED ON LIE

Social Gains Not New Deal's Alone.

In answer to charges made by President Roosevelt in his speech in Soldiers' field, Gov. Green last night accused the New Deal campaigners of committing deliberate falsehoods in their efforts to disguise the mistakes of the Democratic administration.

Speaking over a Chicago radio station, Gov. Green said the entire New Deal campaign is based on the misrepresentation that Roosevelt is the only man capable of achieving social progress.

"Deliberately False."

"The frantic campaign to convince the American people that Roosevelt must be elected to preserve social gains is as deliberately false as the claim that Roosevelt must be elected for America to win the war," Green declared. "The truth is that the election of Gov. Dewey, by uniting the country and restoring public confidence, will open the way for a national prosperity under which our workers and farmers may go forward to material and social progress such as they have never known."

President Roosevelt's accusation that the Republicans are waging a "me, too" campaign is false, Gov. Green said, because the principles ratified by both parties are principles which belong to the nation and not to the New Deal.

"If there is any 'me, too,'" Green said, "it came when Roosevelt subscribed to the fundamental principle of the Republican platform and promised to unshackle free enterprise and end strangling regulation of American business, agriculture and labor, and let our free American system find jobs for our people after the war.

"Had to Say "Me, Too.'"

"The fourth term candidate said 'me, too' to that program because he realized he had to say it. Not even the power of the political action committee, the strength of the big city bosses or the lie that more American soldiers will die unless we elect the man indispensable to Hillman and Browder can upset the decision of sound Americans that our future lies in free enterprise."

The President's indorsement of the Republican principle of free enterprise cannot be believed, Green said, because he has promised it so many times before and always has failed to live up to his promises.

In an address delivered over station W-G-N, Earl Benjamin Searcy, Republican candidate for clerk of the Superior court, charged the New Deal with fostering political intolerance.

Totalitarian System.

If the New Deal succeeds in "destroying political independence the same thing will happen in this country that has happened wherever only one school of political thought and action was permitted—a totalitarian system as complete as if a medieval potentate reigned."

Thruout history, Searcy said, nations have fallen whenever they trusted their leadership to one man. This historical precedent, he said, should guide American voters to the Republican side of their ballots next Tuesday.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for the United States senate, and Sen. Brooks will speak today at a noon luncheon for all Republican candidates in the grand ballroom of the La Salle hotel. The Woman's National Republican club of Chicago is sponsoring the event, which has drawn so many reservations that tables are being set in the Century room as well as the ballroom. Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committee woman, is chairman, with Mrs. George Weichelt and Mrs. James N. Rawleigh as co-chairmen.

Home Under Fire

Louis Nagy points to bullet hole in window of his home.

Leo Nagy, 1508 N. Fairfield av., who has been feuding with a landlord who wanted to raise his rent $10 a month, dodged bullets last night when an unseen gunman fired four shots thru a window of his second floor apartment. A week ago Nagy signed a disorderly conduct complaint against his landlord, Albert Basile, who lives on the first floor. He charged Basile became abusive when he refused to pay higher rent. Two days later, Nagy said, some one downstairs fired five shots into the ceiling between the flats, but none penetrated the Nagy home. Police made a search for Basile, who is scheduled to appear in Racine av. court today on the week old complaint.

COFFEE HAS PRE-WAR QUALITY

America's tradition of fine coffee has been kept secure

One of the accomplishments on the home front in this war has been the maintenance of fine quality in coffee. At no time has the coffee drinker in America been denied delicious flavor in his cup.

Today Hills Bros. Coffee has the same popularity that it had in peacetime. For its flavor has been maintained by selecting only the finest coffees obtainable and then roasting the blend by a special process, "Controlled Roasting."

The basic principle of this exclusive Hills Bros. method is roasting a little at a time. Automatically measured quantities of coffee are introduced into the roaster in a steady stream and pass along in a continuous flow. The speed of operation and degree of heat never vary, and every berry is roasted to absolute perfection. Thus, any chance of flavor variation is eliminated.

Those who drink Hills Bros. Coffee are quick to praise it. For this is coffee flavor at its finest—flavor that never falls short since every pound has the same uniform goodness.

BYRNES URGES: ELECT F. D. R.—HE KNOWS STALIN

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Breaking the political silence which he has maintained since Sidney Hillman barred him as a Vice Presidential nominee last July, War Mobilization Director Byrnes tonight called for the reelection of President Roosevelt on the basis of a doubt that Gov. Dewey could cooperate successfully with Allied Leaders Churchill, Stalin, and Chiang Kai-shek.

The former South Carolina senator who left his seat on the Supreme court to take a post popularly known as "assistant President," was reported to have made the indorsement of his chief only after pressure continuing over a period of weeks. It is known that Byrnes until recently refused to speak to Mr. Roosevelt, transmitting all communications thru Harry Hopkins, White House intimate.

In his lengthy radio address, Byrnes emphasized he had never regarded himself as a New Dealer but as a Democrat.

Urges No Purge Now.

"This is no time to urge on partisan grounds a wholesale house cleaning," he said.

"I appeal to the American people to ignore side issues and name calling; to forget personal grievances however justifiable—and concentrate their thoughts upon the two all-important issues—the quickest possible winning of the war and the surest possible safeguarding of the peace."

If Stalin, Churchill, or Chiang Kai-shek were removed from office at this time, Byrnes argued, this nation would have doubt as to how the successor would work with President Roosevelt and the others.

Question of Working Together.

"Can you doubt that the removal of Roosevelt at this time would have a similar effect upon our allies and would prolong the war?" He asked.

"I do not think the Republican party in the congress under its present leadership can be relied upon to carry thru effective nonpartisan peace plans for our active participation in world affairs," he concluded.

BIBLE STUDENTS GRANTED VOTING RIGHTS BY BOARD

Each Case Considered on Basis of Residence.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Rulings by the board of election commissioners yesterday granted the right to vote to most of the 226 students at the Moody Bible institute whose disfranchisement was sought by the 42d ward Kelly Democratic organization. The rights of others still were under consideration late last night but County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki assured all of them their cases would receive individual consideration.

The board, consisting of Commissioners Harry Lipsky, William B. Daly, and Mabel Reinecke, ordered that the records be corrected in reference to those Moody students whose voting address was given as 153 Institute pl., which is the office of the school. They live in near-by dormitories.

Cite Supreme Court Ruling.

Judge Jarecki said the Supreme court's opinions would be the guide regarding the voting rights of other students who were "suspected" on the theory their home is not in Chicago, altho they are living here. In general, it was pointed out, college students are not permitted to vote in college towns, because in theory their place of abode is the home of their parents.

Atty. Charles F. Hough told the election board yesterday the students honestly could call Chicago their home because they severed all parental ties in order to come here to study theology.

Only those students who regarded their parents' home as their permanent place of abode should be disqualified, it was agreed.

Atty. Hough won favorable rulings for at least 139 of the students, he reported to the Business Men's committee which directed him to act for the students, assisted by Atty. Paul C. Ross, Republican ward committeeman. He reported 26 were disqualified and 61 others lost their suffrage because they failed to appear. He will appeal today, he said, in behalf of 13.

Will Accept Appeals.

Judge Jarecki said he would act as an appeal court from the action of the election board for any one dissatisfied with a board decision. By tonight, Judge Jarecki said, all matters pertaining to the right to register and vote will be settled and the final registration figures will be available soon.

Instructions were being sent the judges and clerks of election yesterday by Judge Jarecki regarding the proper way to handle soldiers' and sailors' votes. He pointed out that:

1. Soldiers or sailors home on a furlough, or who have been discharged within 60 days of the election, may vote altho not registered.
2. The absentee ballots are to be counted at the close of the polls, 5 p. m., and not during the day.
3. The envelopes containing the ballots are to be opened carefully so the ballot will not be torn—which would invalidate it—and initialed by one of the judges.
4. If there is proof that the absent voter is dead the vote shall not be cast—but the judges should not act on guesses.

"I urge you to rise above partisanship and conduct the election in a manner befitting the dignity and the importance of your office," Judge Jarecki wrote to the officials. "Give to every voter and to every candidate an absolutely square deal. By doing so you are protecting the integrity of the ballot, preserving the greatest privilege of free men and free women, and making secure the foundation of our American institutions."

"Gee, Dad, I bet that's just how you looked when you were in the navy in the last war!"

JUDGE ORDERS REINSTATEMENT OF CAPT. BARRY

Judge Joseph A. Graber in Superior court yesterday ordered the reinstatement with full back pay of former Capt. Eugene A. Barry of the Shakespeare av. police district, one of the six captains and an acting captain who were discharged from the department June 16 by the civil service commission for alleged failure to suppress gambling.

The civil service proceeding was described by Judge Graber as "the greatest travesty of justice on record" before his court. Records of the commission hearing, he said, failed to show any testimony by "so-called investigators" for the state's attorney's office who had reported gambling in Barry's district, and he noted that the investigators were not subjected to cross-examination.

Tells What Might Happen.

"If this practice were to become an established rule for evidence," Judge Graber said, "a judge could hold a man guilty of murder without giving him a chance to refute evidence."

"There has never been a single reprimand against Barry," Judge Graber said in giving his decision. "There is nothing to show that he did not investigate complaints of gambling.

City Has 20 Days.

The city will have 20 days in which to file notice of intention to appeal from Judge Graber's order. Many court observers said they thought it doubtful that the city would attempt an appeal, however, as it did not contest Superior Judge John Lewe's order directing that suspended police officers be returned to their jobs pending a civil service commission hearing of charges against them.

Capt. Barry, a member of the force for 31 years and winner of 32 creditable mentions and six extra compensations, lives at 9201 Hamilton av. He filed his suit for reinstatement in September, and the six other discharged district commanders filed suits on similar grounds a month later. The officers are: Capt. Thomas Harrison of East Chicago av. station; Capt. Walter F. Healy of Hyde Park; Capt. John T. Cartan of Des Plaines st.; Capt. Louis Klatzco of Albany Park; Capt. Thomas Connelly of Morgan Park station, and Lt. William J. Drury, who was acting captain of Rogers Park station.

RISE OF HILLMAN COMPARED TO THAT OF HITLER IN REICH

New York, Oct. 30 [Special].—The doors of Germany were opened to the Nazis because "an old, worn and discouraged president" of that country ordered his people to "clear everything" with a paperhanger, former Judge Harry A. Gordon, one of New York's most prominent Jews, said tonight in a radio talk under the auspices of Democrats for Dewey.

Gordon, whose legal practice over a 30 year period as counsel to manufacturers' groups in men's and women's outer and undergarment trades has brought him into close contact with Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO political action committee, urged his hearers not to be blind to events of contemporary history. Gordon asserted that if our country is to survive rabble rousing class conscious agitators must be eradicated from public life. Gordon said clothing manufacturers of New York who have dealt with Hillman's CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union know what it has meant to have "cleared with Sidney" during the past 25 years. Hillman's union has openly sought communism in industry, Gordon said.

PAC TO FUNCTION AFTER ELECTION, HILLMAN SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Sidney Hillman said today that his CIO political action committee will continue its activities after the national election "to keep international issues before the people." He told members of the National Press club at a luncheon that the PAC is not concerned merely with helping the New Deal win reelection but with the future issues of peace and a constructive home program.

Hillman asserted several times that the CIO-PAC is "nonpartisan" and interested only in "issues." He said the organization is supporting the Roosevelt administration not because it is Democratic but because Gov. Dewey and the Republican party have as their program "the old Hoover philosophy of drifting along and hoping for the best."

Hillman referred to the President constantly as "our commander in chief." He dwelt upon the "indispensable man" theme with assertions that the nation will gamble if it elects Gov. Dewey.

"If Dewey wins, the war will not be carried on effectively," declared Hillman. "The war will be prolonged. It is my personal knowledge that Dewey has nothing to qualify him as the commander in chief. I am satisfied that the people in control of the Republican party have learned nothing from the past."

DODGE STANDS UP FOR RIGHT TO SIT IN GIRL'S LAP

Denver, Colo., Oct. 30 [Special].—Ensconced in the Presidential suite of the Brown Palace hotel, Maj. Horace E. Dodge Jr., multimillionaire scion of the Dodge automobile family, said angrily today he has heard that "some one is taking exception" to his posing for a photograph Saturday on the lap of his son's bride, and that "they are not going to get away with it."

The major, who is a retired army officer, arrived here Saturday 20 hours too late to be best man at the wedding of his son, Corp. Horace E. Dodge III., to red-haired Margery Gehman, 20. After giving the couple his blessing he entertained them at his hotel suite, received photographers, and plumped himself into his daughter-inlaw's lap while camera bulbs flashed.

Admits Some Criticism.

The thrice married major admitted today that the photograph showing him in his major's uniform in this unconventional pose has aroused some criticism.

"I don't know who it is that is objecting to this picture," Maj. Dodge said. "It's not the army. I'm sure I don't know who it is. If I find out, God help them.

"I see nothing wrong with that picture," he continued. "My son was present when it was taken. This was a family reunion. This was the first time I had got together with the kids. What's wrong with that?"

Termed "Unbecoming."

Despite Dodge's protestations, there were reports here that even tho the army may have taken no official cognizance of the photograph, many army officers described it as in bad taste. One account quoted an unnamed army spokesman as saying the pose was strictly against army regulations and displaying conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

The major was alone in his suite today, his son having returned to duty at Lowry field and the bride having gone on a visit to the camp in the hope of being able to be with him for a few hours.

HALLECK WARNS AGAINST TRUMAN IN WHITE HOUSE

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special].—Sen. Truman, the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, was described as an "ineffectual, inexperienced, boss-made man" in an address here tonight by Rep. Halleck [D., Ind.] chairman of the Republican national congressional committee.

"If the election were to be decided solely on the abilities of Gov. Bricker and Sen. Truman, the Republicans should win in a walk," Halleck said. "Strange as it may seem, perhaps this is the very issue on which the election should be decided. It is not beyond a possibility that a few months hence one of these men will be President of the United States."

"I sincerely regard the prevention of the possibility of Truman becoming President as a great patriotic duty of men and women in all parties," Halleck said.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 30 (AP).—Thirty "Fundamentalists," convicted of conspiring to violate Utah's anti-polygamy law, asked the 3d District court today to find them innocent despite the jury's verdict of guilty. The motions asserted the evidence was insufficient.

CHARGE POLITICS BEHIND SHIFT OF CAPT. MALONE

Political leaders in several wards sought an explanation yesterday for the sudden replacing of Police Capt. Frank Malone of the Marquette station with Lt. Edward Calipoy. Capt. Malone was given a 10 day furlough just eight days prior to the election.

The Marquette station is in the middle of the 21st ward and in supposedly Democratic territory. Its area also covers parts of wards 20, 21, 24, 25, 27, and 28—some of which have been called gang ridden in the past and in which many charges of vote fraud were made. Election violence occurred regularly. The district extends from Harrison street on the north to the river on the south—about 35th st.—and from Ashland av. on the east to Kedzie av. on the west.

Capt. Malone is no longer regarded as an "administration man" some of his colleagues said. He went thru a Criminal court trial and a civil service trial as a result of a gambling murder in the Chicago Lawn police district a year ago when, according to his friends, he was under the orders of County Clerk Michael Flynn, Democratic boss.

It was reported other police "switches" are to be made with an eye on their helpfulness to the candidates supported by the administration.

MRS. BERGDOLL FILES BID FOR U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP). —Mrs. Berta Bergdoll, German born wife of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger of World War I., has applied for citizenship and the office of immigration and naturalization service said today the application is being investigated.

A spokesman for the naturalization service declined to say whether the application had been approved and said the matter is still under consideration.

Mrs. Bergdoll is tentatively scheduled to appear for a hearing on Nov. 8. The application was filed May 5 under the naturalization law which permits an alien wife to derive citizenship from her husband.

Bergdoll, who was released recently after serving four years and 10 months of a seven year term for draft evasion, now lives in Downingtown, Pa., with his wife and six children.

Commission Begins Work on Police Captain Exams

The civil service commission yesterday began correcting the examination papers of 130 police lieutenants who took written tests Sept. 9 for promotion to captaincies. Correcting the papers will take six weeks, it was predicted. There are 23 vacancies in the department for captains.

Have a Coca-Cola = Going our way?

. . . or meeting a comrade in Northwest Canada

Friendship comes easy to allies devoted to common causes and borders without guns. Have a "Coke", says the Yank sergeant to the Canadian mountie, and he's talking a lingo of friendship that both understand. That's the informal North American way to say Greetings, friend. It's the same informal way to put friends at ease in your own living room, too. From the Yukon to the Gulf, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—a symbol of a friendly way to get along with folks.

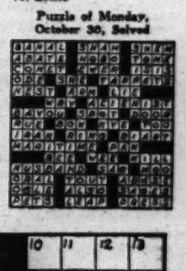
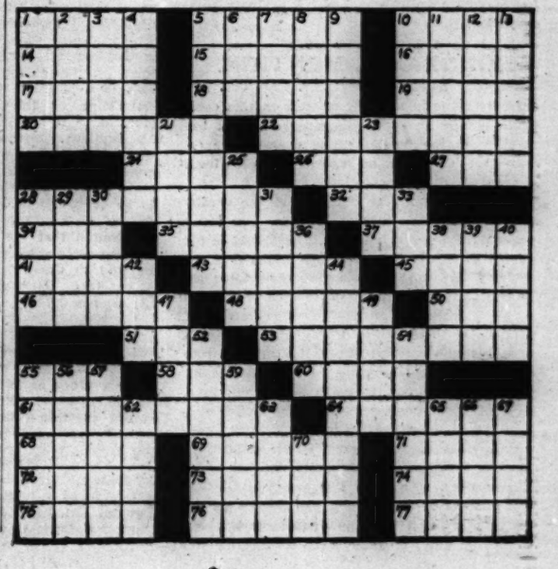
Puzzle of Monday, October 30, Solved





Chicago Daily Tribune
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

BRIBERY.

This is what Rep. Estes Kefauver, executive director of the One Thousand club, promises any one who will kick in $1,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund:

"The suggestion came from the President himself. He said he would like to have one thousand business people who would show their interest in his reelection by giving $1,000 and that he would like to counsel and advise with them thru the rest of his term if he were re-elected.

"The policy has been adopted by members of the club who happen to be in Washington on Thursday afternoon to have a visit with the President at the White House. We have had five of these occasions and they have been very pleasant.

"Then, of course, there are many matters coming up in which membership in the One Thousand club would not do any harm.

"Each member receives a copper plated identification plate and certificate, which is all the pass they need here in Washington to go anywhere."

This is not a mere solicitation of a political campaign fund. It is a solicitation of a bribe by a member of the congress of the United States who represents that he is Mr. Roosevelt's authorized agent in the solicitation. It is not just Thursday tea for fat cats at the White House that is offered. The official influence of the President of the United States is put up for sale.

The criminal code of the United States provides that "whoever, being an officer of the United States . . . shall ask, accept, or receive any money . . . with intent to have his decision or action on any question, matter, cause, or proceeding which may at any time be pending, or which may by law be brought before him in his official capacity, or in his place of trust or profit, influenced thereby, shall be fined not more than three times the amount of money or value of the thing so asked, accepted, or received, and imprisoned not more than three years; and shall, moreover, forfeit his office or place and thereafter be forever disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust, or profit under the government of the United States."

By their own words and acts, and the language of the statutes, Mr. Roosevelt and his authorized agent are damned in the eyes of every voter who demands simple financial honesty in public officials.

A SLIPPERY APPEAL TO NEGRO VOTERS.

Vice President Pro Tem. Wallace, addressing an audience of Chicago Negro citizens, attempted some additions to the fourth term platform. He made promises which the Democratic national convention deliberately chose to leave out of the platform when confronted with the hostility of the rabid poll tax delegations from the southern states.

In order to appease the south the convention also sacrificed Wallace as a candidate to succeed himself. The nomination went to Harry Truman, who recently indorsed a former Ku Kluxer running for congressman as a Democrat.

In his speech to the Negroes Wallace was found calling for the abolition of the poll tax, for equal educational opportunities, and for equal wages for equal work regardless of race. None of these things was in the Democratic platform adopted at the national convention, tho all of them had been urged on the delegates. Mr. Wallace's boss and the party are in no way committed to these reforms. All the platform did was to voice a few vague recommendations that congress exert its powers to see that the constitutional rights of racial and religious minorities be respected.

The Republican platform, on the other hand, did not indulge in any ambiguities in its pledges to Negroes. Its plank came out flatly for abolishing the poll tax, by a constitutional amendment if necessary. It further pledged an immediate investigation to ascertain in what degree discrimination against Negroes in military service is impairing morale and delaying the winning of the war.

Mr. Wallace twisted the truth even more flagrantly when he tried to blame Gov. Dewey because some newspapers in the Democratic solid south did not carry the Republican nominee's Seattle pledge, "We shall establish the fair employment practice committee as a permanent function authorized by law." What did he expect Gov. Dewey to do—fly down south, set the type on that pledge, and shove it into the forms of every Democratic paper there?

Mr. Wallace knew very well that Gov. Dewey had said, not once, but twice, that he would write the FEPC into permanent law.

Mr. Wallace in his disingenuous campaigning here is pretending to champion on behalf of his party the very things for which his party convention repudiated him. He made a speech at the convention in which he expressed his notions of what the party ought to promise the Negroes. It cost him his place on the ticket. Now, as a man who will have no official standing within the party after next January, he is trying to create the impression among Negroes that his personal promises are going to carry weight, even tho the party disowns them. The Negro voters will know how to evaluate this chicanery.

HONORABLE MENTION.

The only newspaper that Mr. Roosevelt has cited by name in a public address in this campaign is THE TRIBUNE. He singled us out for mention in the Soldiers' field speech here on Saturday. Obviously he regards us as his leading journalistic opponent.

His attack cannot be classified as the revelation of an attitude hitherto hidden. For many years Mr. Roosevelt has been unrelenting in his efforts to injure us. After he found that we couldn't be won with flattery and after ne learned that we were not interested in any job at his disposal he turned to other means of persuasion. The list is a long one, beginning with his unsuccessful efforts to bind us into an NRA newspaper code. Later he sought, among other things, to indict two of our men, both of them possessed of distinguished military records in the last war, for revealing military secrets to the enemy. The grand jury blocked him there. The establishment, under his auspices, of a rival newspaper in Chicago was another of his schemes, but despite the tax dodging position that newspaper enjoys, Mr. Roosevelt did not succeed in weakening this one. Accordingly, his department of justice was again called in, this time to bring an anti-trust action against the Associated Press and the editor of THE TRIBUNE. Latterly the administration has discriminated in favor of the rival newspaper in the allocation of paper under war time regulations.

All of these efforts, and numerous others that could be mentioned, left no doubt of his animosity. All that was new in Mr. Roosevelt's attack was the open avowal of his hatred. In that we take pride. Mr. Roosevelt has now advertised us up, down, and across the country, on the radio and in all the newspapers, as the outstanding exponent in this land of an American foreign policy founded upon American rights and interests.

There are many newspapers opposing the fourth term, but there is only one whose opposition Mr. Roosevelt so fears that he could not refrain from advertising it. Perhaps that will teach the half-hearted among editors that boldness and candor in opposition to the New Deal are rewarded and that the namby-pambies get nowhere.

FALSIFICATION.

Mr. Roosevelt has been free in charging falsification to the opposition, but has himself indulged in a great deal of slippery rhetoric in the belief that in the turmoil of the times it would be overlooked. In his Bremerton speech, for instance, when he donned the cocked hat of a naval strategist, he complained, "We were not allowed to fortify Guam nor did we fortify Wake or Midway or Samoa."

By "we" Mr. Roosevelt presumably means himself and the other far sighted strategists whose omniscience somehow failed to avert the debacle at Pearl Harbor. By "not allowed" he plants the suggestion that an obstructionist opposition thwarted his aim of fortifying Guam.

The answer to all this is in senate document No. 202, "The Decline and Renaissance of the Navy," prepared by Sen. David I. Walsh, chairman of the naval affairs committee, who is a member of Mr. Roosevelt's own party.

Sen. Walsh relates how congress in 1938 authorized a navy board to investigate and report on the need for further bases to strengthen the national defense. The board, headed by Adm. Hepburn, reported Dec. 27, 1938. The report discussed in general terms Guam's potentialities as a base. On Jan. 19, 1939, the acting secretary of the navy forwarded a draft bill proposing the expenditure of 65 million dollars to improve a number of defense facilities. The suggested expenditure on Guam amounted to 5 million dollars. Of this $2,200,000 was to build a breakwater, $1,900,000 was to dredge the harbor, remove coral heads, and provide a channel for ships and for seaplane operations, and $900,000 was to build seaplane ramps, a parking space, a small power plant, and necessary accessories.

During hearings on the bill Rep. Vinson, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, a member of Mr. Roosevelt's party, said, "I can assure you that there is no intention on the part of the navy to fortify Guam." Adm. Leahy, now Mr. Roosevelt's personal chief of staff, testified that to make Guam safe against any possible kind of attack an expenditure of 200 million dollars would be necessary—40 times what Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of the navy recommended.

"The only improvements contemplated are 5 million dollars for harbor improvements," Adm. Leahy reiterated. "It is entirely possible, senator, that in the future it may become necessary, from the point of view of national defense, to fortify the island of Guam. I am unable to say when that will happen, or whether it will ever happen. At the present time there is no proposal to do more than improve the harbor."

Rear Adm. Arthur B. Cook spoke to the same effect: "Actually the proposal means exactly what it says. It is simply harbor improvement, consisting largely of dredging and a breakwater to make the harbor at Guam suitable for the safe operation of seaplanes and for the basing of these seaplanes there in a temporary status, when assisted by seaplane tenders. The fact that Guam could be fortified, or might in the future, if the congress so decides, actually be fortified, has nothing to do with the harbor improvement that is now proposed."

To clinch the point that improvement and not fortification was contemplated, Adm. Leahy added, "It is of great value, or will be of great value to our air commerce."

"From the above quotation," observes Sen. Walsh, "it will be seen that the question of fortifying Guam was never presented and was not voted on by the congress."

Congress rejected the Guam appropriation on the ground that the Roosevelt administration was recommending not enough to be of value in defending the island but quite enough to present Japan with an easy prize in the event of war.

From the facts it will be apparent that Mr. Roosevelt is at home when he speaks of falsification. He is an expert at it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

"TRICKS OR TREATS."

Two days ago walking delegates of an underground organization called on the editor of this column and delivered an ultimatum: "Tricks or treats." They came in pairs, by day and by night, and stood at the back door without a word except their sinister formula. The daylight visitors, aged 5 or 6, were slicked up in their Sunday togs, but the afterdark team wore lodge regalia of false faces and zoot suit hats and looked like a wizard's familiars. In both cases we adopted a policy of appeasement and contributed bits of silver to the Halloween campaign fund. The shakedown boys accepted this tribute as their right and withdrew to the maquis without a thank-you.

* * *

"Tricks or treats" is a relatively new wrinkle in Halloween procedure. The custom is hardly more than 10 years old, we think, and it was probably invented by some urchin who had gazed too long at the gangster movies and dedicated himself to a career of blackmail and ransom. It's a symptom of a soft age, for in the good old days when the Linemaster was a Halloween kid, treaties of appeasement were not in the ritual. We sallied forth in large bands and tore down the picket fence or rolled the freight car off the switch tracks, and that was that.

* * *

The origin of Halloween pranks, mystifications, and bonfires is explained by Frazer, the English folklorist, in his classic work, "The Golden Bough." See pages 632-35 in the one volume edition. It is ancient and Celtic—a festival of Druidic peoples to mark the beginning of the winter season and placate the ghosts who would soon be cold and hungry in their hauntings of field, forest and fen.

* * *

In regions inhabited by direct descendants of the Druidic Celts—villages in Scotland, Wales, and Brittany—curious Halloween customs have survived into modern times. Scotland provides a close parallel to the "tricks and treats" visits; boys go from house to house, saying "Gie us a peat to burn the witches," and with fuel thus collected they make their Halloween bonfire.

RETURN FROM MEMORY.

All Hallows' Eve! Set by a Power apart
When those called dead return from memory
Into our lives. O listen well, my heart!
Senses, be keen. Keep not my son from me.

I know that bell and book laid him to rest
Safe by his grandsire, and their solemn sound
Bade light eternal shine upon him, blest
With those who lie beside in holy ground.

But boys are wayward. Little do they heed
The bonds in which their elders sleep so well,
And discipline of heavy word and creed
Can never hold a youngster in its spell.

It seems on Hallow Eve that I can call
To him, beyond the span of earthly power,
And, skipping shadowless beneath the moon,
He comes to me. O year's most happy hour!

And with him plays the pup we planned to get,
A boy and dog should never be apart.
What fun they have in heaven! And yet
Each year they lift the latchstring of my heart.
And in they romp. God knows they need no key!
He knows, my son, that door swings wide to thee!

Friend of Yanks' Kin

By Sally Joy Brown

[This department answers questions related to help available to relatives of service men in the column or by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent to Sally Joy Brown.]

Pvt. D. E. writes: "You state in your column that a service man's wife is eligible to receive a family allowance even if she is in service. It hardly seems fair that the wife should receive an extra $50 a month while the husband's salary is reduced to $28, and she receives the same benefits as he does. Is it possible for a service man to draw a family allowance from a service wife's salary?"

It is true that a service man's wife may draw a family allowance even tho she herself is in service and is receiving the same pay or even more than her husband. The law states that the legal wife of an enlisted man is entitled to an allowance regardless of her financial position. It is not possible for the husband of a woman in service to draw a family allowance unless he is dependent and can prove it. Men in service could not be considered as such. A wife may, of course, reject her right to an allowance, if she wishes, by writing to the man's commanding officer or the office of dependency benefits.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

FEAR OF DISEASE SAPS VITALITY.

FEAR of disease is very real and it can only be eliminated thru education. We are never afraid of the things that we understand. At any rate, if we are possessed of a certain amount of information concerning our bodies, we will know where to turn to seek the answers to many questions. Most of the heartening letters received by this department come from those who have been bothered about a given illness but have taken intelligent means to find out about it. As a rule, they have learned that their fears were groundless.

The solution of the problem lies in more wisdom than knowledge. This must consist not only of enlightenment but of the ability to put two and two together. Only in this fashion will we arrive at that desirable goal—judgment. We come to realize that in our desire not to expose children to infections we sometimes overprotect them, with marked lessening of their physical and psychological powers.

The occasion for this discussion was a group of communications from people who felt that they might have syphilis. Many of them were perfectly miserable. In each instance, a blood test was advised. All responded to the suggestion and all were negative. One correspondent, however, a man of 31, discovered warts on his hands and, in a special delivery, stated that he was sure that they were syphilitic. He had read somewhere that similar lesions were the result of this pernicious malady. He had been afraid to consult the family doctor. Subsequent to a reassuring word, he did so, with complete abatement of his nervous tension.

Dread of cancer can do much harm because the condition is dangerous and relentless. Physicians everywhere are doing their best to drive home the truth that in the beginning stages the disorder is curable. Instead of hiding it, let's talk about it and obtain the best possible counsel. More often than not, early manifestations can be eradicated with long years of perfect health in prospect.

A few years ago I learned of an estimable lady who had heard somewhere that a vegetable diet would prevent cancer. Apparently the régime which she adopted was inadequate. It failed to contain a sufficient quota of protein. A few months later she noticed that her ankles and legs were swollen. In fact, the parts attained sizable proportions toward the end of the day. She consulted her doctor for she was fearful that she had started her program too late and that the puffing indicated that she was harboring the disease.

A study of her eating habits revealed that the edema was solely the result of too little nitrogen-containing foods. There was no sign of cancer; no tumor anywhere. It was easy to relieve her mind when the addition of a fair intake of meat each day brought about complete disappearance of the symptom. She had lost considerable sleep because of worry but reported later that she now slumbers without interruption.

We can be alert to physical ills but we must not dwell or reflect upon them unless there is good reason to do so. It is then our plain duty to consult the best medical adviser that we can find. If the patient is neurotic and is filled with imaginary fears the best way to calm apprehension is to undergo such a thoro examination that there can be no doubt about the situation. The least the physician can do is to exhibit kindness.

A Stands for Artifice.

Edition No. 2 of My Weekly Reader* lies on this desk today. It is intended for children in the second grade, so move over, little ones, fold your hands on the tops of your desks, put your beanshooters away, and teacher will tell you what it is all about.

See those words at the top of the first page? They say: "Men in the News." That means that when you go home you will hear your mother and father arguing about them. See the two pictures at the top? That nice man that looks like your grandfather is Mr. Roosevelt. That man with the slick hair and mustache that looks like the barber is Mr. Dewey. Now, Johnny, teacher wants you to read what My Weekly Reader says underneath the picture of Mr. Roosevelt.

"Mr. Roosevelt is the President of the United States.

"Mr. Roosevelt works for our country.

"Mr. Roosevelt works for the people.

"The President lives in a big house.

"The house is in Washington, D. C.

"The house is called the White House."

Fine, Johnny. And right beneath those sentences is a picture of the White House. Isn't it pretty? Isn't it big? Don't you wish your grandfather lived in the White House?

Now, Mary, teacher wants you to read what My Weekly Reader says underneath the picture of Mr. Dewey.

"Mr. Dewey wants to live in the White House.

"Mr. Dewey wants to be President."

Now what does it say under the picture underneath those sentences? See? It is a picture of a desk covered with little animals. Isn't it a pretty room? It says: "The President works in this room."

Now, class, the next page tells about the families of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey. See? Mr. Dewey has two boys. The boys have a garden. Mr. Dewey helps the boys in the garden. Mr. Roosevelt has four boys. He has one girl. He has many grandchildren. Now, Jane, you read what it says about Mr. Roosevelt's grandchildren.

"The children play with Mr. Roosevelt. The children like to play with their grandfather's little boats."

Now, class, the next page tells about Canute and Fala. Ben, you read that.

"Canute is a great Dane. He is Mrs. Dewey's pet. Canute is big and strong.

"Fala is a Scottie. Fala is Mr. Roosevelt's pet. Fala lives in the White House. Fala goes with Mr. Roosevelt on the big boats. Fala goes with Mr. Roosevelt on the big airplanes. Fala rides in jeeps. The soldiers play with Fala."

See the pictures of Fala and Canute, class? See Canute give his paw to Mrs. Dewey? See Fala reading his mail? See Fala riding with Mr. Roosevelt? See Fala on a jeep?

Now, class, let's see how much you remember. Carl, who plays with the little boats?

"Mr. Roosevelt plays with the little boats."

Ummm. Now, Fanny, who likes to ride in jeeps?

"Mrs. Roosevelt likes to ride in jeeps."

Tctt, tctt. Now, Frank, what does Fala do?

"Fala works for the people."

Oh! Oh! Catherine, tell the class what Mr. Dewey wants.

"Mr. Dewey wants to live in the White House."

Catherine, you are a smart girl. What else does Mr. Dewey want?

"Mr. Dewey wants . . . Mr. Dewey wants. . . ." Now, Catherine, don't cry. Just tell the class what else Mr. Dewey wants. "Mr. Dewey wants Mr. Roosevelt to take Canute for a ride on the big boats."

Class, teacher is proud of you. Now, don't forget to get up early a week from today and vote. Vote early and often.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THERE'S ALWAYS TRUMAN.

Fort Bragg, N. C., Oct. 24.—Condemnation should surely be leveled at the advisers of President Roosevelt who allowed him to ride thru a drenching rain a week ago in his political ramble thru the streets of New York City. They either overestimate the physical combatant powers of an ageing man, or they forget that their destiny thru the next several years lies in this man. Mr. Roosevelt has been called [by his party] the indispensable man. This is a gross understatement. Mr. Roosevelt is the only man they have to offer. By sagacious political planning he has dumped overboard or shipped overseas any man who, potentially, might have risen to be of service to his party and his country. He chooses, instead, to surround himself with a group of incompetents.

No one can suggest that the present days are more trying than those we must meet in the post-war world. The reconversion from war industry to peace, the placement of men returning from the service, the legislative measures necessary for stability, and a myriad of other problems will surely be as much a quality of emergency as those problems that face us now. The Democratic party can have only one man to offer in that election as in this one, and so once again in 1948 Mr. Roosevelt's heart will cry out for him to stay in his Hyde Park mansion but once again the wishes of his flock will force him into the campaign.

We can concede that if, by wonder of wonders, Mr. Roosevelt were to cop the election of 1948 he would surely, by emergency, be called on in the election of 1952. As we recall the record of the strikes, the unemployment, the internal disruption that a war alone has stifled for the time, we can imagine that 1952 will present much more of an emergency than any we may have suffered in the past. Mr. Roosevelt should conserve his health. Let's have no more political rambling for our indispensable man.

DISPENSATION FROM ON HIGH.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 25.—I see by our local paper that the OPA has announced that if an employer gives an employe time off to vote without docking the employe's pay, that it will not penalize the employe by declaring the pay for the lost time a raise in wages or salary, or emolument or perquisite of office. How magnanimous!

WAR PROGRESS.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—It is interesting to note that after years of war, billions of debt, and the loss of millions of lives, the allies are now in about the position when the war started in 1939. Russia could have joined the fight against Hitler then, but she knew that if she did so then she would not be rewarded with Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and part of Poland.

In addition, we are not yet in as good a position in the Pacific as we were before the war.

Is the commander in chief, who brought this about, indispensable?

M. O. ADAMS.

WHO GETS THEM?

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 27.—Recently my brother serving in France, wrote me he'd received the puny total of five packs of cigarets in 13 weeks. Also a good friend who has 29 months service on New Guinea scoffed at the idea that G. I. Joe is getting lots of cigarets.

All our leading brands scream out how many millions of cigarets each sends to the armed forces. Rarely a night passes that we don't hear from at least one brand bragging of the millions of cigarets they're sending overseas.

It's time for the powers that be to determine whether all these claims are true.

NO REPUBLICAN "X" TO MARK.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—May I quote from a recent letter from my husband who is stationed in the South Pacific:

"Smitty [a friend of his] got his ballot today. It's a rotten mess. South Carolina is, of course, a Democratic state, and the ballot they sent him makes no provision for a Republican vote at all. By the time he writes for another one, it will probably be too late to have his vote count."

One advantage is limitation of personal liability; another would be that the corporation would not be terminated by the death of one of the parties. 'PLEASE REMOVE SECRECY CLOAK,' AIR GUESTS TOLD

'Wide Open' Sign Hung on Parley Door by U. S.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

The United States government has taken the position that all meetings and discussions at the international civil aviation conference which convenes in the Stevens hotel here tomorrow morning should be "wide open," it was learned last night from reliable sources.

This would mean that the sessions would be open to accredited newspaper men and radio representatives and that the cloak of "secret diplomacy" which surrounded previous international conferences at Bretton Woods and Dumbarton Oaks would be lifted. It was pointed out, however, that the American delegation will have to sell this idea to a majority of foreign delegations before the conference can be opened up. "We may be outvoted," one spokesman remarked.

50 of Nations to Come.

State department officials announced that 50 of the 55 foreign nations invited to the conference will be represented here. They will try to formulate some satisfactory system for assigning post-war international air routes and to lay the ground work for a permanent covenant regulating international air travel.

The most notable absentee when the sessions open will be Russia. The soviet radio announced Sunday that its delegation has been withdrawn because "countries like Switzerland, Portugal, and Spain, which for many years have conducted a pro-Fascist policy hostile to the soviet union, have also been invited."

While state department officials in Washington said that Russia's withdrawal will not affect plans for the conference except where they directly concerned the soviet, the suddenness of the Russian decision caused some speculation there.

Recalled at Winnipeg.

This created the impression that Premier Stalin personally had issued the order. The Russian delegation to the air conference got as far as Winnipeg, en route to Chicago, when it was recalled. The party left Winnipeg yesterday in a Russian aircraft flown by a Russian crew, presumably heading back for Edmonton, where it first landed five days before. There were six officials, including several high ranking soviet air force officers, in the delegation which started back from Winnipeg.

Washington spokesmen said that if Russia had made known its attitude earlier, some modification of plans might have been worked out to satisfy the Kremlin.

President Roosevelt, meanwhile, announced in Washington that Adolf A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state and chairman of the American delegation, would serve as temporary president of the conference here. The delegates will elect their own permanent president, who may be Berle because he heads the host delegation. The president also named a conference secretarial staff headed by Warren Kelchner, chief of the state department's international conferences division, as secretary general.

Canadian Group Named.

The Canadian trade commission here also announced the personnel of the Canadian delegation to the air conference yesterday. They are: C. D. Howe, minister of reconstruction, chairman; H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, and R. A. C. Henry, chairman of the Canadian air transport board.

The Canadian advisers will be J. A. Wilson, director of air services, department of transport; Air Vice Marshal W. A. Curtis, department of national defense for air; R. M. Macdonnell, department of external affairs; Escott Reid, Canadian embassy, Washington, D. C., and J. R. Baldwin of the privy council office.

The state department said the following countries are sending delegations to the conference:

Afghanistan, Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, the Dominican Republic, Equador, Egypt, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Haiti, Honduras, Iceland, India, Iran, Iraq, Ireland, Lebanon, Liberia, Luxemburg, Mexico, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, the Philippine commonwealth, Poland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Syria, Turkey, the Union of South Africa, the United Kingdom, Uruguay, Venezuela, and Yugoslavia.

The Danish minister and the Thai minister also will attend in their official capacities.

He has been a county employe for 22 years.

LIBERIAN PACT GIVES U. S. NEW AERIAL RIGHTS

Agreement Calls for Building of Seaport.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—Liberia, West African Negro republic, has granted the United States permission to establish and operate naval, military, and air installations there which may be of importance to this country in the "aerial age" expected after the peace.

The agreement, negotiated Dec. 31, 1943, was disclosed today by the state department and the foreign economic administration.

United States to Build Seaport.

Under it, this country "undertakes to respect the political independence of Liberia," and is itself permitted to build installations "for the protection of its strategic interests" in the South Atlantic.

One of the first concrete results of the agreement will be the construction of a seaport in Liberia. Funds advanced by this country are to be repaid from commercial port income.

An American mission including several Negro professional men shortly will visit the African republic to assist in increasing production of strategic materials needed by the allied nations.

An Undeveloped Area.

Liberia, one of the least developed areas of Africa, is strategically located on the west coast at the so-called "narrows" of the South Atlantic.

Ties between the republic and the United States have been close since it was founded in 1847. In 1942, at the request of the Liberian government, American Negro troops were landed there. A few months later the Liberian government gave this country the right to establish war time air bases.

Because of Liberia's strategic location, the FEA and state department statement said, the ties and associations likely would become closer in what it called "the forthcoming aerial age."

HUSBAND SEIZED IN MAIL FRAUDS JAILED IN EAST

Paul Michler, 50, of 3114 Clifton av. has been arrested in Guttenberg, N. J., on charges of subornation of perjury and obstruction of justice, Postal Inspector M. L. Goldsmith said yesterday. Michler's wife, Lillie, is under indictment here for allegedly swindling 10 men of approximately $50,000 in mail order love affairs springing from advertisments placed in foreign language newspapers. Goldsmith said Michler was seized by Guttenberg police when he approached Sol Hirsch, one of the victims allegedly fleeced of $5,000, and attempted to induce him to sign an affidavit absolving Mrs. Michler of any wrongdoing. Michler, also accused of using the mails to defraud, is scheduled to appear Nov. 8 before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Drop Charge of Having Gas Coupons Illegally

Charges of unlawfully possessing rationing coupons good for 3,600 gallons of gasoline against Nicholas Francisco, 41, of 2450 Superior st. were dismissed yesterday by United States Commissioner Walker when Francisco testified he had picked up the package containing the coupons at the post office for a friend and did not know its contents.

LEGION BLASTS KELLY, LUCAS IN NAVAL SCANDAL

Actions in McGinnis Case Denounced.

American Legion members comprising the Illinois Republican Service Men's league yesterday denounced Mayor Kelly's part in the removal of Lt. Comdr. Edward McGinnis as navy voting officer in the Pacific theater of war after he had been requested for the post by Adm. Nimitz.

They also criticized the part taken by Sen. Lucas, Democratic nominee, to succeed himself, who, according to Washington dispatches, acted as Kelly's "office boy" in requesting Asst. Secretary of the Navy Bard to remove McGinnis.

Kelly and Lucas Condemned.

Resolutions adopted by the league, headed by Atty. Philip R. Davis and signed also by William E. Helander and Charles A. Marshall, stated that the league "unanimously condemns the action of Mayor Kelly and Scott W. Lucas for their unwarranted interference with the navy department."

"We feel," the resolution continued, "that such action on the part of two politicians who failed to serve their country when the opportunity presented itself is reprehensible to an unpardonable degree.

"Scott Lucas, it will be remembered, obtained numerous draft deferments in the last war and finally was inducted just before the armistice, while Kelly was never in service, tho he was eligible in the Spanish-American war and in World War I.

Recalls Kelly Swastika Pose.

"This is the same Kelly who so proudly posed under the swastika before the outbreak of World War II."

Mayor Kelly last Friday admitted that he said McGinnis, whom he called a "red hot Republican," should be removed as voting officer, but insisted he said it in a casual conversation at a Washington buffet supper and had nothing further to do with the removal.

Among numerous letters received by THE TRIBUNE since disclosure of the incident was one yesterday from Mrs. June T. [Mrs. J. W.] Hunt of Oswego, Kindall county, mother of a son in the navy. She said McGinnis "no doubt was named vote officer by Adm. Nimitz because of McGinnis' integrity and ability to perform such duties" and that "this in my opinion brings to light a scandal which should be fully investigated by proper authority before Nov. 7."

U. S. COUNTERS JOHNSON MOVE FOR NEW TRIAL

An answer to a petition filed by William R. Johnson, former Chicago gambling czar now under sentence of five years for evasion of income tax, seeking a new trial, was filed yesterday with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. Samuel O. Clark and U. S. Atty. Woll

Johnson's motion, based upon his contention that perjury on the part of Atty. William Goldstein contributed to his conviction in the Federal court of Judge John P. Barnes, was attacked in the answer filed yesterday. It stated there was nothing in Johnson's motion to indicate new evidence of a material nature had been discovered, and urged that the motion be denied.

Judge Barnes' finding was reversed by the Circuit Court of Appeals, which in turn was reversed by the United States Supreme court, which, however, granted Johnson leave to appeal to the Circuit court pending his hearing by the Supreme court on a writ of certiorari.

DRILL TAKEN FROM GARAGE.

DEWEY BACKED BY 250 LEADERS OF LABOR UNIONS

New Deal Accused of Failing Workers.

New York, Oct. 30 [Special].—A statement signed by 250 officials of labor unions in New York state indorsing Gov. Dewey for President and charging President Roosevelt with prolonging the depression was made public today by the Republican state committee.

Among the signers were 27 officials of locals of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters whose president, Daniel Tobin, is director of the labor division of the Democratic national committee.

Many Trades Represented.

Besides the teamster officers, the signers include Vincent J. Ferris, representing the printing trades in New York City; R. I. Deperno, president of the Utica Trades assembly; Richard J. Carmichael, president, and John J. Ryan, financial secretary of the Schenectady Federation of Labor.

Many of the signers are identified with building and construction trades.

Labor Draft Plan Assailed.

The statement which the labor officials signed said that the New Deal had failed labor. It assailed particularly the national service or labor draft act, which the administration has backed but has not been able to push thru congress, and "the arbitrary and unfair maintenance of the little steel formula" on wages.

On the other hand, the statement said, Gov. Dewey's record on labor has been good.

CAN'T INTERFERE, FCC RULES ON G.O.P. SPEECHES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—The federal communications commission, emphasizing today that it has no power of censorship over political broadcasts, denied a petition by William B. Rubin of Milwaukee to order CBS, Mutual, NBC, the Blue Network, and affiliated stations to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked because of certain statements about President Roosevelt in speeches on the radio by Governors Dewey and Bricker and Rep. Luce [R., Conn.].

The petition said the three speakers had "wilfully, maliciously and repeatedly made unjustified charges against the President of the United States, broadcasting defamatory and untrue matter."

The 1934 communications act prohibits censorship of political broadcasts by either the FCC or a radio station.

SUSPECT CAUGHT IN FISH STORE.

Carmen Fiorentino, 21, of 1147 Erie st., was being held by Chicago av. police yesterday after his arrest in a fish store at 416 E. Grand av., which had been forcibly entered.

Willing Helper

A helpful postman used his bag of mail to beat out a fire in the engine of a taxicab last night at Wabash av. and Wacker dr., with unfortunate results.

The postman gave the fire three thumps with the bag, and the crowd smelled fresh smoke. It came from scorched leather and envelopes.

With an embarrassed expression on his face, the mailman dropped the bag on the sidewalk and jumped up and down on it until the overheated letters stopped smoldering. Then he slung the bag back over his shoulder and proceeded on his rounds. Firemen who were summoned by the cab driver quenched the blaze.

Special Delivery, C. O. D. Fees Go Up Tomorrow

Special delivery and C. O. D. fees will go up beginning tomorrow, but postal money orders and insurance costs will drop. Special delivery stamps for letters weighing less than two pounds will cost 13 cents instead of a dime, while nonletter material such as newspaper and parcel post items of the same weight class will cost 17 cents instead of 15. Other special delivery charges remain unchanged. There are small reductions in money order and insurance costs.

YOUNG MOTHER IS SLAIN; HOLD GRAVEDIGGER

Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 30 (AP).—Mrs. Mary Selgar, 26, Leland housewife and mother of two children, was beaten to death yesterday, and today John Thompson, 54, Leland gravedigger, was held to the grand jury without bond on a charge of murder.

Sheriff Clayton Harbeck of La Salle county said Thompson had been arrested in August on Mrs. Selgar's complaint that he was molesting her in attempting to make dates, but was released in September. A bloodstained suitcoat and a bloodstained flashlight were reported found in Thompson's quarters in a rooming house.

Mrs. Selgar's husband, a truck driver, found her nude and beaten body in her bedroom when he returned to the house early Sunday after visiting friends.

J. F. McCarthy, Rent Aid, Transferred to Miami

Atty. John F. McCarthy, deposed last month as Chicago area rent control director, and transferred to Washington, has been assigned to the enforcement staff of the Miami, Fla., rent office, the office of price administration said yesterday.

STATE SAVINGS CITED DESPITE TAX REDUCTIONS

Altho the state sales tax has been reduced, altho gasoline tax income also has been reduced, and altho the last previous Democratic administration left an empty state treasury, the state under Gov. Green has accumulated 100 million dollars in the last four years.

This argument was made last night by Arthur C. Lueder, seeking reelection as state auditor on the Republican ticket, in a talk before 300 persons in the Midway Masonic temple, 6115 Cottage Grove av. The 5th Ward Republican organization sponsored the rally.

Another speaker, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, also seeking reelection, said: "This is a Republican year." There is a total absence of New Deal sentiment down state, and the national trend, Barrett predicted, points to the election of Dewey and Bricker Nov. 7. Mrs. Charles McNary, widow of the late senator from Oregon, also spoke.

TWO MEN KILLED BY AUTO WHILE CROSSING STREET

Joseph Bulatovich, 52, of 8835 Buffalo av., and R. R. Roganovich, 51, of 1228 Jefferson st., Gary, Ind., were killed by an automobile last night while they were crossing Mackinaw av. at 91st st. Roganovich died later in South Chicago hospital. The two men were steel mill workers. George Roffee, 30, of 8148 Saginaw av., the driver, was held by police.

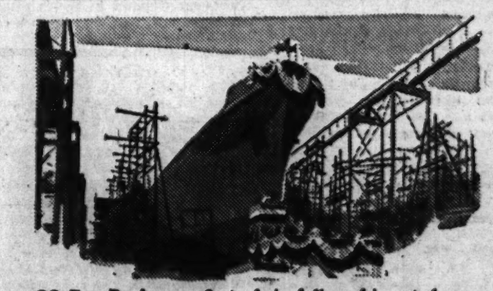
MYSTERY SHIP?

Not exactly—but she's a very different lady from most 10,000-ton steamers!

Concealed in her hull are huge refrigerated holds, constructed especially to bring bananas from tropical Middle America to United States ports in prime condition. She's one of the many modern refrigerated ships of the United Fruit Company's Great White Fleet.

Today she sails to battle fronts around the world. She and her sister ships of the Great White Fleet are speeding food, supplies and guns across all the oceans, wherever the War Shipping Administration directs. The goods of war are being delivered—and on time!



SS Fra Berlanga—first of six fully refrigerated vessels now building for the United Fruit Company—destined—when Victory is won—to carry fruits from the orchards of the Pacific Coast to Great Britain and the Continent, and tropical foods from Middle America to both United States and European ports.

SERVING THE WORLD'S GREATEST AGRICULTURAL TREASURE HOUSE

Long famous chiefly for nutritious tropical foods, Middle America is now coming into its own as an immediate or potential source of many essential products—rubber, quinine, hemp, vegetable fats, tannin for leather, spices, natural dyes—to name just a few.

When the ships of the Great White Fleet return from war to Caribbean waters they will find many "new" products, as well as the old familiar ones, to carry to northern markets, in exchange for an ever-increasing flow of machinery, manufactured articles, medical and other supplies from the United States, which the citizens of Middle American countries are eager to buy.

TABLE GLOOM: FEW TURKEYS—AND ALL POOR

OPA Frees 1,850,000 Tires for November.

Rae E. Walters, regional head of the office of price administration, yesterday predicted very few turkeys for civilians. He said those available will be mostly grade C. The army and navy thus far have procured less than half their estimated requirement of 60,000,000 pounds of turkey, Walters said.

Most of the class C turkeys [those of lowest grade] available to civilians, he said, will be birds rejected by the army because of broken wings, improper fattening, crooked breastbone, overage, underweight, or other defects.

All producers of more than 25 turkeys are under a freeze order which prohibits them from selling to anyone but the army or navy. Some prime birds grown by producers of less than 25 birds may find their way into the civilian market, Walters said, but he added that the OPA fears a black market in such produce because of the great demand. Ceiling price on grade A turkeys, dressed is 51 cents a pound. Ceiling on grade B birds is 49½ cents a pound, and on grade C, 47 cents.

The war food administration yesterday invited wholesalers' bids on 35,851 cases of canned tomatoes from the 1942 pack. They are being released because they are no longer needed by government agencies.

A total of 1,850,000 passenger car tires will be available for B and C card holders in November, the OPA said yesterday. This will be an increase of 250,000 over the October quota. The announcement said the increase should take care of part of the backlog of 850,000 approved but unfilled applications on hand thruout the country.

The OPA tightened its sugar rationing regulations yesterday in an effort to "make it easier" to bring enforcement proceedings against wholesalers and retailers whose sugar inventories are illegal. Under the amendment to the sugar ration order, failure of a sugar wholesaler or retailer to keep his allowable inventory in balance in accordance with the regulation can result in suspension of the dealers' transactions in sugar for periods ranging up to the duration of rationing, or, in a proper case, criminal proceedings.

Price ceilings for the modified "war model" bicycles, which manufacturers will be permitted to make under a recent relaxation of war production board restrictions, are under discussion by the industry advisory committee and the OPA. The new model is heavier than present "war models" manufactured in the last two and one-half years, and is said to approach the 1941 standard bicycle in type.

Shoes made with the new "non-marking" synthetic rubber soles, which are expected to appear on the market soon, must be priced as new items, the OPA said. "New items" are priced under a special regulation, as distinguished from commodities sold during March, 1942, and covered by the general maximum price regulation.

CITY CLAIM ASKS $10,891,000 FROM SURFACE LINES

The city yesterday filed claims for $10,891,000 before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe against the Chicago Surface Lines for use of city streets and for certain operating expenses.

The action represents a claim by the city for 3 per cent of the street car company's gross revenue from July 16, 1938, to Sept. 30, 1944, which the city asserts is due under its current franchise ordinance.

Prior to 1938 the surface lines company operated under a franchise wherein it paid the city 55 per cent of net receipts. The ordinance changing this to 3 per cent of the gross receipts was modified by Judge Igoe in December, 1941, who reduced the payment rate to 1½ per cent, to which the city objected.

Judge Igoe also signed an order approving the petitions for bond holding committees representing first mortgage holders and petitions of the First National bank and Harris Trust and Savings bank, indenture trustees, permitting them to intervene in bankruptcy proceedings.

NLRB BARS 305 YANKS RIGHT TO UNION VOTE

Appeal Close Count Favoring CIO.

Altho 292 of 305 former employes of the Corn Products Refining company at Argo, now in the army or navy, are opposed to the CIO union at the plant, the New Deal national labor relations board refuses to let them have any voice in an NLRB election to determine a bargaining agent.

That word was received from the board at Washington yesterday by Roscoe C. Brown, president of the Employes association, an independent union at the plant, and George B. Christensen, attorney for the independent union, which appealed the results of a plant election held June 27.

Want Rights Protected.

With soldier votes barred, the Oil Workers International union [CIO] received 683 votes to 614 for the employes' association.

"We have received 305 ballots from employes in the armed services," Brown said. "Only 13 of them were for the CIO. The NLRB will not let these soldiers vote by mail. A great majority of the employes holding seniority rights at this plant, whether in the army or here at home, want our organization to protect them. If our boys are good enough to fight and good enough to vote for President, they are good enough to vote in an NLRB election to decide whether the CIO is going to boss the plant.

"The labor board's decision is in favor of the CIO and against American soldiers and sailors. We asked the board to give us an American public hearing and to have an open recount of ballots and a check of voting lists. The board refused this, and decided the case behind closed doors.

"But our association is going to stay on the job and prevent any work stoppages by the CIO."

Would Reverse Results.

Christensen said the results of the election would have been reversed had employes in the army been permitted to vote. During the six years that the independent union has been active in the plant, there never has been a strike there.

In its appeal, the independent union alleged that the NLRB election was illegal because it was held off the company premises, that "ringers" [invalid ballots] were voted, and that the independent union requested a list of the voters, which the NLRB held must be secret.

'LAMA OF KUM BUM,' INDICTED FOR FRAUD, GIVES UP TO COURT

Hugh Greer Carruthers, self-styled human engineer and lama of Kum Bum, indicted last week on charges of violating mail fraud provisions and security and exchange regulations, surrendered yesterday to Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Judge Sullivan reduced Carruthers's bond from $10,000 to $8,000 and those of his two co-defendants, Miss Evelyn Kroell, 32, a secretary, and Miss Mary Morel, 42, business manager, from $1,500 to $1,000.

Assistant United States Atty. Francis McGreal said that Carruthers obtained $215,000 by fraudulent means from 500 investors who trusted him with sums for two products he allegedly was manufacturing, and in other activities.

The products, the indictment said, were "Nan-Gene," a hair tonic, and "Happy Hearts," a laxative. The government charges that Carruthers did not manufacture the products but merely produced samples for display.

McGreal told the court that the Neological foundation, of which Carruthers is director, was "the biggest fraud" that ever came to his attention.

SECOND TIMBER FRAUD CHARGE TRIAL OPENED

The government yesterday opened its second trial of five officers or former officers of the Resources Corporation International, 333 N. Michigan av., on charges of violating the securities and exchange and postal laws in connection with operations involving Mexican timberlands, before Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw.

The defendants are Arnold Joerns, 52, president of the corporation; W. L. Kellogg, 68, former president; George E. Howard, 47, secretary; Bruce L. Hoover, a nephew of Arthur S. Hoover, who was killed in an automobile accident and who was said by the government to have been implicated in the alleged scheme, and Leonard I. Cowan, attorney for the company.

Government charges involve manipulations in stock and timberlands approximately $7,350,000. At a previous trial in April, 1942, Judge Michael L. Igoe dismissed the jury after 72 hours of deliberation had failed to produce a verdict. The current hearing, the government indicated, will require six weeks during which the prosecution plans to introduce some 2,000 documents.

New Portraits to Be Tribute to Goodmans

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE president and trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago have issued invitations to a special opening performance of Anton Chekhov's play, "The Sea Gull," at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in the Goodman Memorial theater, at which portraits of the late Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman will be unveiled by their granddaughter, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Goodman gave the theater to the institute in memory of Mrs. Dewey's father, the late Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, who died in the last war while serving as a lieutenant in the navy.

Mrs. Dewey is arriving from Far Hills, N. J., tomorrow, to stay with her mother, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, and Mr. Hopkins, until Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins are giving a small family dinner before the performance Thursday, and Mrs. Hopkins' sister, Mrs. Frank G. Hibbard, and Mr. Hibbard, also will be taking guests to the event following dinner.

The unveiling ceremony will be held during an intermission. Governing members of the institute and close friends of the late Mr. and Mrs. Goodman and their family have been invited. Mrs. Dewey's husband is serving overseas with the office of strategic services.

On the Calendar.

The opening performance of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" Dec. 4 at the Civic Opera house will be a benefit for the endowment fund of the National College of Education, it has been announced. The general committee in charge of the benefit is headed by Mrs. James B. Holston of Evanston, with Miss Martha Springer as co-chairman. Among the members of the board of trustees of the college who already have reserved boxes for the opening are Conrad H. Poppenhusen, president of the board; Mrs. Philip D. Armour, William Sutherland, Otto R. Barnett, Ralph E. Church, Mrs. Burt J. Denman, Dr. Earl Graham, and Mrs. Norman Dwight Harris. Tickets may be obtained by mail only from the ticket committee at the college in Evanston.

The Hull House shop will hold a pre-Christmas sale Thursday in the Winnetka home of Mrs. Philip Wyatt Moore, with a plentiful supply of attractive gifts for the baby and new mother and a line of streamlined accessories for the table. The directors of the shop, who feel it has been a real achievement to obtain enough stock to hold a sale, are particularly pleased with the small quantity of antique china they have to sell, as well as with their supply of aprons and blanket covers, which always are popular.

Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, Mrs. J. Andrews King, and Mrs. William McCormick Blair have devoted many years to the success of the shop. Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, Mrs. John Stuart, Mrs. Gerald Butler, Mrs. John Butler, and Mrs. Morris K. Wilson are some of those who will assist Mrs. Moore Thursday. The sale will open at 10 a. m.

The Vocational Society for Shut-Ins will not hold its usual Christmas sale this year, but there is a quantity of attractive Christmas merchandise in its smart little shop in N. Michigan av. Stunning black sateen aprons are selling well, and so are a variety of toys, bibs, and other gifts for babies and children.

Halloween costumes and trappings will provide extra interest for youngsters in school today. A group of girls in the eighth grade of the Girls' Latin school will celebrate Halloween tonight with a progressive dinner party. The girls in whose homes a portion of the dinner will be served are Inez Atkinson, Susan Cipriani, Judy Hargrave, Judy Lane, Joan Pruitt, Jolly Rimini, and Joyce Willis. The party will start at the Homer Hargrave home.

If Child's Afraid, Find Out Why

Reluctance of this 9 year old girl to leave home, even to go to school, and the cause are discussed in Mrs. Bevans' article today. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Today again we have a letter which tells a story slightly similar to a recent letter we printed, except that in this case the child is 9 years old instead of 20 months. So we feel that the explanation of what in this case amounts to a phobia, will necessarily be a different one. I want to quote the letter:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"My 9 year old daughter has an unusual trait which worries me. She gets frightened when she has to be away from her immediate family and friends.

"Up until recently she was afraid to go to school, and she would often come running home a few minutes after leaving the house. She does not want to go anywhere with friends or relatives unless accompanied by me, her father, or sister. If the children at the playground are taken for a hike, she will not join. Otherwise, she is a normal child, talkative and sociable. Could you tell me if she will outgrow this fear or if I should do something to overcome it?"

Once again I feel that it is important as well as helpful for me to say that children thru their growing years often develop what are, to us, completely unaccountable fears. Where the child has not even reached the age where he can talk, we have to be patient and often indulgent until he has outgrown some fear we cannot understand—using, of course, certain measures to help him, some of which we suggested recently.

But in the case of an older child we have to proceed a little differently, altho our measures always must be gentle, and never must we resort to force or ridicule. Part of the letter that I wrote to this mother follows:

"In trying to figure out what might cause your little girl's fears, it seems to me it would be a good plan for you to think back and consider whether at any time in the past she has been frightened while you were away from her, or has been left without being told that you were going away, or had any similar fear inspiring experience. She evidently has an uneasy feeling about you; and I believe you will have to keep reassuring her by saying that when she goes away, there are always home, father, and mother to come back to. Of course, she may have heard some frightening stories that are still in the back of her mind. Due to that possibility and because she is really old enough, I think you might try to get her by talking to bring her fear out in the open.

"In addition, whenever fear becomes as marked as this, it is always advisable for parents to attempt to free a child from nervousness by using some of the measures we have recommended in this column from time to time."

Blouse's Tails Anchored to Slip Stay Put

BY REA SEEGER.

One enterprising designer has successfully solved the problem of anchoring the tails of a blouse under a skirt band, no matter how strenuous the day's demands. The top of this garment is finished and detailed like a simple shirtwaist blouse, with convertible collar, simple short sleeves, and a vee neckline. The lower half is a regulation skirt of a well fitted slip, but the blouse and skirt are all cut in one piece.

It is made in four good contrast colors for jacket or suit wear. They are beige, a flattering shade of pink, pale blue, and chalk white. The material is heavy duty rayon crepe amazingly like pre-war silk crepes in texture and quality. Construction and details are just like those of the seams and stitching in separate blouses. The trim at the bottom of the hem of the skirt is just like that on a well made costume slip. You have everything you need in a single unit, plus the joy of knowing your blouse will stay secure underneath the belt of a skirt.

The price is easy on any clothes allowance, so that you can buy two or even three without a twinge of conscience. Career girls are buying them with appreciative enthusiasm. So are women who live in the country and also the crowd of sportswomen who play golf or take part in other sports. It's the best merger of the year.

By Dorothy Johnson

Several Chicago women were graduated as ensigns late last month from the naval reserve midshipmen's school at Smith college,

Ensigns Jean Wright [left], Georgia Pitner, and Maryce Klaff [right].

Northampton, Mass. As one-stripers, they now are on duty at naval stations or taking further training.

Georgia Pitner, 2740 N. Harding av., has been assigned to a naval hospital in Norfolk, Va. A graduate of the University of Illinois, she worked as a bacteriologist at Children's Memorial hospital before enlisting in the WAVES.

Jean Louise Wright, 10107 S. Seeley av., a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, is on temporary duty as assistant to the supply officer at the Charleston, S. C., navy yard. Before enlisting she was a training supervisor at the Harris Trust and Savings bank.

Another Chicago banking woman, Maryce D. Klaff, 7804 Jeffery av., is remaining at Northampton for further training in communications. A graduate of the University of Chicago, she worked for the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago before taking officer training. She also was a member of the Hillel foundation and of the University Players.

Alice Patterson Butler, 5849 Stony Island av., who attended Oberlin college, is on duty in Norfolk. She was treasurer and vice president of the Women's Athletic association and a member of the student honor court at Oberlin.

A former music teacher also is in the group of new ensigns. She is Helen A. Leach, 173 Scottswood rd., Riverside, now on duty in the Cleveland, O., naval barracks. She was an instructor in music at Roosevelt High school, East Chicago, before joining the WAVES. Before taking officer training, she was a specialist 3d class in the naval hospital in New Orleans, La. She attended Morton Junior college, Northwestern university, and the University of Oregon.

Sixty-one state-wide women's organizations, with a total membership of approximately 1,500,000 will send representatives to a luncheon meeting to be given by the war production board at 12:15 p. m. today in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' club. At the session, which will be keynoted by Lt. Gov. Cross, chairman of conservation for the Illinois War council, and Nathaniel Leverone, state director of salvage, the women's clubs will be thanked for their coöperation in WPB programs to salvage war materials and urged to continue their salvage.

Among the organizations on the salvage honor roll are the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, B'nai B'rith, the Illinois Women's Bar association, the Order of the Eastern Star of Illinois, the Illinois Council of Catholic Women, and the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

On the Aisle

By Claudia Cassidy

Todd by Telegraph.

"While waiting for post time on the Jeanette MacDonald concert here," wired Mike Todd from Cincinnati Sunday, "I read your comments on 'Star and Garter'." Mr. Todd goes on to comment on those comments for two expensive sheets of Western Union's best yellow paper, and the general idea is that while he would be glad to have his revue become an institution, he declines type casting for himself. He then adds, to your and my relief, "Whoever told you I was not going to have Willie Howard do 'Rigoletto' gave you a bum steer. Even if the costumes did not come that would be once I would forget trying to be a showman and make like an artist and run the show for my own amusement." That bum steer, Mr. Todd, came from your press agent. Willie Howard told him. Remind me to keep my fingers crossed if, between "Romeo and Juliet" performances with our opera, Jeanette MacDonald tells me any secrets about that Victor Herbert operetta you plan to star her in.

Mike Todd.

"Oklahoma!" Harvest.

In 50 weeks, "Oklahoma!" piled up $1,500,000 at the Erlanger and now has an advance sale of more than $130,000. The highest advance sale of the run was reached in April with $185,000, which tapered off to $85,000 in midsummer, then started to climb again. It still looks like capacity for the 60 week engagement ending Jan. 6. Meanwhile, Dorothea Freed is back in the cast as Ado Annie, after a siege with a sprained ankle. Lois Higgins, usually the giggling Gertie, replaced her.

Visiting Critic.

Virgil Thomson, music critic of the New York Herald Tribune, came out last week to hear the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of Désiré Defauw and wrote a Sunday column about the Tuesday concert. Of the Prokofieff Scythian Suite and the Scriabin "Le Poème de l'Extase" he wrote in part, "Terribly, wonderfully loud, these were always beautiful and always clean." Of Brahms' Second Symphony, "Handsomely phrased and cleanly articulated, but it didn't seem to be about anything." Of the concert as a whole, "Neither is it the first time he [the reviewer] has slept thru somebody's Brahms. But he has never heard the two Russian works rendered with so high a degree of luminosity."

Good Acting.

Adolf Hitler saw "Lifeboat" and "This Land Is Mine" at his Berchtesgaden eyrie and got so mad at Walter Slezak's playing of two Nazi rascals that he fined Leo Slezak 100,000 marks. If this puts the elder Slezak into an "Otello" fury, Germany should collapse quicker from the inside.

This and That.

"Kiss and Tell" played its 700th Chicago performance at the Studebaker last week and adds an extra matinée Thanksgiving day, Nov. 23. . . . Leon Rothier, celebrated operatic basso, will appear in "A Bell for Adano," with Margo and Fredric March. . . . Beatrice Lillie actually arrived in New York Saturday. The earlier announcement came under the head of undue optimism at the Billy Rose office. . . . Giovanni Martinelli will sing at the Great Lakes naval training center tonight.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Vane L. Sherman of Ozanam av., formerly of Park Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucille Norma, to Lt. [j. g.] Donal O. Kenney of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kenney of Los Angeles, Cal. Miss Sherman has been living in Los Angeles for the last year. Her fiancé just has returned from duty in the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan K. Rudoy of Kimbark av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucille Mildred, to Sgt. Leon C. Hauser Jr., son of Mrs. Florence C. Barrete of Woodlawn av. and of Mr. Hauser of Kenwood av. Miss Rudoy attended the University of Wisconsin and the University of Chicago, at which her fiance studied. He is stationed at Camp Barkeley, Tex.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Emily Greenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Greenberg of Decatur, Ill., to Pvt. Harry E. Draft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Draft of S. Hamlin av. Pvt. Draft, who attended St. Louis institute, is stationed at Chanute field, Ill.

Sunbeam League.

Members of the Sunbeam league will be the guests of Mrs. Edward F. Bessey at a luncheon today in the International club in the Drake, when they will discuss plans for their annual spring card party.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 30.—Milton Holmes, who runs a tennis club out in Beverly Hills, has a way with him when it comes to selling a story. And this was his method with "Salty O'Rourke," now in production with Alan Ladd. He told Barbara Stanwyck the story. She said, "Use my name, and take it to Buddy De Sylva." He did. But he hadn't put it on paper. Buddy said, "I'll give you 20 minutes to tell it to me." But Holmes made a bargain with him: "I'll start, and when you get bored, stop me." He talked an hour, which resulted in a sale at $45,000. Then he got paid for writing the screenplay, too. . . . Fans are writing in suggesting that Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard make another picture together. . . . After Harry Von Zell's first scene with Fred Allen, Portland Hoffa said, "You were swell, Harry." Harry said, "Thanks, but where was the applause?" That was his first appearance before a camera. I'm predicting again that he'll be very much in demand. . . . Al Hall's turkey ranch in the valley didn't use to pay off well, but now it's a gold mine, since the government takes all and could use double what he produces.

Some Call It Showmanship.

While Bob Montgomery was listening to S. P. Eagle tell the story of an original which he's crazy to have Bob do, he evidently had his girl planted outside to call in every five minutes and say, "Mr. Zanuck, Mr. Schenck, Mr. Mayer, Mr. Mannix"—in fact, all the important names in town were supposedly calling him up during a half hour visit. . . . Dane Clark again is with John Garfield in "This Love of Ours." On the screen he's been in nearly every branch of our service. . . . Phyllis Thaxter, after one picture at Metro, had her option lifted but good. . . . Phil Spitalny, talking about a certain picture producer, said, "If they ever erect a tablet to his memory, it ought to be in the form of a sleeping pill." . . . Clark Gable is being hounded for photographs and interviews by 17 magazines, all wanting new stories on him.

Bits, Chips, and Pieces.

In the picture "God Is My Co-Pilot," Tokyo Rose is blasted right out of her radio station. . . . Margaret O'Brien is the youngest person ever included in "Who's Who in America—1945 edition." . . . Artie Shaw and Ava Gardner not only like Woody Herman's music, but the food and each other, 'cause they've been three nights running at the Palladium. . . . Lillian Hellman has finally arrived in Fairbanks, Alaska, en route to Moscow, and discovered hotel conditions worse than in Washington, D. C. She could find no room anywhere, but luckily, before she left our town, a friend scribbled down the name of a pal in Fairbanks, Marian Dickey, who's Girl Friday to Alaska's millionaire, Pat Latham, so Playwright Hellman bedded down with her for a night, which turned into a week's stay before she boarded an American plane for Moscow. In between telephone calls, she was studying three Russian textbooks and went on a cooking spree, dishing up royal fare from rationless local grocery and butcher shops.

Fabulous Invalid.

Louis B. Mayer's new X-rays are so good he has been taken out of his cradle several hours a day. In fact, he's been measured for a corset. He's furious when you say to him, "Why, you look so rested!" Any one who suffers doesn't want to look rested. . . . Jack Mulhall's son, shot down on the continent [he's a tail gunner], came safely home only to get pneumonia. He's dangerously ill at Santa Ana. . . . Russell Hicks, who's working with Joan Davis, has started a five star final club—meaning fathers with five children. He's going to be awfully lonely here. . . . Rosemary De Camp has Col. Richard T. Eddy naming a new dahlia for her. . . . Edgar Bergen took his two writers to New York. Neither one of them had ever been east of Las Vegas, so now Edgar spends his time showing them the town, and Charlie's furious!

Predicts Sharp Drop in Job Opportunities of Women After War

Despite her impressive record in war industry, the woman worker in America has not achieved an equal footing with men and indications are there will be a sharp drop in the employment of women at the end of this as after the last war, Miss Sally Butler of Indianapolis, Ind., vice president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, said here last night. She spoke before the Alliance of Business and Professional Women of Chicago and six associated groups of this vicinity at a dinner given for her at the Chicago Bar association.

Among the more promising postwar fields for women, Miss Butler named the insurance business and physical and chemical science. She based her predictions on statistics gathered by a fact finding committee set up by the national federation to make a comprehensive survey of American industry and business.

Miss Butler cited a rubber concern that anticipates a 15 per cent increase in the number of women employees after the war, and she expressed the belief that there is little likelihood of professional women such as doctors, lawyers, and insurance actuaries losing their places to men. Specialized training and technical skill are women's best assurance for jobs, she said.

Critic Puts His Thumbs Up on This New Film

"FACES IN THE FOG."

A Republic picture, directed by John English, starring Jane Withers and Paul Kelly, with Eric Sinclair, Lee Patrick, Gertrude Michael, and John Litel, and presented at the Oriental.

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Let's start a whispering campaign. I'm telling you, and you repeat it—confidentially, so it will be sure to get around—that a good, honest picture has come to town in "Faces in the Fog," and unless we do a little promoting it might get lost in the shuffle.

Juvenile delinquency, to use the pat current phrase, is the subject of "Faces in the Fog," but don't let that discourage you. Mary Elliott [Jane Withers] and Joe Mason [Eric Sinclair] are really no more delinquent than were Juliet Capulet and Romeo Montague. They just live in an age where young love is called an ugly name.

They live next door to each other. Joe is blessed with understanding parents—his father is a kindly doctor—but Mary's parents are stupid, selfish, and neglectful of their two children. Mary's kid brother gets involved in a shooting scrape, and when, unknown to her parents—they are out night clubbing—she calls Dr. Mason to take care of his hurt arm, the doctor agrees not to report the incident to the police. But the police do find out, and Mary's father blames the doctor. A first class family feud develops.

It has its repercussions on Mary and Joe. After a tiff at a high school dance Mary goes off in the car of another boy, a weasly character named Mike [Richard Byron], who had been involved with Mary's brother in the shooting business, and when they strike a pedestrian and seriously injure him it is Joe, who had been in hot pursuit, who is left to take the man to the hospital and face the music. He protects Mary, refuses to talk, is expelled from school, and then, in a stumbling effort to right things, he and Mary are secretly married. On a tip from Mike they are discovered in an auto court cottage by Mary's outraged father [Paul Kelly], who, to relieve his own uneasy conscience, shoots Joe point blank.

Joe lives, but there is a trial, and again the kids, with fumbling nobility, decide not to reveal their marriage, thinking the knowledge would hurt the father's chances of acquittal. In the course of their deliberations the jurors discuss parental responsibility, and you should hear the youngsters in the audience—don't they ever go to school in this town?—cheer when it is hinted that parents may sometimes be in the fog, too.

This picture has a lot—a good idea, compact structure without padding, fine direction, and excellent acting. Thumbs up.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Application.

An application blank was handed to a WCG recently when she applied for a position as stenographer and manager of a small office. "Would this form the nucleus of a union of office employes?" asks Racine, who forwards the questionnaire:

Name, address, telephone, age, marital status, and education.

Ever study science?

Ever do selling? Would you like selling?

Have you ever had charge of a small office or of a superior's affairs?

Are you punctual? Do you insist upon exact quitting hours?

Were you ever bonded? Do you prefer a moderate salary and large bonus or straight salary?

Are you tactful handling difficult people?

Do you know any hard of hearing people?

Do you type? Take shorthand?

Do you mind going on outside errands?

Do you hold racial prejudices?

Would you object to keeping the office clean? [The boss is a mess!]

Do you mind being bawled out once in a while?

Can you be depended upon to open the office at 8:30 every morning?

Inspiration.

Hush, little typist,
Don't you cry;
You'll be a secretary
By and by!

AL SPONG.

Take a Walk.

When you are invited to a hike you are asked to come for a walk or go for a walk.

CHARLES BROAD.

For your collection of opposites: In hiking you walk right when you walk on the left side of the road.

ROY E. LANE.

Here 'Tis.

Want that sentence punctuated? Jane, where Mary had had "had had" had had "had;" "had had" had had the boss' approval.

White Collar Guy.

Office Types.

She pecked sharply at the typewriter like a sparrow after crumbs.

She's like a chain smoker when it comes to questions—lights one on the end of the other.

BRUEN BLARNEY.

Most Important Hours.

The most important hours of the day? What are they?

The two hours at the end of the work day usually from 5 to 7 o'clock. . . . Those are the hours when people taper off from their bread and butter work and decide what to do the rest of the day. . . . The gold of life and security for the future is won or lost in the decisions made during those hours just after work. . . . Henry Ford worked evenings on his own time. . . . George Eastman, Alexander Graham Bell, R. R. Williams, Lee De Forest. . . . Nathaniel Hawthorne and before Hawthorne, Thomas Macaulay, became a leading writer by making the right decisions between 5 and 7 o'clock.

Choral Groups Are Improved in 2d Concert

A choral concert under the auspices of the Choral and Instrumental Music association of Chicago in Orchestra hall last night enlisted the services of nine separate choral groups and brought the entire contingent of some 600 singers together for two numbers en masse.

The choruses are entirely composed of amateur singers and their direction is of varying shades of professionalism. The groups are part of those which participated in the closing concert of the Grant park series last summer with depressing results. The present project, on incomplete hearing, seemed to fare somewhat better. At least the programmed compositions were not all selected from the slough of triviality, and a few of the numbers suggested some distinguishable plan or purpose in their preparation.

The soloist, and the central musical interest of the occasion, was the unpredictable Ennio Bolognini, who, when he is in top form, as he was last night, plays his instrument in a manner to be compared to but two or three living cellists. In these days of much performing but little music, it was nothing short of a feast to hear Mr. Bolognini play "Kol Nidrei" with noble breadth and impassive restraint, to encompass the most delicate classic style in a "Gran Minueto" by Pugnani, and to achieve profundity in an aria by Bach—not to mention his incomparable Spanish way with a "Malaguena" by Albeniz, and a "Serenade" of his own composition. Bravo, Ennio!

At Kimball hall, a Negro soprano, Cletis Browne, was heard in the first group of songs on her recital program. The evidence was inconclusive, for the Miss Browne evidenced delicate musical feeling in Sibella's "O Bacca Dororosa" and Lotti's "Pur Dicesti," her voice is afflicted with not so much a vibrato as a quaver, which must be eliminated before she can hope to sing successfully in public. U. of C. to Give Vets Credit for Army Study

War veterans who enter the University of Chicago will be given academic credit for education they received in military service, in order to permit them to start their study at the level for which they are prepared, the university announced yesterday. Physics, mathematics, physical sciences, chemistry, and biological sciences are taught in many branches of the army and navy, the university noted.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
4 spades	Pass	6 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead, king of spades.

The hand above was contributed by Richard W. Lee of Indianapolis, the middle west's most recent addition to the ranks of American Bridge league masters. The final contract of six clubs is a sound one and the bidding of Mr. Lee in the South position left nothing to be desired. Personally, I would not have adopted the exact sequence of bids chosen by North. I refer specifically to the four club bid. At that point I would have preferred to make a jump shift in hearts, to follow by supporting the clubs on the next round, but that would not have affected the final contract.

The king of spades was opened and taken by the ace and it took three rounds to draw the trumps. On the second and third trump leads East was called upon to make discards and elected to get across to partner the idea that he could stop the heart suit by discarding first the eight and then the four. This procedure was hardly to be recommended. In the first place it was very doubtful that the information could be of use to West. And secondly, if it should turn out to be of use, the discard of the eight without following it up with another heart would have served the purpose. When East let go the four of hearts he gave declarer the specific information that he had started with at least five hearts, because obviously he had retained at least queen-jack and another.

This was all Mr. Lee had to know to guarantee the fulfilment of the slam. He cashed the ace and king of hearts in full confidence that such action would clear the west hand of the suit, then got out with a spade. West had to win the trick and since he had no more hearts was obliged to lead a diamond into declarer's tenace. The fourth diamond thereupon became available for a heart discard.

Had East not been so naive in his discarding it is very doubtful that declarer would have made the hand. He would have had his choice of playing for the diamonds to break or the jack to fall, or finessing the 10 of diamonds, all of which would have failed. East had been guilty of "tipping" his hand. This, however, does not detract from Mr. Lee's admirable technique.

Thru the Looking Glass

One of our friends came to us the other day with a plaintive query about what to do with her nails that are brittle and breakable as glass and surrounded by a stubborn growth of cuticle which drapes down over them and develops ragged, sensitive edges.

We asked if she used any sort of nail cream and got the expected answer, "No, I don't, but I think I'd better, because my husband said the other day that my nails looked terrible." Then we asked her how long it had been since she had had a professional manicure. She replied that it had been more than a year because her nails looked so awful she was ashamed to ask any one to work on them.

We know from experience that hers is not an isolated instance and that there are others who could benefit from the advice we gave her. Our first recommendation was that she swallow her pride and make an appointment for a manicure as soon as she could get one and have her nails done every week until they had been put into shape.

We also told her to trot right out and buy a bottle of nail cream which we know does remarkable things in correcting brittle, peeling nails and taming unmanageable cuticle. It's a thickish, oily liquid that's fairly lapped up by dry nails and so simply applied that only a few minutes each day are required for a treatment. The preparation comes in a small bottle with a brush attached to the stopper. It is to be stroked on in much the same manner as nail polish and can be applied over lacquer. After coating the nails, the cream should be massaged in with the fingers.

A single treatment with the cream will help to relieve much of the discomfort attendant to a bad nail condition, and used nightly before retiring it will do remarkable things in restoring them to a healthy state. LOUISE DOOLEY.

AT THE WIDOW'S

Ida giggled. "Of course, there's your nephew, Miss Fell, but he's Janice's, and I never poach." She got up and beamed on every one. "Well, I really only came with some of those late raspberries. We've got such a lot of them, and I know Miss Mary Anne likes fruit. I left them downstairs with Agnes. Angel, when am I going to see you?

"I will come in on my way home," said Miss Silver.

After spending half an hour at the Haven Miss Silver took her way home. She had admired Bunty, the raspberries, the henhouse erected by Mr. Everton, and the photographs of half a dozen young men in air force uniforms who corresponded affectionately with Mrs. Mottram and took her out when they had leave and she could go to town. Bunty, it appeared, could be parked at the rectory. An ugly young man with a grin seemed to be the most assiduous.

Alone with Miss Silver, Ida dropped her giggle and said quite simply, "I expect I'm going to marry him. I do like him awfully and so does Bunty. I'm not awfully good at being on my own—and he was Robin's best friend."

"I am glad that you are not contemplating marriage with some one so much older than yourself as Mr. Everton. But you should be careful not to raise false hopes."

"O, he's just being kind."

"Could Mr. Everton not have fixed your wireless in the afternoon, my dear? By the way, which evening was it—Monday or Tuesday?"

"O, Tuesday. He got the valve on Monday, but he wasn't home till late, and I was carrying on all right."

"Tuesday evening—dear me! Was he here at the time that Mr. Harsch was shot? Did either of you hear anything?"

"Well, we did—at least Mr. Everton did. He thought it was Giles shooting at a fox."

"What time was it?"

"Well, it must have been a quarter to 10 because that was what Miss Sophy said at the inquest. You know, I was on the jury—it was grim. O, yes, and Mr. Everton had just looked at his watch and he made it a quarter to 10, too. He said he was expecting a trunk call, so he must run."

Miss Silver returned to the rectory in a thoughtful mood. At the gate she encountered Sgt. Abbott and took him into the study.

"Sit down and listen to this," he said. "It beats the band." After which he produced his shorthand notes and gave her a full and particular account of the interview with Frederick Bush.

When he had finished he looked down at her with something that wasn't quite a smile and said, "Well—how does it strike you?"

Miss Silver regarded him with favor. She said, "I should like your opinion first—and, of course, that of the chief inspector."

"The chief—well, I don't know—he doesn't let on much. I don't think he likes it. Personally, I thought Bush was speaking the truth. I don't mean to say that with any conviction because I wasn't convinced. I just inclined very slightly to the idea that he might be speaking the truth—I wouldn't put it higher than that."

"It presents some difficult points," Miss Silver said. "I would be glad of your opinion upon them."

"Well, to my mind the worst things about it are, first, nobody saw him go in. He says he usually does his round at 10 o'clock, but on that Tuesday night he was a little before his usual, and when pressed he said he might be 10 minutes before, but he swears he didn't hear the shot. Harsch was shot at a quarter to 10. Bush must have been no great distance from the main entrance to the church yard—that's the one on the village street—but he persists that he heard nothing. I think he persists too much."

"I have questioned Miss Fell, who really did hear the shot, and she says she did not remember this when she gave evidence at the inquest. When she was asked about the time, what came into her mind was that she had looked at the drawing room clock just before she went out."

"The church clock was actually striking when the shot was fired?"

"Yes—there is a chime for each quarter. The shot came with the second chime. The sound of the clock striking would, I imagine, tend to obscure the sound of the shot."

"Yes—that's an idea! But, you see, the first part of Bush's story—all the meat, in fact—is absolutely unsupported. He says he came from his own house—he says his wife was upstairs with his aunt—he says he didn't meet any one on his way to the church. There's no proof that he wasn't there at half past 9 or any other time before the shot was fired. Of course there's no proof that he knew Mr. Harsch would be there."

"The organ stopped just after half past 9," said Miss Silver. "And I feel I should tell you what I have learned this evening—Bush was at Miss Doncaster's on Tuesday evening at about half past 6, fixing some shelves. Miss Mary Anne, who is in the habit of listening in on the party line, overheard Mr. Harsch's telephone call to Sir George Rendal, acquainting him with the complete success of his final experiment. She repeated the information to Bush and, also, later on, to Mrs. Mottram and Mr. Everton. She says Bush immediately remarked that in that case Mr. Harsch would be down playing the organ that evening. He said Mr. Harsch told him he would be down as soon as his work was done."

"It doesn't look too good, does it?"

"To my mind the weakest point of the whole thing is his going off and leaving the body in the way he says. I find it uncommon difficult to swallow."

"Village people very much dislike getting mixed up with the police. I find it quite natural that Bush should desire the presence of another witness, and more especially a witness of Mr. Harsch's own social standing."

"Well, if you say so—" His tone deferred to her.

A smile commended him. She said, "The point which tells most in Bush's favor is one which you do not seem to have remarked. I refer to the key."

"You mean his putting the key back in Harsch's pocket? I thought that pretty fishy myself."

"O, no." Miss Silver's tone was firm. "That is an incident which certainly occurred just as he described it. It is not a thing that any one would invent, and certainly no guilty man would go out of his way to admit it. It is just one of those meaningless but instinctive things that people do when they are under the influence of shock."

"In other words, you think that he is innocent. I wonder. There's a lot of circumstantial evidence and it keeps piling up."

"A man is innocent in law until he has been found guilty by a jury," she said.

The typical man in the navy eats about 3,400 calories a day, about an eighth of which is accounted for by candy bars and soft drinks. Since candy and cola drinks furnish so many of the calories which the men eat, it is important that they provide something more than calories, Lt. Comdr. Clive C. McCay of the Naval Medical Research institute told the American Dietetic association last week.

Candy bars usually are eaten in largest amounts by the men who select poor diets in the mess hall, he said. It is possible to manufacture candy bars of excellent flavor which contain such real foods as brewer's yeast, wheat germ, milk, corn germ, and soy flour. Such candy would improve the diets of men who overemphasize sweets in their daily food intake. Cola beverages have been found to add an appreciable amount of phosphorus to the day's intake, but their acidity may have deleterious effects on tooth enamel, McCay said. The subject still is being studied.

Some families with low incomes eat good diets, and many families with large incomes eat poor diets. It's a matter of food habits. Ignorance of what constitutes a good diet and the habit of eating what one likes to the exclusion of other foods which may make more important contributions to health are common to all income groups.

Chicago's working girls drink too little milk, eat too few fruits, vegetables, and whole grain cereals and eat too many sweets between meals. Consequently, they are constipated, overweight, underweight, lack appetite, have skin troubles, indigestion, are subject to frequent colds, fatigue, nervousness, and backaches. Improved diets and regular habits suggested to a group of these girls led to relief from many of the illnesses.

These facts were explained in an address by Dr. Elizabeth M. Koch secretary of the Chicago Nutrition committee, at the Dietetic association meeting last week.

All obese persons overeat, but why? They may overeat because the importance of food has been overestimated by their parents, or eating may serve as compensation for failure at intellectual, social, or sexual relationships, Dorothy Gill of the department of nutrition, University of Iowa hospital, told dietitians last week.

A study of a group of obese women indicates a history of overeating. Numerous food dislikes, unbalanced meals, frequent nibbling of high calorie foods [candy, nuts] between meals are common. Few fat women get gratification from smoking, drinking, chewing gum, whistling, talking, or singing. They'd rather just eat. Most fat women are dependent and passive. They prefer being near home. Socially they are immature. Eating is the fat person's entire satisfaction for a multitude of interests, this study and others show.

New Winter Edition of Clotilde Patterns Becomes Available

The winter edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Fashions is off the presses and available for 15 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and Tribune Tower lobby, or for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern from P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, New York City.

The new issue's 24 pages of colored illustrations describe many smart fashions for all ages. There are tailored coats, suits, and dresses for office and classroom wear; special designs for the 10 to 16 age group; a group "for young figures, sizes 10 to 20, not counting birthdays," and two pages of smart wear for working girls, including dungarees for war jobs.

Other patterns cater to mature figures. The housewife is remembered in models for wear at home, and there are plenty of patterns for children.

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Mrs. Henry S., Rockford, Ill.—To take the best possible care of the heating wires of an open unit on an electric range, remember that four things are especially harmful to the wires, and all four begin with S. They are salt, soda, soap, and sugar. Keep them off the coils and you'll run no risk of burning out the wires.

Ella J., Ann Arbor, Mich.—To clean white asbestos shingles which have suffered rust stains under the windows, make a paste of scouring powder and water with just a small addition of household ammonia, and scrub stains with this mixture. For the rest of the surface take a long handled scrubbing brush and wash with a mixture of 2 tablespoonfuls of washing soda to a pail of water. To rinse thoroly, use your garden hose.

Packers' Executive Lauds Food Editors for Menu Guidance

The role of the food editor in advocating better menus and more intelligent food selections was praised yesterday by F. W. Specht, vice president and general sales manager of Armour & Co., speaking before the food editors of 37 newspapers at the Armour plant.

For the meat industry the food editors have been helpful in equalizing the demand for seasonal supplies and creating a demand for the less popular meat products such as shoulder cuts, sausage and lard, he said.

Regarding lard, he said it was "a crying shame, with fats so needed, that many carloads of good lard were sent to the soap kettles" because the demand was cut by rationing, since removed.

Crippled Aids Seek to Utilize Special Talents

Rehabilitation programs growing out of war time urgency emphasize restoration of the disabled by building up individual capacities, according to reports of world-wide rehabilitation progress given yesterday at the 22d annual meeting of the National Society for Crippled Children in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

At a luncheon meeting of the International Society for the Welfare of Cripples, Graham Hutton of the British press service said work in England is being planned to help disabled do those jobs they are fitted to do best—not just those jobs they can do.

Dr. Cheng Pao-nan, director of the midwest bureau of the Chinese news service, described China's expanding rehabilitation program as one of getting supplies whereby the Chinese can help themselves.

To begin, he said, China will require supplies costing approximately 3½ billion dollars, of which the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration is being asked to provide 37 per cent. But, freed of national calamities, "China can carry on under her own steam in 12 to 18 months after the war."

It is established practice in Russia to fit the machines to the disabled who operate them, Mrs. Philip Wyatt Moore of Winnetka said in a report of rehabilitation in Russia.

Miss Bell Greve, secretary of the international organization and director of the Cleveland, O., rehabilitation center, reported plans for opening a training school for physiotherapists in the spring in Athens, Greece.

The morning session was devoted to a panel on crippled children's services. Dr. Betty Huse, assistant director for crippled children, United States children's bureau, said today's great need is care of more children and a better quality of care.

Programs are hampered by lack of funds, lack of specialists of all kinds, and insufficient hospital, convalescent, and boarding home facilities, particularly for adolescents, she said. A year ago there were 15,000 children known to need care and not getting it—an indication of how many cases actually exist but go unreported.

Sessions continue thru today and tomorrow.

PARTIES TO KEEP HALLOWEEN IMPS OUT OF MISCHIEF

Witches will dance and jack o'lanterns grin tonight in traditional Halloween celebrations thruout the city, but it will all be in fun because vandalism in the name of the holiday has been declared unpatriotic by city officials. Hundreds of parties and other gatherings have been arranged for the celebration in order to keep youngsters out of mischief. Chicago park district recreation office urged children to have fun, but to refrain from wanton destruction.

Approximately 24,000 persons, largely school children, are expected to attend Halloween parties at 69 Chicago public school playgrounds tonight, Herman J. Fischer, director of the bureau of recreation, said yesterday. Playground directors, with coöperation of local clubs and individuals, are in charge of plans. The parties will last until 10 p. m.

N. E. A. DELAYS SCHOOL PROBE TO AFTER NOV. 15

Donald Du Shane, an investigator for the National Education association, Washington, D. C., said in Chicago yesterday that a thoro probe of the treatment of teachers in Chicago public schools will be delayed until shortly after Nov. 15. JURORS ACQUIT ARMY CAPTAIN IN DEATH OF WIFE

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 30 (AP).—A jury of eight women and four men tonight acquitted Capt. Robert J. Connors, 27, of Philadelphia, charged with second degree murder in the bathtub death of his pretty wife, Lois, in a hotel here July 8.

The jury deliberated 10 hours and a half before deciding to free the former Fort Knox, Ky., tank officer.

In a charge to the jury, which took the case at 12:48 p. m., Judge Louis J. Schneider said one of the three verdicts was possible—guilty, with a penalty of life imprisonment; guilty of manslaughter, with a prison term of one to 20 years; or acquittal.

On the witness stand, Capt. Connors said he awakened from a nap to find his wife's nude body partly submerged in the bathtub.

MAN, WIFE ARE DEAD OF WOUNDS INFLICTED BY FORMER HUSBAND

George Altman, 50, and his wife, Florence, 40, both died yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital of gunshot wounds inflicted by Mrs. Altman's former husband, Edward Lynch, of 3505 W. 58th pl., an ex-policeman. The shooting occurred Sunday morning during a quarrel in the Altman home. Lynch then killed himself.

Lynch, who was divorced by Mrs. Altman two years ago because of drunkenness, had gone to the home to visit his three children whose custody had been awarded to their mother. Police said Lynch may have become enraged during an altercation with Mrs. Altman over the children's custody. The shooting was witnessed by their eldest son, Arthur, 8.

An inquest will be held today.

Ronald Altman, month-old son of the Altmans, the other two Lynch children, Daniel, 6, and Carol, 3, and Miss La Verne McNally, 18, Mrs. Altman's daughter by her first of three marriages, were asleep upstairs when the shooting occurred. Altman was an electrician for the Chicago park district. Lynch, who was fired from the police force in 1929, recently was a guard in a candy plant.

NAVY LOSES HAMBERG FOR GAME WITH IRISH

45,000 TO SEE BEAR-PACKER DUEL SUNDAY

Annual Stampede for Tickets Starts.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

This is festival week in the western division of the National Football league with the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers meeting Sunday in their annual autumnal clash in Wrigley field. It's a sort of Army-Navy game in the pro ranks. The festival part consists of a hunt in the loop—for tickets.

After a brisk sale yesterday at the Hub there still were a few remaining tickets for grand stand and box seats. Today 600 field seats will go on sale. It will be first come, first served, for the 5,000 bleacher seats which will be put up for grabs late Sunday morning. All this will mean a crowd in the neighborhood of 45,000.

For the first time in many years the Packer-Bear Chicago show does not have a red hot championship angle. Most seasons the Packers were trying to catch up with the Bears. This they did in November of 1941, 16 to 14, and the success caused a playoff in the west which the Bears won. Since losing to the Packers in '41, the Bears have played 17 league games in Wrigley field, winning 16 and tying 1. It is the 53d meeting between the league's oldest rivals. The Bears have won 27, lost 20, and tied 5.

Luckman to Play Again.

The 45,000 will show up despite the fact that the Packers have outdistanced their old enemies by winning six straight, including a 42 to 28 decision over the Bears. The Chicago eleven has won two, lost two, and tied one. This is the first season since 1940 that the Bears have lost more than one league game. In 1940 they lost three, but won in the west anyway.

Unless there are unforseen complications, Ensign Sid Luckman will be in a Bear uniform Sunday to help Chicago try to spoil the Packers' bid for their first perfect season. Never have the Packers won all their league games. They came closest in 1929 by winning 12 and tying 1. This was the beginning of a Green Bay dynasty. The Packers won in 1930 with 11 victories, 3 defeats, and a tie. They came back in 1931 with 12 victories and 2 defeats.

Canadeo with Green Bay.

The Bears will begin workouts this morning for the contest. They came out of Sunday's 28 to 21 victory over Cleveland in good physical shape. Biggest task is to get Ray [Scooter] McLean in shape. He was in Sunday's game for only two pass plays and then retired because of an injured leg. Al Grygo, the Pennsylvania Pole who picked up a southern accent while playing for the University of South Carolina, made the fans forget about McLean. Al was the most potent runner on National league fields, picking up 144 yards in 13 rushes. This gives him 245 yards for the season in 27 forays for an average of 9 yards.

Green Bay also may have a service man in the lineup. He's Tony Canadeo, who is utilizing a 20 day furlough from the army to play for his old boss, Curly Lambeau. Tony has been an important man in Green Bay's two most recent victories, over the Rams and Lions.

Roy Huggins, Cleveland Rams' half back who suffered a broken rib in the game with the Bears, was released from Illinois Masonic hospital.

Indiana, Ohio Bring Big Nine Race to a Head

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Altho the Western conference football schedule is far from concluded, the championship race may take definite shape Saturday when Indiana meets Ohio State. If the Hoosiers whip the Buckeyes, they will be favorites to win the title, altho they must prove their right to it by additional victories over Minnesota and Purdue.

This would not seem an unsurmountable task in view of Minnesota's record and Purdue's loss of navy talent. Then, too, Indiana would have a mathematical advantage over all other teams by virtue of a seven game schedule—with the exception of Michigan. The Wolverines also can finish with six victories and one defeat, but since Indiana defeated Michigan, the Hoosiers unquestionably would have a more valid claim to the championship.

Ohio State's Confident.

All of this is predicated, of course, on an Indiana victory over Ohio State. And this, followers of the Buckeyes will tell you, is an impossible task. The Buckeyes base their confidence on a perfect record which includes three Big Nine victories and a decisive triumph over Great Lakes.

The caliber of Ohio State's veteran line has been well established and it also may be assumed that Bill Willis and Capt. Gordon Appleby will be ready for action against Indiana. Willis is a standout tackle and Appleby is a dependable center. Les Horvath, a member of the 1942 championship Ohio State eleven, has sparked the Buckeye attack and provided poise for a back field otherwise composed of freshmen.

If Ohio State defeats Indiana, the round robin of games involving Ohio State, Michigan, and Illinois will solve the championship race. The Illini now rest until they meet Michigan Nov. 11. Illinois then plays Ohio State the following week in Cleveland and the Michigan-Ohio State game in Columbus on Nov. 25 concludes the series.

It's Up to Hoernschemeyer.

Indiana threatens Ohio State principally because of its decisive 20 to 0 victory over Michigan. This has been Michigan's only loss of the campaign. Indiana's sole defeat was administered by Illinois, 26 to 18, in the opening conference game for the universities.

The principal difference in the Hoosiers' performance in these games may be attributed to Bob Hoernschemeyer. Bob's passing and running accounted for the defeat of Michigan. He was used for a few plays in the Illinois game the preceding Saturday after joining the Hoosier squad only four days previously.

Hoernschemeyer will be supported by Harry Jagade and George Sundheim, two splendid first year full backs. Abe Addams, who is particularly effective in the open field after receiving laterals, and Dick Deranek, fastest man on the Hoosier squad and who specializes in reverse sweeps, complete Indiana's attack. Hoernschemeyer is the key and his passes must click, for it is doubtful if Indiana's line can outplay the Ohio State line.

Indiana has a splendid defensive tackle in Joe Sowinski. The other tackle, Joe Kempf, who was injured a week ago at Northwestern, will be ready for Ohio State.

Badgers Play Boilermakers.

There may be a tendency to forget Purdue because of the Boilermakers' 40 to 14 licking at Michigan. Purdue is discounted because of its losses of navy men, but actually the Boilermakers have lost only one game and have beaten Illinois and Iowa. Wisconsin is Purdue's opponent Saturday in Lafayette and the Boilermakers then invade Northwestern. After the engagement with Navy on Nov. 18, Purdue finishes with Indiana. Thus, the Boilermakers could conclude the campaign with five victories and one defeat for at least a share of the title.

Michigan and Iowa have nonconference dates this week. The Wolverines play at Pennsylvania and Iowa still seeks its first victory of the year against Nebraska. Northwestern and Minnesota meet in Minneapolis and the winner will escape from the conference cellar.

Cawthon Tosses in the Sponge as Brooklyn Coach

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Pete Cawthon, head coach of the Brooklyn Tigers, resigned today after his club had suffered its fifth consecutive National Football league defeat. Cawthon was in his second season.

Pete Cawthon.

Cawthon's resignation was effective immediately and his two assistants, Ed Kubale and Frank Bridges, will guide the team in its preparations for Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles. Club officials said they were not prepared to name a new head coach immediately.

Cawthon, a native of Texas and former Texas Tech head coach, took charge at Brooklyn in the spring of 1943 and assembled a team which won two of its 10 games last fall.

In announcing his resignation, Cawthon said: "I am doing this of my own free will and have made a satisfactory financial settlement with the club in regard to my contract."

GEORGE STROHMEYER, the Iowa Seahawks' colorful center, struck an impressive pose for a trim co-ed with a camera at the railroad station following his team's 13 to 6 conquest of Purdue. . . . When his buddies chided him, George remarked, "You guys see whom she selected, don't you?" . . . They had the last word, however, for as the girl left she said, "That would make a swell picture—if I'd had any film in the camera." . . . Bob Skoglund, Notre Dame end, is a brother of Len, who played for the Irish a few seasons back. . . . Bob prepped at Loyola academy, Len at Senn High school. . . . When he was at Kansas State, Wes Fry, Northwestern assistant coach, saw the 1939 season ruined for his outfit in the first few minutes of a game with Colorado. . . . Elmer Hackney, the crushing full back, was carried from the field with a twisted knee. Don Brubaker, All-Big Six end, suffered a broken ankle and was out until the final two games of the campaign, and Center Ken Hamlin was kayoed by a back injury which kept him idle all season. . . . A husky young chap walked into the Ottumwa Naval Air station athletic office the other day and inquired, "How's Ohio State coming out?" . . . The personnel changes rapidly at Ottumwa, so one of the officers inquired, "What's your name, aren't you new here?" . . . "Yep, I just got in," the youth answered, "My name's Gomer Jones." . . . One of the football minded group in the office, remembering Ohio State's great All-America center of that name, and envisioning a fine addition to the station eleven, then asked, hopefully, "And where did you go to school?" . . . "Mount Union college, ever heard of it?" answered Gomer Jones, but not THE Gomer Jones. . . . P.S.—The coaches still are looking for an All-America center. . . .

Sgt. Mel Maceau, Marquette's brilliant football center of 1941 and 1942, writes friends from China that Johnny Blood, the former Green Bay Packer flash, is organizing a football team out there. . . . Pepper Martin's last request as a Cardinal was to be allowed to keep his Redbird shirt. . . . The request was granted. . . . Frankie Crosetti is slated to become a Yankee coach after the war. . . . Corp. Buster Poole, called by Connie Mack one of the most promising young outfielders ever to play with the Athletics, now is with an army team in Panama. . . . No wonder the Randolph field eleven is such a power in the southwest. . . . The back field includes Bill Dudley, former Virginia ace; Fred [Dippy] Evans, Notre Dame's great kicker and ball carrier, and Pete Layden, the Texas full back. . . . Tickets for New Orleans' Sugar bowl football game, Jan. 1, will go on sale tomorrow.

I don't miss those thick, steaks
On which we thrived,
I don't miss the cocktails
We sipped at 5.
I don't miss the flowers
You often sent;
And those lazy Sundays
We always spent.
I don't miss the candy—
I've even lost weight,
Nor the telephone calls,
The dinners at eight.
I don't miss the movies,
With your hand in mine,
Those swell football games
From the 50 yard line.
I don't miss the night clubs
We used to do,
There's just one thing I miss
My darling, that's YOU.

$7,514,765 BET IN TEN DAYS AT SPORTSMAN'S

Outlook Good for Charity Meet.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Sportsman's Park, operating with the hearty coöperation of the Chicago racing public, a franchise from the state of Illinois, and the benign blessings of the weather man, opened the final week of its regular 16 day fall meeting yesterday with a record of $7,514,765 having been wagered during the first 10 days.

Business has been so good at the Cicero half track that President John L. Keeshin predicts the week of charity racing which follows, Nov. 6 to 11, and closes the racing season in Chicago, will add a neat sum to the sport's 1944 contribution to welfare organizations. The extra week is being sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., under whose auspices $400,800.04 was raised in five days during the combined Arlington-Washington Park meeting this summer.

All Tracks Coöperate.

All Chicago tracks—Sportsman's, Hawthorne, Lincoln Fields, Arlington, and Washington Park, contributed a day of their alloted meetings to that successful venture.

The mutuel handle at Sportsman's Park in 10 days already has exceeded the total for 12 days last fall when $7,255,165 was wagered. The attendance so far is a few thousand above 1943's fall session.

Yesterday's attendance was a bit below the daily average, which is more than 11,000, but action at the mutuel windows was brisk, the day's handle being $706,896.

Double Pays Only $28.20.

The daily double return was a small one, $28.20, when Erb and Sanders' Count Chat, the 4 to 5 favorite, scored in the opener and J. F. Beck's Tyro Lad, held at 3 to 1, won the second. Willie Hawksworth rode Count Chat, which paid $3.80 and Dell Jessop was aboard Tyro Lad, which returned $8.20.

O. L. Spitzer's odds-on favorite, Tom's Ladd, ridden by Mel Duhon, won the third at $3.40 for a $2 win ticket.

Al Jackson's Rose Canyon was the first long shot to score, Hawksworth booting him in by a head margin over Roman Red, the even money choice, in the fifth race. He paid $32.40.

Reaping Gold Wins Feature.

Reaping Gold, a 4 year old son of Reaping Reward, owned by Mrs. Marie Specht and ridden by Bruno Pucci, won the day's feature, the $1,800 Hugo Bennett purse, a mile and one-sixteenth affair which drew a field of eight. Reaping Gold came from far back to overtake Plaidloch and Volcano, the early pace setters. Impenetrable beat Plaidloch for the place. The winner paid $13.80, $7.40, and $4.20.

Hawks Shift Lineups for Ranger Game

The 11 to 5 defeat heaped upon the Blackhawks by the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night before one of the largest crowds in Chicago's hockey history had its reverberations yesterday when Manager Paul Thompson announced an extensive shake-up in preparation for tomorrow night's game against the New York Rangers in the Stadium.

In a scrimmage session yesterday, Thompson had Red Mitchell instead of Virgil Johnson working alongside Joe Cooper on a defense line and an entire forward line consisting of Lude Check, Harvey Fraser, the Vancouver center, and the veteran Fido Purpur. Chuck played left wing last season with the Quebec Aces, winners of the Allen cup, emblematic of the amateur hockey championship of the world. The trio of Check Fraser and Purpur will replace Mush March, Johnny Gottselig and Joe Papike, whose showing in the opening game was not overly impressive.

McSpaden Resigns Golf Pro Job in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP).—Harold [Jug] McSpaden, one of the nation's leading golfers, said today he has resigned as pro at the Philadelphia Country club to become national public relations and field representative for the Palm Beach-Goodall company of New York.

MIDDIES WILL MISS MARKSMAN

CHUCK BENNETT KEEPS LYONS ON TITLE PINNACLE

When Lyons Township of La Grange defeated Glenbard, 26 to 6, Saturday to clinch the West Suburban league title, it was the fourth straight conference crown for an eleven coached by Chuck Bennett, ex-Indiana star who was winner of The Tribune's most valuable player award in 1928. The La Grange team has not been defeated in league play since 1940, and two members of last season's undefeated squad are starters on Western conference teams this fall. Bruce [Bud] Elliott is at tackle for Wisconsin, while George Sundheim is sharing a starting full back role at Indiana. The 1944 Lyons Township team lost its opener to Proviso in a practice game, but has not been defeated since then. Greg Sloan is the line coach.

Chuck Bennett.

Downstate prep circles are buzzing over the feat of Mel Montz, fleet half back, who scored all the points when Rock Island defeated Moline, 33 to 0, in Moline. Montz scored first on a 12 yard run, then plunged four yards to score, ran 73 yards for a touchdown shortly after the second half opened, and five plays later, after sprinting 48 yards to the Moline 3 yard line, plunged over. His final touchdown came early in the fourth quarter.

Horace Chandler of Wendell Phillips, who has scored 13 touchdowns and one extra point for 79 points, leads the prep high school scorers in this area. He is pressed by Ted Kemp of Senn, who has a 74 total from 12 touchdowns and two extra points. Kemp, who was 13th in the scoring race last week, moved up by scoring six touchdowns in Senn's 56 to 0 route of Waller last week. However, in city league games Chandler is overshadowed by Wally Teninga of Morgan Park, who has scored 10 touchdowns and nine extra points for a 69 point total in five games.

Bill Hickey of St. Ignatius has scored 30 points in Catholic league competition, three points behind Dick Forbes of St. Philip, who has tallied 33 in five league contests. Hickey leads Catholic league competition in all games played, however, with 54 points. In official league play Ferd Nadherny of Morton leads the Suburban league with 25 points. Jack Prather of La Grange, with 36 points, tops the West Suburban scorers, while John Karras of Argo, with 30, leads the South Suburban. The Private school lead is held by Bob Eisendrath of Francis Parker. He has six touchdowns for 36 points.

Garner K O's Polk in Third at Marigold

Bob Garner, 182 pound Louisville, Ky., fighter, knocked out Charley Polk in the third round of a scheduled eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night before a crowd of 1,550.

George Costner, Cincinnati welterweight, scored his third knockout in eight days when he stopped Jimmy Hunt, former Golden Gloves 147 pound champion, in the first round of a semi-windup affair that had been booked for eight rounds.

James Wilson, south side middleweight who formerly boxed under the names of James Smyles, beat Arnold Deer of Indianapolis in six rounds. In four round events, Cy Ellison, Tulsa, Okla., heavyweight, beat Henry Cook, Garner's stablemate, and Fred Bailey of Taylorville, Ill., defeated Chuck Swango of Fort Wayne, Ind.

CANADIAN BOXERS WIN

BRISTOL, England, Oct. 30 (AP).—Danny Webb, Montreal featherweight, tonight scored his second victory over leading British professional sluggers in less than a week by pounding out an eight round decision over Boyo Rees, former Welsh lightweight title holder.

Webb surprised British boxing circles last week by whipping the world flyweight champion, Jackie Paterson, in three rounds. This was the first fight the veteran Rees has lost in Bristol where he has appeared in close to 60 bouts since 1930.

At Albert hall in London big Al Delaney, Windsor [Ont.] heavyweight, gained an eight round repeat decision over Al Robinson, promising Leeds fighter.

WIESE ASSUMES SCORING LEAD IN BIG NINE RACE

Capt. Bob Wiese and Half Back Bob Nussbaumer of Michigan, altho they completed their 1944 collegiate football activities last Saturday in helping the Wolverines defeat Purdue's Boilermakers, 40 to 14, hold the scoring and rushing leadership, respectively, in the Western conference.

When he scored three times Saturday Wiese ran his season total to 42, taking the lead from Buddy Young of Illinois, who has been idle from Big Nine competition for two weeks. Young has a total of 30 points. Nussbaumer is tied for third place in the individual scoring race with Ed Cody of Purdue, each with 24 points.

In gaining 151 yards against Purdue Nussbaumer boosted his total to 379 yards. Wiese also took over second place in this department, adding 75 yards to increase his yardage total to 311.

Bob Hoernschemeyer of Indiana has taken over the Big Nine passing leadership from Johnny Youngwirth of Northwestern.

INJURIES WILL KEEP PASSER ON SIDELINES

Baltimore Contest to Draw 64,000.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 30 (AP).—The twice beaten Navy football team's chances of turning back the Irish of Notre Dame Saturday in Baltimore hit a new low today when Coach Oscar [Swede] Hagberg disclosed that his top passing threat, Hal Hamberg, definitely is out of the game.

Hamberg, whose accurate passes were practically all Navy's attack in its 33 to 6 losing effort against Notre Dame last year, was in action for just three plays and aggravated an old leg injury in his team's 26 to 0 conquest of Penn Saturday in Philadelphia. Last year against Notre Dame in Cleveland, Hamberg clicked for 13 completed passes and Navy's only score on a heave to Bill Barron.

Other Cripples Recover.

With Hamberg out, passing duties will fall to Bob Jenkins, the former Alabama flash, and possibly Bruce Smith, the Miami [Fla.] half back, who has seen little action this year. Neither, however, can hope to fill Hamberg's shoes.

The gloom surrounding Hamberg's hobbling exit from the 64,000 person sellout test in Baltimore Municipal stadium, was dispelled somewhat, however, by the disclosure that other injured Navy players probably will be ready.

Ralph Ellsworth, the former Texas star, who played a little against Penn after being out with injuries, was reported in condition, as was Dave Barksdale, star blocking back. Ed Deramee, first string guard who has been bothered by an injured knee since the Penn State game, is likely to be ready against the Irish.

Two Strenuous Drills Planned.

Taking no chances on increasing the casualty list, Hagberg said the Middies would have heavy work only two days this week—tomorrow and Wednesday—and then take things easy. Jenkins, Clyde Scott, freshman full back, and Barron will be drilled for key offensive roles. Jenkins has averaged 5.6 yards per try this year and Scott 4.3 yards.

With Deramee back, Navy's line should be in top physical shape to withstand Notre Dame's famed offense.

NOTRE DAME LOSES END.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special].—Mike Davlin, 16 year old freshman end from Omaha, Neb., who was outstanding in Saturday's game against Illinois, is lost to the Notre Dame football squad for the remainder of the season because of a chipped bone in his knee.

Mike Davlin.

Coach Ed McKeever received the bad news today after an X-ray of Davlin's knee in Chicago's Mercy hospital revealed the extent of the injury.

The Irish coach started the job of grooming Bill Chandler, star freshman back from Chicago Amundsen High, to take over the left half job left vacant when Chick Maggioli departed today for Parris Island, S. C., to continue training in the marine corps.

YOUNG, ORR RETURN.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30 [Special].—Claude [Buddy] Young and John Orr, University of Illinois football players who were removed from last week's game with Notre Dame because of injuries, were all right again today.

Young, half back, who suffered a slight concussion when kicked in the head and did not play in the second half, shows no ill effects of the injury and will be able to play against Michigan Nov. 11 in Ann Arbor. Orr, left end, who was kicked in the ribs, had no bones broken, an X-ray showed. With no game this week-end, the Illini did not practice today.

When practice is resumed, Lester Joop, La Salle-Peru junior, is expected to become the regular right tackle, replacing Don Janasz Taylorville freshman, who goes to the army Nov. 8.

By gaining 343 yards thru rushing last week, the Illini lifted their average per game slightly, to 333.6. This still is ahead of the modern record of 324 yards, set by the 1943 Iowa Seahawks.

LOUIS MAY BOX IN CHICAGO ON EXHIBITION TOUR

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Sgt. Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, will make a 10 city exhibition and refereeing tour during his current 21 day furlough, according to an announcement today by Max Waxman. A three round exhibition with Johnny Denson at the Olympia in Detroit Nov. 3 will be the opener of the jaunt that will take him thru the east and wind up in the middle west Nov. 17.

MAY APPEAR IN STADIUM.

Promoters Jack Begun and Irving Schoenwald said last night they are negotiating to have Joe Louis appear in an exhibition on Nov. 17 in the Stadium.

ELIOT PUTS UP BUDDY YOUNG AS ALL-AMERICAN

Blames Illini Defeat by Irish to Inexperience.

Ray Eliot, University of Illinois football coach, yesterday made a goal line stand against Sunday morning second guessers who toss verbal passes at collegiate quarter backs following Saturday defeats.

Ray Eliot.

Speaking before the Monday Quarter Back luncheon in the Morrison hotel, Eliot, altho tracing last Saturday's 13 to 7 defeat by Notre Dame to mistakes and inexperience of his athletes, had only praise for his team.

"The Illinois squad," said Eliot, "is made up principally of 17 and 18 year old kids. They made mistakes against Notre Dame and they lacked the know-how to cope with the experience which stands out in the play and maneuvers of the Irish. However, I still take my hat off to those Illinois kids for putting up the great game they did against the team that has been rated No. 1 in the nation.

Calls Young All-American.

"I have been asked why I did not send Buddy Young into the game Saturday in the second half. When I went into the dressing room between halves Buddy was stretched out on the rubbing table—certainly in no shape to play in the second half.

"I will say this about Buddy Young. If there is an All-America player in the Western conference that boy is my candidate. I have heard remarks that he is weak on defense, but this is wrong. Buddy has demonstrated his defensive ability all season and this was particularly true in the game with Pittsburgh."

MADIGAN IS SPEAKER

Asserting there is a definite place in collegiate football for an intersectional game between the Western conference and Pacific Coast conference champions, Edward [Slip] Madigan, head coach at the University of Iowa, predicted yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the Wailing Wall in the La Salle hotel that arrangements will be made by heads of the two circuits for the contest in the post-war era.

Madigan, who has had 19 years coaching experience on the west coast, said a test of skill between the champions of the midwest and far west would bring a better understanding between the two sections, in addition to furnishing one of the outstanding football spectacles of the year.

In Columbus, Athletic Director L. W. St. John of Ohio State university, came to Madigan's support with a statement that "I would be favorable to such a game. In fact, I've favored getting the Western conference and Pacific coast champions together for a game for some time."

G. M. EARNINGS FOR 9 MONTHS TOP 1943 LEVEL

Equivalent to $2.68 a Common Share.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—General Motors corporation reported today that net income in the nine months ended Sept. 30 totaled $124,997,304, equal to $2.68 a share on the common stock. Profit in the corresponding 1943 period was $109,519,455, or $2.36 a share.

The September quarter net income was $42,227,409, equal to 90 cents a share, against $41,709,440, or 89 cents a share, in the June quarter, and $40,129,260, or 87 cents a share, in the third quarter of 1943.

Provision for taxes for the first nine months amounted to $202,765,000, compared with $171,273,000 last year.

Sales Dip in Quarter.

Deliveries of war products in the third quarter totaled $923,322,883, compared with $992,943,572 in the second quarter. Total sales were $1,034,405,828, against $1,094,517,010. War material deliveries in the nine months amounted to $2,964,723,350, against $2,525,280,753, and total sales were $3,259,194,235 against $2,699,671,478.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, said in a statement accompanying the report that reductions in production schedules of some items as dictated by military needs have been largely offset by increased schedules of other items or of new war material items.

Plan for Reconversion.

"Meanwhile, the need is recognized to plan for partial, and ultimately complete, reconversion of facilities for peace time production and jobs," he said. "As the military situation permits, engineering talent and materials will be directed to this very essential job of preparing to meet the problems of post-war production."

Sloan said net income in the nine months had been affected favorably by absence of an additional provision for reserves to meet post-war contingencies. A year ago provisions for this purpose were $25,252,808. The company deducted $72,363,000 during the nine months as a provision for price and other adjustments which may arise in renegotiation of war contracts, compared with $63,402,000 in the first nine months of 1943.

Big Sales Gain Boosts Field Profit Slightly

Hughston M. McBain.

Marshall Field & Co. sales and rental income rose substantially in the third quarter of 1944 and profits were slightly higher, Hughston M. McBain, president, reported to stockholders yesterday.

Rising 12.5 per cent over the 1943 corresponding period, sales and rental income totaled $34,133,369 in the September quarter. It rose 8.5 per cent to $102,497,514 in the nine months ended Sept. 30.

Taxes Take Big Bite.

Profit in the September quarter, after federal tax provisions of $2,991,280, was $1,050,990, equal to 42 cents per share, compared with adjusted profit of $1,023,588, or 41 cents a share, after tax provisions of $2,328,391 in the third quarter of 1943. Federal tax provisions represented 74 per cent of profit before taxes compared with 69.5 per cent.

Net income in the first nine months this year was $3,146,081, equal to $1.27 per share, after $8,954,230 was set aside for taxes, against adjusted profit of $3,532,541, or $1.47 a share, after tax provisions of $8,035,589 but before provision of $500,000 for possible inventory write-down.

Studebaker Reports Gains.

Harold S. Vance, chairman, announced Studebaker corporation profit was $1,214,511, or 52 cents a share, in the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with $879,985, or 39 cents a share in the third quarter last year. Post-war contingency reserves were $375,000 and $600,000. Profit in the first nine months this year was $2,947,284, or $1.27 a share, against $2,552,084, or $1.14 a share. Figures for 1944 are subject to adjustment in war contract renegotiation.

Including charges to the government under cost plus fixed fee contracts, sales climbed to $317,150,233 in the nine months from $262,534,662 in the corresponding 1943 period, but were nearly even for the third quarter at $101,964,469, against $101,897,344.

Belden Earnings Decline.

Belden Manufacturing company had net income of $255,188, or $1.05 a share, in the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with profit a year earlier of $382,216, or $1.58 a share, said Whipple Jacobs, president. Sales totaled $8,309,724, against $8,345,948.

"Shipments in the third quarter exceeded year ago shipments by $138,817," Jacobs said. "Cutbacks have been relatively unimportant and total shipments for the year will approximate those of 1943. Unfilled orders are slightly higher than at the beginning of the year, and amount to approximately 5½ months billing."

National Tea Profit Rises.

National Tea company had a profit of $443,101 in the 40 weeks ended Oct. 7 after setting aside $320,000 for federal taxes, compared with $86,643 after tax reserves of $60,000 in the corresponding 1943 period.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company reported September quarter profit was $2,654,385, or $1.33 a share, compared with $2,697,947, or $1.52 a share, a year earlier. Nine months profit rose to $6,782,605, or $3.51 a share, from $6,186,133, or $3.48 a share.

Crosley corporation net income in the first three quarters rose to $3,571,388 from $2,771,879 a year earlier. Nearly all profits of the manufacturing division and part of the broadcasting division profits resulted from war contracts subject to renegotiation.

WARNS BATTLE OF FREEDOM TO FLARE IN PEACE

Men Losing Rights, Johnston Says.

Intensification after the war of the struggle between collectivism and individualism, between the state and the individual, and between autocracy and democracy was predicted yesterday by Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who warned that "everywhere the tide is running strong toward government control, domination, and ownership."

At a luncheon of the post-war conference and market week of the National Shoe fair in the Palmer House, Johnston said that all over the world man is returning his problems to the government, the very step against which he has struggled thruout the centuries.

Question of Liberalism Posed.

He said the question to be decided is whether to follow the new-fashioned liberal who proclaims "Man belongs to the state; the state will protect him; the state will employ him for the benefit of the state," or the old fashioned Jeffersonian liberal who asserts "The state is but the servant of man to be used by man for his greater achievement and freedom."

Pointing out the growing tendencies toward government control in Great Britain, France, and Russia, Johnston said such a policy will never do for a free America.

"We have given the urge for self advancement free play, so we are the greatest country in the world," he said. "We must have enlightened leadership in government, business, labor, and agriculture. That the judgment of the few is better than the judgment of the many is a mistaken idea."

Terms Living Standard Low.

The United States is the only nation in the world to raise the dollar value of its consumer goods during the war, he said, and the only one to have "both butter and bullets." But the country's standard of living is pitifully low compared with its productive resources, he said.

It may take one to 10 years to return to normal economy, he said, predicting first a "relatively protracted" period of high economy and employment.

Despite the difficult problems ahead, he urged against a spirit of defeatism, declaring that "no one can lick us, but we can commit national suicide."

In the country's favor Johnston listed the backlog of shortages, an estimated 125 billion dollars in savings at the end of the war, more skilled workers, modern plants, and raw materials. Every country is hungry for American goods, he said, and declared "if we can't solve our own problems, no other countries can solve theirs and we will all go down together."

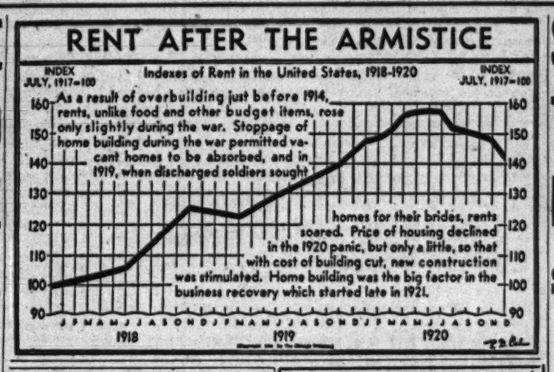
People and Events

The Rheem Manufacturing company yesterday announced Norman E. Thompson has been appointed production manager of the nine plants which make up the eastern division and include Chicago, Thompson, formerly with Republic Steel corporation, became associated with Rheem in January.

The fifth army-navy production award yesterday was presented to the Galvin Manufacturing corporation of Chicago, maker of handie talkie and walkie talkie radio sets for the army signal corps. Hallicrafters company announced it also has received its fifth "E" award.

George B. Johnston has been appointed general merchandising manager of the Philip Carey Manufacturing company of Cincinnati, O., E. W. Smith, vice president, announced. Johnston was assistant manager of the company's Chicago branch from 1933 to 1935 and recently has been manager of the marketing division.

The Society of Automotive Engineers will meet Dec. 4 to 6 in the Knickerbocker hotel to discuss post-war air cargo operations. Ray D. Kelly of United Air Lines will be the chairman of the opening session.



RENT AFTER THE ARMISTICE
Indexes of Rent in the United States, 1918-1920
INDEX JULY, 1917=100
As a result of overbuilding just before 1914, rents, unlike food and other budget items, rose only slightly during the war. Stoppage of home building during the war permitted vacant homes to be absorbed, and in 1919, when discharged soldiers sought homes for their brides, rents soared. Price of housing declined in the 1920 panic, but only a little, so that with cost of building cut, new construction was stimulated. Home building was the big factor in the business recovery which started late in 1921.

Latin Trade Outlook Good, Bank Reports

The general outlook for post-war trade between the United States and Latin America is "decidedly favorable," the Guaranty Trust Company of New York said yesterday in its monthly review of business conditions. It said this was the result of the piling up of Latin American holdings of gold and foreign exchange in the United States and abroad to the equivalent of more than 3 billion dollars.

"These very substantial holdings of gold and foreign exchange have been built up thru Latin American countries supplying large quantities of their products to the United States and other nations allied against the axis, while their opportunities for purchasing foreign goods have been limited by necessary war time trade restrictions and transportation difficulties," the bank said. "As a consequence there has accumulated presumably a large volume of deferred demand for goods from other countries, including the United States."

Business Opinions Asked.

The bank asked several representative Latin American bankers and business men for their opinion on the outlook for post-war trade.

"The replies, for the most part, tend to support the view that the general outlook for post-war trade between Latin America and the United States is decidedly favorable," the bank said. "In most cases the correspondents believe the greatest opportunities for expansion of their export trade lie in those products, mainly agricultural commodities, that have formed the mainstay of such trade in the past.

"Opinion is almost unanimous that the greatest possibilities for post-war expansion of United States exports lie in industrial and agricultural machinery, transportation equipment, building materials, and durable consumer goods such as electrical and radio equipment and refrigerators. Chemicals and fine textile products also are prominently listed."

Trade Needs Listed.

The bank said the replies included views on what post-war international trade requirements would be and listed the following:

1. That peace be assured for a long time to aid any real increase in economic activity.
2. The quickest possible restoration of free enterprise.
3. The establishment of currencies on a sound basis.
4. The placing of a definite limit on the system of commercial barriers.

CHARGE PACKER VIOLATED OPA PRICE CEILINGS

Guggenheim Packing company, 1337 W. 37th st., was named in an OPA suit filed yesterday in federal District court asking damages of $35,747 and an injunction to insure future compliance with OPA regulations. The company is charged with selling boneless bull beef for sausage at over ceiling prices.

Paul Bergin, candy jobber, 2320 Hartzell st., Evanston, consented to a judgment of $1,017 before Federal District Judge Barnes in settlement of an OPA charge that he sold chocolate covered fruit and nuts at over ceiling prices. He is temporarily out of business.

54 MILLION GAS LINE TO APPALACHIAN AREA READY FOR USE TODAY

One of the country's biggest private construction jobs of the year, the building of the 54 million dollar gas pipe line between Texas and the Appalachain industrial district, has been completed and gas deliveries will start today or tomorrow, Richard Wagner, president of Chicago corporation, announced yesterday.

The line, which was held necessary by the WPB to provide fuel this winter for the eastern industrial area, was completed with the laying of the final pipe near Lobelville, Perry county, Tennessee, Sunday night by the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company, which is controled by the Chicago corporation.

Wagner said final testing of the line was in progress. It extends 1,265 miles from Corpus Christi, Tex., to Cornwell, W. Va., and consists mainly of 24 inch pipe.

HOLDS WLB PLAN IS FOR ORDERS TO BE ENFORCED

The war labor board has taken the stand that its orders are not enforceable, but its actions have indicated it intends them to be enforced, Atty. Stuart Ball said yesterday in federal District court. The court was hearing arguments on government motions to dismiss Montgomery Ward & Co.'s suit to set aside a WLB order of June 6 requiring the company to arbitrate employe grievances with local 20, United Mail Order, Warehouse, and Retail Employes union, CIO.

Ball, attorney for the company, made his statement in reply to an argument by Harry Rand, special assistant to the attorney general, that the company's suit should be dismissed because a similar action was dismissed by the Circuit Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia on the ground that WLB rulings are advisory and therefore not reviewable by the courts.

DURABLE GOODS OUTPUT LOWER IN SEPTEMBER

Activity in most industries manufacturing durable goods decreased in September, the board of governors of the federal reserve system, reported yesterday.

"Steel output averaged 93.4 per cent of capacity, somewhat below the August rate, but showed an increase during the first three weeks of October," the board said. "Easing of military demand for steel led to some increase in allocations for civilian production during the fourth quarter. Aircraft production and output in the automobile industry were maintained during September at the level of the preceding month. There were further large declines in production of aluminum and magnesium."

Strikes, Furnace Repairs Slow Production of Steel

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Indicated production in the steel industry this week was 1,707,200 tons, with mills operating at an average of 94.9 per cent, the American Iron and Steel institute reported today. The decline from 1,732,400 tons last week, with operations at 96.3 per cent, was attributed to a few strikes and some furnace suspensions for repairs.

STOCK PRICES TURN LOWER IN LAGGING TRADE

Some Early Losses Are Canceled.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—For the fourth consecutive Monday the stock market stumbled today altho selling pressure was light and some of the biggest losses of a point or so at the worst were reduced or canceled near the close.

Such offerings as appeared apparently were based on bearish advices of some investment services, political uncertainties, and doubts regarding industrial transition. Dividends, earnings, and lack of reconversion troubles brought bids for individuals.

Prices were mixed at the start and lower during the rest of the session. Steels and a number of other issues stiffened at the finish, but declines were in the majority.

Stock Average Dips.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 0.1 point at 54.7. Of 817 issues appearing, 399 were down, 204 up, and 214 unchanged. Transfers of 604,997 shares compared with 827,335 Friday and were smallest for a full session since Oct. 16.

On the offside were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears-Roebuck, Western Union A, Johns-Manville, Kennecott, Standard Oil [N. J.], General Electric, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, American Can, and Philip Morris. Grumman Aircraft touched another top for 1944. United States Steel and Bethlehem, behind most of the day, ended up ¼ each.

BONDS MOSTLY STEADY.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—In one of the slowest sessions of the year, bond market prices were mostly stationary today and what changes did occur were small and in opposite directions. All major groups in the Associated Press averages were unchanged except the utilities, which lost 0.1 point. Sales of $4,892,600 were the smallest since Sept. 27 and compared with $5,003,000 Friday.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER.

Prices were lower in turnover of 23,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Of 86 issues traded, 20 advanced and 36 declined. Among active issues were Consolidated Biscuit and Commonwealth Edison, each up ¼; Marshall Field, unchanged, and Chicago corporation down ¼. One 1944 high was set.

ORDER TO WORK ISSUED BY WLB IN SHIP STRIKE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—Simultaneous with a conference of AFL chiefs of unions disputing jurisdiction in San Francisco and Oakland shipyards, the war labor board today ordered all idle employes back to work.

Seventeen ships are reported to be tied up in the East Bay area, the board said, as a result of a flare-up between AFL pipefitters and CIO United Steelworkers machinists over work to be performed by AFL steamfitters and plumbers.

Steel Strike in 7th Day.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP).—A strike of about 1,900 employes of Republic Steel corporation's Buffalo plant entered its seventh day today after the workers refused, for the fourth time, to end the walkout over extra help for the coiling crew.

Mutual Elects Edgar Kobak New President

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The board of directors of the Mutual Broadcasting system yesterday announced the election of Edgar Kobak as president, effective Nov. 20. Kobak resigned recently as executive vice president of the Blue network and prior to that had been vice president of the National Broadcasting company. He succeeds Miller McClintock, who resigned last week.

Edgar Kobak.

"We have a free radio," said Kobak on accepting his new position. "It is up to us to keep it free and make America a stronger and better informed nation."

Objective: Finest Programs.

In making the announcement the Mutual board said: "It is our intention to build the finest broadcasting system and to become the leader in all phases of service. . . . We plan to develop all future services made available thru the progress of the electronic art such as frequency modulation, television, and facsimile."

The board promised the listening public "the finest diversified program which ingenuity and money can produce. We want to make freedom to listen worth while."

Kobak started his business career with the Georgia Railway and Power company, Atlanta, and was with McGraw-Hill Publishing company 18 years. He joined NBC as vice president in charge of sales in 1934 and later was with Lord & Thomas, advertising agency.

Helps Form Blue Network.

He returned to NBC to assist in setting up the Blue network and remained with the system when it was sold by NBC to interests headed by Edward J. Noble.

Chesser M. Campbell, advertising manager of The Chicago Tribune, has been elected a director of Mutual by stockholders. He succeeds the late W. E. Macfarlane, business manager of The Tribune and vice president of WGN.

Used Car Supply Larger Thru Decrease in Sales

A gain of 34 per cent in used car supplies in the hands of Cook county dealers between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1 was reported yesterday by the Chicago Automobile Trade association. Returns from 169 dealers showed a decrease in used car sales from 1,053 to 919.

HOG MARKETS BREAK; BIGGEST SLUMP OF WAR

2,000 Porkers Left Unsold at Close.

The biggest price break of the war swept hog markets thruout the country yesterday. In less than two hours of trading more than 50 million dollars were wiped from the value of spring pigs and packing sows still on farms. Near panic selling developed at some smaller marketing points as prices plunged headlong toward the war food administration's "floor."

Buyers and sellers paid little attention to the office of price administration's new rule raising the weight of hogs subject to the $14.75 a hundred pounds light hog ceiling from 240 pounds to 270 pounds. The alteration came too late to do farmers any good because there was no pressure even on the $14 heavy hog ceiling. No hogs reached the $14.75 limit at Chicago.

Lightest Hogs Off $1.

The general decline of prices was the most severe for one day since early September, 1939, when a sudden slump followed a phenomenal rise a few days after the war began. A large share of offerings in the Chicago stock yards sold 25 to 75 cents under last week's close, with lightest stock off as much as $1. Some 240 to 300 pounders held steady early, but they were only a small part of the supply.

Pressure against the price structure of the hog market increased steadily as the day progressed and reports of heavy farm selling arrived from other points. Some top loads

Admiral Places Order for Refrigerator Boxes

Post-war refrigerator cabinets for the Admiral corporation will be produced by American Central Manufacturing corporation, Connersville, Ind., the companies announced jointly yesterday. Approximately 15 million dollars of refrigerators, or 125,000 units, will be produced by American Central as an initial commitment, they said.

GIBBS STEEL BOUGHT BY A. M. CASTLE & CO., EFFECTIVE ON JAN. 1

A. M. Castle & Co., steel distributor, has purchased Gibbs Steel company, Milwaukee, for an undisclosed price, John M. Simpson, president of Castle, said yesterday. The purchase becomes effective Jan. 1. Gibbs will be operated as a Castle subsidiary, Simpson said. George Gibbs, who founded the Milwaukee company in 1922, will continue as president.

URGES U. S. BEER TAX BE LOWERED TO $6 PER BARREL

Federal beer taxes should be reduced and laws governing the relationship between brewer and retailer should be amended after the war, C. D. Williams, secretary of the United States Brewers' association, told the National Beer Wholesalers' association convention in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

"We convinced congress in 1941 that the law of diminishing returns in excise taxes on beer had been reached," he said. "Since that time we have accepted two $1 taxes a barrel in the interest of the war effort. One of these expires with the expiration of the war, but the other has been made permanent. We should therefore make an effort to have the tax reduced to $6 a barrel again."

OPA EXTENDS OIL PREMIUM PAY TO LARGER WELLS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—The crude oil stripper well premium payment plan has been extended to include high cost wells producing nine or more barrels daily to increase the production of war needed oil, the OPA said today.

Pools where the daily well average is nine barrels or more can qualify for increases up to 35 cents a barrel if they meet two conditions: [1] Because of high cost factors the ceiling price of a particular pool is below the average cost of production, and [2] the cost of production is not out of proportion to the output obtainable.

Since Aug. 1, OPA has authorized increases in ceiling prices for crude oil pools where the average production is less than nine barrels.

WHAT Investment Policy NOW?

War Surplus Aircraft Sale

Beginning November 1, 1944, the Civil Aeronautics Administration is withdrawing from the war surplus aircraft disposal program and the services heretofore performed by that agency will be taken over by Defense Plant Corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The change in procedure does not involve any change in sales policy. Surplus planes owned by the armed services will continue to be sold at OPA ceiling prices or on sealed bids. For information as to location, description of aircraft and condition of sale, communicate with

Recently scarce at terminal markets, corn has started to come from the country in volume. Chicago received more than a half million bushels yesterday and offerings for deferred shipment were large, altho bids were 1 cent a bushel lower than on Saturday.

Purchases of 200,000 bushels of cash corn for October-November shipment were made with No. 2 yellow at $1.11⅞ to $1.12⅛, net track Chicago, compared with the ceiling price of $1.16¼.

Weakness in cash corn failed to affect futures which held within a range of about ¾ cent and closed ⅛ lower to ¼ cent higher. Wheat was dull and finished ¼ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower. May showing the most strength. Rye was unchanged to ½ cent higher; oats ⅜ to ⅝ cents lower, and barley 1¾ to 1⅝ cents lower on active futures.
